NEW DEMANDS FROM HITLER

SHOWDOWN DUE TODAY ON PENN GRAFT CHARGES

Offer Evidence of $150,000 Bribes.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—A parade of witnesses named as having intimate knowledge of the alleged huge graft payments collected through bribery, extortion, and sale of legislation during the last four years of the administration of Gov. George H. Earle is due to start here tomorrow. They will appear before a special legislative committee.

Matthew McCloskey.

Graft under the Earle administration, according to the charges of the Democrats' own making during the recent primary battle, amounted to more than a million dollars.

The charges hit Gov. Earle, who is running for the senate; State Democratic Chairman David L. Lawrence, and twelve other of the highest ranking party leaders in the state.

Reputed Author of Charge.

First among the witnesses tomorrow will be State Representative Charles Melchiorre of Philadelphia, who is reputed author of a statement telling of the sale of legislation for $150,000. Melchiorre's alleged cut is represented as $5,000.

Charles J. Margiotto, who was ousted as attorney general by Gov. Earle when he sought to launch a grand jury investigation into the campaign charges which were piling up, claims that he obtained the statement from the Philadelphia lawmaker.

Margiotti was himself an independent candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor at the time and Melchiorre, also of Italian blood, is said to have given Margiotti the information to aid him in the campaign.

Threatens to Blow Lid Off.

Melchiorre in a public statement issued several days ago called Margiotti a "liar" and announced that he would blow the lid off the whole affair.

According to Margiotti's testimony before the legislative committee, a $50,000 bribe was paid by brewers for the passage of favorable beer legislation in 1935 and $100,000 was paid in in the same year for the enactment of legislation legalizing Sunday movies in Pennsylvania.

Margiotti quoted Melchiorre as saying [Melchiorre's alleged statement was not allowed in the records by the legislative committee] that the money for the beer bills went to Chairman Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, the state's most favored contractor, and Federal Judge Harry E. Kalodner, a recent Roosevelt appointee.

Report $8,000,000 Graft.

In the primary campaign last spring charges were made that more than $8,000,000 in graft had been paid to Earle administration leaders.

When a grand jury was called last spring to investigate Margiotti's charges against the governor and his leaders Earle called a special session of the legislature to block the inquiry. The legislative committee was appointed to make an investigation.

The committee was in session today and heard a former investigator for the ousted attorney general tell about violation of contract specifications in construction of the state's new 4 million dollar finance building, still uncompleted. The general contractor for this job and 6 million dollars' worth of other state building on easy money supplied by Washington is McCloskey.

Defects Are Described.

I. E. Penrod, the former investigator, who now is an assistant engineer for the PWA, said walls of the new building were out of line, concrete was mixed in a slipshod manner, and that the steel reinforcement skeleton of the building was loose.

Those bolts, nuts, and rivets which he found loose and rattling in the structure of the finance building were later tightened according to Penrod. He said he made a later inspection. This was not contained in his report to the district attorney. Now the steel work and all its fastenings are incased in concrete.

His findings on other flaws and defects in the four million dollar beauty remained the same, however. Most serious was the fact that a brick wall was out of line by two inches when the specifications allowed a variation of onyl an eighth of an inch.

HARD TO SATISFY THE ONE WHO IS PROVIDING THE SACRIFICE

HAS CRICKET A RIGHT TO CHIRP? WAUKEGAN COUNCIL IN A DITHER

The Waukegan council debated an important question last night. It had to do with the legal rights of a cricket. The question was raised in a letter from a lawyer to Ald. William Schaufel.

The lawyer said that the home of his sister and the homes of her neighbors were infested with crickets. Their chirping, he complained, constituted a nuisance. He hoped the Waukegan aldermen would do something.

Acting Mayor William J. Faller said he understood it was bad luck to kill crickets. Several other aldermen said it wasn't nice to have crickets in the home, but it was not illegal so far as they knew. They insisted that they must have a legal opinion before they could start an anti-cricket drive. Accordingly they submitted the letter of complaint to Corporation Counsel George S. McGaughey.

U. S. CONFISCATES ITALIAN WOMAN'S TWO GOLD BRICKS

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Federal Judge Harold P. Burke ordered two gold bricks, worth $1,250, belonging to Mrs. Virginia Venturoli and her son, Robert, 21 years old, forfeited today because Mrs. Venturoli did not declare the bricks when she came through the United States customs from Italy.

Mrs. Venturoli told the court she had her savings converted into gold to get the money out of Italy and did not know she was supposed to declare the bricks upon entering this country. Federal officers seized the bricks when Mrs. Venturoli attempted to convert them into American money at the federal reserve bank.

United States Attorney George L. Grobe described the case as "pitiful," but said seizure was mandatory.

1,010 in N. Y. Trafic Court in a Day; Every One Pays

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Everybody paid in downtown Trafic court today. There were 1,010 defendants. A total of 698 were charged with parking in the wrong spot. Each one of them handed over $2. All the rest paid for minor violations. After Magistrate Louis B. Brodsky decided to call it a day the court clerk counted up $1,781. "Fine!" said the magistrate.

3,600 Pigeons Racing from Britt, Ia., to Milwaukee

Britt, Ia., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Thirty-six hundred pigeons were released here today in a race to Milwaukee, Wis., sponsored by the American Racing Pigeon union. Britt is 300 miles west of Milwaukee. The race had been scheduled for Sunday, but the start was postponed because the train transporting the birds here was delayed by flood waters.

Bare $125,000 Fraud; Mother Held; Hunt Son

An alleged $125,000 swindle was revealed in Chicago last night by postal inspectors and a policeman. It involves a mother, now a prisoner, and her son, who is a fugitive.

Mrs. Maude Ault.

The mother, Mrs. Maude Ault, was arrested Sunday. She had been living meagerly for months at the Majestic hotel, 29 West Quincy street, while giving her son, Robert Gene, large sums of money. The son, who spells his name Alt, maintains a home at 1145 Thatcher avenue, River Forest. He also has an estate near Arlington Heights where he breeds and trains hunting horses.

Hold Mother in $10,000 Bond.

Mrs. Ault last night was arraigned on charges of using the mails to defraud. She was held under $10,000 bonds for a hearing Sept. 27. The son, for whom federal warants have been issued on the same charge, promised yesterday to surrender, but did not.

The story of their operations, as told by Postal Inspectors John Stahl of Chicago and Jerome Williamson of Danville and Sergt. James Condon of the Chicago police confidence detail sketched the activities of the mother and son since 1925.

"At that time," said Inspector Stahl, "they were running a gasoline filling station near Decatur, Ill. Their story to their victims later was that they then became close friends with a whisky runner named Max Orendorff. Orendorff, they said, had salted away from 30 to 50 million dollars.

Build Up Swindle Tale.

"They said that eventually Orendorff was caught and sent to the federal prison at Atlanta and all his property confiscated by the government. Robert Gene said that he, Alt, became a prohibition agent and discovered that Orendorff was imprisoned on framed charges. He said he went to Atlanta and tried to get Orendorff out of prison. For this, Orendorff promised him half his estate.

"The swindle story went on to say that about 1933 the mysterious Orendorff did get out and made a will leaving all his estate to Alt and his mother. Then he died, according to Alt, and the latter began seeking financial aid to fight his claim to the supposed Orendorff millions through the United States Supreme court.

"The catch is that there never was any Orendorff in Atlanta prison and there is no record of any governmental seizure of an Orendorff's property in a prohibition case. Alt was never a federal officer."

Sergt. Condon took up the story:

"One of their earliest victims," he said, "was Newton F. Grey, 39 South La Salle street. He gave them several hundred dollars at a time until he had paid in a total of $76,890. He usually gave it to Mrs. Ault. She promptly turned it over to her son, keeping only about $75 a month.

"A group of downstate physicians also was victimized," said Inspector Williamson. "They are in Danville, Monticello, Champaign, and Springfield. They paid about $50,000 and were promised returns of 200 to 1."

Victim Hides Actual Loss.

Grey was reached last night in his home at 2910 Colfax street, Evanston. "I want it made known," he said, "that the arrest was not made at my instigation. I will only say that I was induced to put money into the project by a brother of Mrs. Ault with whom I attended the University of Illinois.

"He, too, has lost everything he put into the scheme. The figure given [by Sergt. Condon] as the amount I paid is not correct."

Sergt. Condon said he believed Mrs. Ault had been victimized by her son. Mrs. Ault maintained last night that she knew nothing of any swindle.

WANTS CZECHS MADE VASSAL STATE; WARNS BRITAIN SUDETENS MAY STRIKE

Dodges Promises on Guarantee of New Frontiers.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Although England and France capitulated to Germany by promising to allow her to seize the Sudeten area in Czechoslovakia, Reichsfuehrer Hitler and his lieutenants have ordered Nazi agents to continue to agitate and keep the German population ready for war.

Hitler wants more than the territories occupied by a population that considers itself predominantly German. He wants Czechoslovakia to be deprived of political independence.

He has warned Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain that unless all his demands are fulfilled by the beginning of the week "Sudeten legions" will march into Czechoslovakia. He added that he is not at all certain whether he can restrain the Sudetens until then.

Wants Benes to Quit.

Hitler, on top of demanding the Sudeten territories—which formerly belonged to Austria and never were German—insists that Britain and France compel President Eduard Benes and Prime Minister Milan Hodza to resign.

He has not pledged himself to accept all the guarantees for the territorial integrity of the remaining Czech areas which London and Paris felt they should offer Prague as a substitute for their failure to stand back of the terms of the French-Czech military alliance.

By allowing pan-Germany its second conquest in a year—the Sudeten area being incorporated the same as Austria was—England fulfilled the promises made by Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, to Hitler last November. At that time he informed Hitler that England "was not interested in the question of Germany's eastern border or in the fate of Austria or Czechoslovakia."

Hitler Takes a Tip.

Hitler took the tip and ever since then has been working to prepare the conquest of the territories he wanted in order to round out pan-Germany.

Poland and Hungary have joined Germany in demanding their minorities from Czechoslovakia.

The Nazi chiefs are confident they can compel Chamberlain to side with them at the new conference at Godesberg on the Rhine. However, they doubt whether it will be possible to induce England and France to agree quickly on Czechoslovakia's new border lines. They insist on speed because, they murmur, "if matters are slowed up the Russians will have time to try to intervene on behalf of their ally, Czechoslovakia."

Call Army Invincible.

The Germans are nervous on the military angle in such an event. They argue that their army and air force are invincible. They also are strengthened by a new military agreement with Italy which was signed only a few weeks ago. They realize that resistance of the plan to incorporate the Sudeten area with Germany might develop if they fail to provide the "accomplished fact" which has always spelled success for Hitler.

"The amputation of Czechoslovakia has been carried through," the newspaper Der Angriff said today.

It gloated that in his latest speech President Roosevelt "dealt at length with internal problems and painstakingly avoided saying a single word about foreign affairs.

Asks "Why the Change?"

"Why the change?" the paper asked. "The little Frenchman feels the world war in his bones as soon as he hears the word 'Czechoslovakia.' Americans sent thousands of letters to the government which proved that the American public does not want to risk its head and neck for more than speculations. 'The great victory for Hitler' is recorded by the United States stock exchanges."

The tension has lessened in official quarters. However, efforts are being made to keep the population in feverish excitement. Harrowing details of the "murderous plans of the Czech pestilential leaders" fill the German press and echo over the German radio.

It was charged that a poison gas attack on Germans in Aussig, Czechoslovakia, is being prepared by the communist workers of the Aussig chemical works in Aussig. It was al-

POLES CRY FOR SHARE OF SPOILS; RUSH UP TROOPS

WARSAW, Poland, Sept. 19.—(AP)—It was announced officially tonight that Poland is reinforcing her troops along the Czechoslovak frontier because Czech troops have been increased ostensibly to prevent deserters from crossing the border.

At the same time it was announced by the government that Polish ambassadors in Paris, London, Berlin, and Rome had been instructed to present to the respective governments the Polish attitude on the Czechoslovak problem.

The official communique did not reveal the ambassadors' instructions, but informed circles understood the Polish view is that Czechoslovak territory with a preponderant Polish population bordering Poland [Teschen] be returned to Poland.

Demand Teschen's Return.

KATOWICE, Poland [Near the Czechoslovak Frontier], Sept. 19.—(AP)—Poles, assembled in Pilsudski square here tonight, demanded the return to Poland of the Cieszyn [Teschen] section of Czechoslovakia.

The meeting was presided over by the chairman of the local Silesian seym [parliament]. Polish delegations from the Czechoslovak territory claimed by Poland were received with cheers, as were messages of sympathy from Poles in America and Hungary.

Speakers were frequently interrupted by shouts of "We want to march into Czechoslovakia," "We want to lick the Czechs," and "We want the Czech part of Silesia back."

"Fighting Committee" Formed.

To help safeguard the rights of Poles in Czechoslovakia a "fighting committee" has been formed here. The committee, presumably with the approval of the Polish government, regularly gives special news and instructions to Poles across the border.

The 100,000 Poles under Czechoslovak rule, who live mainly west of the Olsa river, are urged by the executive committee of the Federation of Poles within Czechoslovakia and by the Katowice radio station to "stand fast—the hour of liberation is near."

[This was the same message Sudeten German leader Konrad Henlein sent from Germany to his followers in Czechoslovakia.]

The executive committee also has asserted the Poles in Czech Silesia will take matters into their own hands unless they achieve a settlement as good as that accorded the Sudeten Germans.

PRAGUE, Sept. 19.—In the present European crisis Poland rarely is mentioned in Prague, but Poland's situation with reference to the menacing of rear lines communication has not escaped the attention of Czech military men.

CZECHS RAID GERMAN TOWN; REPORTED 17 NAZIS ARE WOUNDED

GOERLITZ, Germany, Sept. 20 [Tuesday].—(AP)—DNB, official German news agency, reported today that a band of armed Czechs crossed the German frontier near Seidenberg and opened fire, wounding 17 Germans.

The Czechs apparently planned a raid on a Sudeten German refugee camp established at Seidenberg, with the aim of kidnaping some Sudeten leaders, among them a Czech gendarme who had fled Czecho-Slovakia, DNB reported.

Early today the news agency said a detachment of Czechs fired on German passport and customs officers. At the same time a second detachment approached Seidenberg and crossed the German frontier, attempting to enter Seidenberg, the Czechs met German frontier guards who checked their advance, it was said.

The dispatch continued that for about an hour the Czechs concentrated machine gun fire on the village, wounding 17 members of the German frontier guards. About 4:30 a. m., the DNB reports went on, the Czechs withdrew, taking their wounded with them.

Report Says Prague Cabinet Rejects Split-Up Plan.

PRAGUE, Sept. 20 [Tuesday].—(AP)—A source often regarded as a spokesman for the Czechoslovak foreign office today declared the Franco-British proposals for splitting the nation's territory to pacify Adolf Hitler was unacceptable to the Prague government.

The authoritative newspaper, Lidova Noviny, whose diplomatic editor, Hubert Ripka, often reflects the foreign office viewpoint, declared: "If the guarantees of borders made us twenty years ago are invalid today what assurance have we that promises made now will be kept in the future?"

The newspaper's comment came as other sources indicated the government would consider the London proposals, but only as a basis of further negotiation.

Seek Additional Parleys.

The Czechs saw in the French and British proposals a sounding board for additional parleys in the future. A glimmer or two of hope lifted up the Czechs, who earlier had almost despaired of outside aid to keep their republic intact.

After a nearly 12 hour session of the cabinet ministers, it was indicated in sources close to the government, that the assistance of the Czech's French allies had not entirely disappeared in the excitement of the efforts of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain to produce a settlement.

Point to New Developments.

These sources said that two new developments threw a little sunlight into the otherwise gloomy situation:

1. A majority of the cabinet stood firmly against Hitler's purported suggestion that all cities which gave the Sudeten German party, now outlawed, a 70 per cent or more plurality in the last municipal elections be handed over automatically to the reich.

2. The French cabinet was understood here to be exercising no pressure on Czechoslovakia to accept the Franco-British program.

Proposal Resisted.

Consequently the Czechoslovak cabinet maintained a strong stand against the proposal with all elements of the government united.

The cabinet, after protracted deliberation, adjourned at 9:30 o'clock last night. It will resume its discussions today.

A communique issued after yesterday's meeting declared that Premier Milan Hodza, in an explanation to the interim parliamentary committee, said: "Notes of the conference of the British and French governments are now a subject of diplomatic negotiations. The decision of the two governments will be announced as soon as they have been formulated in a declared way."

The government, urging the people to await a definite declaration of its policy in the crisis, issued an appeal that they refrain from demonstrations. Steel-helmeted police armed with sabers appeared in greater numbers in the main streets of Prague.

A REPUBLIC DIES

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 19.—Czechslovakia tonight was like a house where death has entered. Not all the brave words broadcast by the government nor the presentation of the case in newspapers could conceal the fact from Czech citizens that their republic in its present form has come to an end after less than twenty years of existence.

A new Czechoslovakia will be born, but it will be mutilated, impoverished, and humiliated. Its citizens will lack the stubborn pride which has animated them for the last twenty years.

This was the impression THE TRIBUNE correspondent got from conversations with persons in all trades and stations of life in Prague.

Czechoslovakia is being forced without striking a blow to cede some of its richest territory to Germany. If it is only the districts with a German population of 75 per cent that will be enough to cripple the state economically and strategically to make it zero.

One possible future is left for this new Czechoslovakia. That will be to join a customs union with Germany

News of the sell-out brought an explosion of noisy grief around government offices.

For a short time war minded officials spoke of striking immediately. They argued that bold action by Czechoslovakia would bring in Great Britain and France whether they liked it or not. This mood did not last long. The Czechs are not a people given to falling on their swords in Roman fashion nor assuming futile heroic attitudes.

A Problem in Arithmetic.

The facts—terrible to the Czechs who love their country—finally sank in. The prosaic minded Czechs saw that the question was purely one of arithmetic. At best there are about 10,000,000 persons loyal to Czechoslovakia against more than 70,000,000 loyal to Hitler's Germany.

On the assumption that Czechoslovakia must cede without discussion all territory with a German population of 75 per cent, a provisional estimate of the damage shows it will be immense.

In the territory, it is calculated the loss will be about equal to the combined areas of New Hampshire and Vermont—all of Czechoslovakia is about the same area as that of Illinois.

In population it will lose at least 2,000,000 of the country's present 3,250,000 Germans. Among the cities lost will be, in the order of their importance: Reichenberg [Liberec]; Aussig [Usti-nad-Labem]; Teplice-Schonau; Troppau [Opava]; Carlsbad [Karlovy Vary]; Jablonec; Chomutov; Eger [Cheb], and Asch.

Nation Becomes Helpless.

For military defense the new Czechoslovakia will be practically helpless because any possible defense was predicated on possession of mountains and forests which girdle the ancient province of Bohemia, which now will be taken away.

Economically the loss will be almost as bad. Czechoslovakia will lose all of its lignite and 60 per cent at least of iron ore, lead, zinc, and other minerals. It will lose some of its main industries—glass and porcelain works and chemical products. It will also lose a good part of its forests and industries connected with them.

Remaining in Czechoslovakia will be two large coal basins—Ostrava-Karvinna and Kladno-Rakovnik. Part of the former may be lost if Poland like Germany, gets the border district of Teschen with its Polish majority population.

May Keep Skoda Works.

Czechoslovakia also will keep its one single largest industrial establishment, the huge Skoda armament works at Pilsen and the immense breweries in the same city.

If Hungary is also accorded the benefit of the majority of population principle, Czechoslovakia will lose rich plains in southern Slovakia with their grain fields and vineyards, leaving Slovakia with magnificent mountain scenery and not much else.

It is feared in Prague that now the process of carving up Czechoslovakia has begun, Hungary and Poland will swarm around Czechoslovakia like sharks around an exhausted whale and tear off chunks.

Some observers predict that Europe from now on will see no end of demands for territorial treaty revision and that other constructions of the statesmen of Versailles—having especially in mind Poland and Rumania—also will be pulled to pieces.

Even the treacherous French, as they are stigmatized here, will have their turn when Hitler chooses to repudiate his renunciation of Alsace-Lorraine and enters a claim for a plebiscite there, these observers declare.

Hitler's Territorial Demands

The areas in black are those which Reichsfuehrer Hitler demands of Czechoslovakia as his price for peace. The territory is rich in minerals, which are badly needed by Germany.

GOLDMAN RAPS BRITISH, FRENCH ON HITLER STAND

Zionist Leader Calls On Jews to Unite.

An outcry against England and France for giving way to the Berlin-Rome combine was raised last night by Dr. Solomon Goldman, newly elected president of the Zionist Organization of America. His return from a tour of Europe and Palestine was greeted by 1,600 persons who crowded the grand ballroom in the Palmer house.

"Jews, don't be timid!" Dr. Goldman said. "Stand firm against a Europe where the heads of democracies have to fall on their knees before lunatics, liars, and Satans. Israel must not!

When Wrong Becomes Right.

"These Christian nations, with their great cathedrals and official churches, what do they mean? I would rather perish than be a member of that world in which a wrong, when accomplished, becomes a right."

He assailed Hitler and Mussolini bitterly.

"Hitler and Mussolini are the most unashamed men in history," he said. "They lie without respect for any one. They will lie to a child as to a Chamberlain, as to a Roosevelt, as to a Secretary Hull.

"If this were understood in Paris, London, and Washington, the situation would be different."

He compared Hitler with the insane young man who tied up New York traffic for hours by standing on a 17th floor window ledge and threatening to jump.

Asks Support for Movement.

Jews must be as openly proud of their race as Irish-Americans are proud of their ancestry, Dr. Goldman declared. And they must clearly realize the necessity for supporting the Palestine movement, he said.

He asked for $16,000 for educational purposes in the Palestine movement, to equal the fund contributed in New York a few days ago.

The area demanded by Hitler of the Czechs is approximately that of Vermont and New Hampshire.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Blattengeta Herouy, former Ethiopian minister of foreign affairs and the exiled Emperor Haile Selassie's greatest personal friend, died today in the emperor's home at Bath after an illness of several months. FRANCE WARNS CZECHS TO CEDE LAND TO HITLER

Hints Republic Will Have to Fight Nazis Alone.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 19.—"They have condemned my country without a hearing."

These bitter words were spoken by Stefan Osusky, former Chicago lawyer and Czechoslovakia's minister to Paris, as he walked out of the Quai d'Orsay this morning after a conference with Georges Bonnet, French foreign minister.

Stefan Osusky.

It is not known exactly what Bonnet told the ardent Czech patriot despite his purely Slovak origin, but diplomatic circles have no doubt that it was in effect an ultimatum—accept the Franco-British plan for ceding the Sudeten country to Germany or fight Reichsfuehrer Hitler alone.

Secret Promise Hinted.

Some French circles hint that this bitter pill, sugar coated with an offer of a British signature on a central European Locarno pact to guarantee the independence of what is left of Czechoslovakia, was further sweetened with a promise. This was that France and England readily will come to Czechoslovakia's aid if she is attacked after having accepted these terms. However, the story was not confirmed.

There were rumors that if the Czechs remain obdurate Bonnet or Premier Edouard Daladier and Bonnet may fly to Prague to appeal to President Eduard Benes personally while Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain is seeing Hitler again.

The decision to warn the Czechs that they must accept mutilation of their national dream if they want to preserve anything was ratified by the cabinet upon the return of Daladier and Bonnet from London. An official communique said approval of the cabinet was unanimous—as it always is except when ministers are prepared to resign.

Bonnet Summons Envoy.

Bonnet called in Osusky after the cabinet meeting.

It was about the same time that the French minister in Prague called on Premier Milan Hodza.

Now Paris is waiting for any sign that the Prague government may be wavering. There is some hope that the Czechs will give in rather than go down fighting, but optimism is not excessive on this score.

This is one of the reasons why capitulation of Paris and London before Hitler's demand has not ended the war scare, but just eased it slightly. As long as there still is a possibility of war in central Europe no one can be sure that France and England will not be dragged into it somehow.

Another reason for reserve is the question of Czechoslovakia's other minorities, principally the Poles and Hungarians. Here, the issue is incredibly complicated and wars have a way of arising out of these central European complications without anyone understanding exactly why.

In any case it is feared that trouble will start by Poland and Hungary refusing to guarantee Czechoslovakia's new frontiers and intensifying campaigns for little annexations of their own. Furthermore, it is suspected that the French and British will back the Czechs in refusing such annexations at this time.

It is not believed that Germany will encourage Poland and Hungary very enthusiastically. According to some reliable accounts, the Germans fear that if Poland and Hungary have a common frontier or come near having one, they eventually may prove an obstacle to German expansion south and east.

Italy, however, is vigorously supporting the Poles and Hungarians, perhaps for the same reason that the Germans are lukewarm.

Want Pledges from Hitler.

The French do not know exactly how serious all these complicated extensions of the Czech problem are, but they have a nightmarish feeling that Europe, as they know it, is crumbling to pieces under their eyes and they are afraid of being caught in the ruins. The French always are unhappy when the situation is changing so rapidly.

Probably the biggest reason against premature rejoicing is that the French and British, after having sacrificed part of Czechoslovakia to Hitler, feel it is necessary to obtain some compensations not only for the Czechs but for themselves. They want guarantees from Hitler that he is going to halt somewhere and that they won't be asked at the point of a gun to give up something else in a few months from now. If Hitler refuses they probably will consider themselves directly menaced and the reactions may prove dangerous.

Bonnet called in William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to Paris, today and gave him an account of the London conversations. He explained why, in the opinion of the French government, it was necessary to amputate Czechoslovakia in order to avert a general war.

It was learned that at this morning's cabinet meeting four ministers voted against the London agreement—Georges Mandel, minister of colonies; Paul Reynaud, minister of justice; Cesar Campinchi, minister of marine, and Henri Queuille, minister of agriculture.

Informed quarters admit the internal political situation is "very delicate." They say a breakup in the cabinet is not yet out of the question. They believe that if the Czechs decide to fight this breakup would occur. Should that happen it does not seem that France could get a strong government quickly enough to give the Czechs much support.

"The dominant idea in the present situation," says the newspaper Le Temps, "seems to be that the solution proposed should make it possible to envisage a general European settlement and even limit to a certain degree German political hegemony in central and eastern Europe. This conception, if it is possible to realize it, would explain the concessions which it seems have been made in the present circumstances."

Mutual Confidence Lacking.

As Le Temps indicates, there is a certain amount of skepticism here as to the possibility of a friendly understanding between themselves and the Germans owing to the absence of mutual confidence. The Frenchmen are not afraid of the Germans—or anything individually—but as soon as they adopt a national point of view they unconsciously think in terms of aggressive defense mechanisms. Beyond a certain point their apprehension of war seems the best way to ward off foreign dangers.

In any event military precautions are not being relaxed yet. Trucks still are dashing around the streets supplying householders with sand to put out incendiary bombs when and if they fall. Gas masks are a little harder to distribute than sand. Though the French have plenty of them, they may not be sold without the stamp of the army laboratories certifying that they are all right. In practice this means simply that they can't be obtained in Paris.

Planes Fly Over Paris.

Preparations for active defense against aircraft, however, seems better advanced. Planes of all kinds, from pursuit squadrons to huge bombers, were flying over the suburbs and the capital all afternoon.

In villages near Paris there actually were old women who believed that war already had started because "neighbors' sons were called out of bed in the night to go to fight the Germans."

The servant problem also is arising from the war scare. Cooks and maids announced to employers that they were going to quit and take refuge in the country if the situation gets any worse.

EX-JUSTICE OF PEACE DIES.

CZECH ENVOY, SON OF NATION'S FOUNDER, CRACKS UNDER STRAIN

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovak minister to London, apparently cracked today under the severe strain of watching the losing battle to preserve the country his father helped to found. He was reported to have become suddenly ill. The legation acknowledged that he was indisposed and confined to his residence.

FRANCE BOUND BY TWO TREATIES TO LEND AID TO CZECHOSLOVAKIA

France is bound by two treaties to help Czechoslovakia against invasion. Soviet Russia has no obligation toward Czechoslovakia unless France goes to her help first. Great Britain steadfastly has refused to commit herself definitly.

The first of France's treaty promises is a pact drawn in Paris in 1924 saying that France and Czechoslovakia will "adopt a common attitude and agree on measures to take" if certain things happen.

The second was signed at Locarno in 1925. It provides that France will give immediate aid to Czechoslovakia "acting in application of Article 16 of the Covenant of the League of Nations" in the event of an "unprovoked attack."

Article 16 says, in effect, that nations resorting to war after refusing to talk things over with an arbitrator are automatically guilty of an act of war against other league members. But it also says it is the duty of the league council to decide what measures should be used to protect Czechoslovakia.

The consensus in French newspapers is that France would be absolved if the Prague government should "provoke" Germany by rejecting the Franco-British advice to cede Sudetenland to the Nazis. Russia's mutual assistance treaty with Czechoslovakia is based on the French-Czechoslovak accord. The treaty says Russia must help only if France takes the first step.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Sept. 19.—A government decree has been issued forbidding the importation of khaki cloth aside from that needed by the government. The object of the decree is to end crimes committed by persons dressed like national guardsmen.

CZECHS DELAY CHAMBERLAIN'S VISIT TO HITLER

Anglo-French Decision Is Put Up to Parliament.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain called off an immediate second visit to Reichsfuehrer Hitler, it was stated here tonight, following representations from Prague that the Czech government could not decide on the proposals presented to it by the British and French without consulting parliament.

The deliberations of the French and British ministers on Sunday afternoon were not conveyed to President Eduard Benes until 4 o'clock today, the British said, and they decided they must give him some time to consider them. So Chamberlain probably will not see Hitler on Tuesday.

Chamberlain's eventual visit to Hitler and enforcement of cession of the Sudeten territory to Germany nevertheless is considered a certainty.

Britons Welcome Coup.

Londoners are relieved at the outcome of the Anglo-French consultations, but harbor an uneasy conscience. People pray for peace and hope all will turn out well.

The government's main care is to prevent a revulsion of popular feeling, such as there was in the Hoare-Laval affair.

[The Hoare-Laval affair refers to the Ethiopian peace scheme arranged in 1935 by Sir Samuel Hoare, then British foreign secretary, and Premier Pierre Laval of France. The proposal to give Italy two-thirds of Ethiopia fell through and Sir Samuel resigned. The British admitted the whole thing to be a serious mistake. Sir Samuel now is home secretary in the British cabinet.]

For the French and the British the problem now is how to make Czechoslovakia be good and lie down on the dissecting table and take gas.

Parliament to Be Recalled.

Political circles tonight understood that both houses of parliament probably will be recalled next Tuesday to hear and debate statements on the events of the last month. Apart from the Czechoslovak problem Chamberlain in his second interview with Hitler is expected to press for a general settlement of European problems so as to make a clean sweep of all possible trouble centers.

After a two hour session of the cabinet today diplomatic activity revived in Downing street.

The French and Italian ambassadors, Charles Corbin and Dino Grandi, called at the foreign office. Viscount Runciman, who flew back from Prague this week-end, lunched with the prime minister, presumably to review the situation in the light of Chamberlain's plan to induce the Czechs to cede Sudetenland to Germany.

U. S. Envoy Optimistic.

Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador to London, went to Downing street this afternoon for an hour's talk concerning yesterday's developments. Afterward he seemed optimistic. High commissioners of the dominions also were received today by Malcolm MacDonald, secretary of state for the colonies, and informed as to what was going on.

Later Chamberlain saw the labor leaders, Maj. Clement R. Attlee and A. Greenwood, and the liberal opposition chief, Sir Archibald Sinclair.

An emergency meeting of European labor and trades union organizations has been called for tomorrow. This was decided at today's session of the British national council of labor, which heard a report from Attlee and Greenwood on their talks with Chamberlain.

Continentals Fly to Parley.

Invitations for the meeting were telephoned and cabled to the continent this evening. Outstanding labor leaders are reported already en route to London tonight. Others are expected to fly here in the morning. These include representatives of the French Socialist party, French trades unions, labor and Socialist international and the international federation of trades unions.

Reports of the British labor council meeting indicate the laborites are facing a dilemma. The council reconvened unexpectedly this evening. Late tonight a statement was issued saying the laborites "viewed with dismay the reported proposals of the British and French government for dismemberment of Czechoslovakia under the brutal threat of armed force by Nazi Germany and without prior consultation of the Czech government."

Counter Proposal Lacking.

Despite the vitriolic language, the statement is noticeably more vague in suggesting action to protect the Czechs than the memorandum issued after the trades union congress at Blackpool, which insisted that Great Britain stand up against aggression with France and Russia, whatever the cost.

What appears to have been the deciding factor in the French and British decision to let Sudetenland be pared off from the Czech body politic was a military consideration. The disaffected German population of 3,250,000 within the Czech state made it no longer an effective bulwark of security for the nations in the west of Europe, it was decided.

GUN ANGERS COBBLER AND HE DRIVES A PEG IN 2 BANDIT CAREERS

When two robbers entered his repair shop at 5738 North avenue Emil Belobraydich was busy nailing up a sole. One of the men thrust a pistol at him and Emil cracked his wrist with a hammer. Then both robbers fled. One, William Wandland, 16 years old, of 4821 Wolfram street, was seized outside the shop by Detective Robert Forrest. He named Frank Calabrese, of 1809 North Lawndale avenue, as his accomplice, adding that Calabrese had furnished him with the pistol that angered the shoemaker. Calabrese, who is 22 years old, was arrested at home. He was charged with robbery and is to be arraigned in the Felony court Oct. 7.

Motor Official and Family Adrift in Lake Boat Saved

Toledo, O., Sept. 19.—(AP)—John Shotwell, treasurer of the Willys-Overland Motors company, his wife, Lydia, and their daughter, 5 years old, missing since yesterday, were rescued late today in their disabled power boat, adrift in Lake Erie about ten miles from the Toledo Yacht club. The Shotwells left Port Clinton, O., for Toledo yesterday. The gas line became clogged, and Shotwell dropped anchor for the night. Today he raised the sails and continued the trip, but a stiff wind again forced him to drop anchor.

WE WILL BATTLE FOR LIBERTY WITH GUNS: SUDETENS

Refugees Shout War Cry at Czechoslovakia.

DRESDEN, Germany, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Sudeten German refugees tonight told Czechoslovakia by radio that "with gun in hand we are going to fight for our freedom."

This call to arms was thundered across the Czechoslovak-German frontier from a fiery massmeeting at which 5,000 refugees gathered in the Dresden exhibition hall shouting, "We are going home to the reich."

Konrad Henlein, fugitive Sudeten [Nazi] leader, did not appear. He deputized two speakers to represent him, both of whom said union with Germany was the only solution to their trouble.

Says Czechs Reject Peace.

Taking no chance on the outcome of the Chamberlain-Hitler negotiations, Wilhelm Sebekowsky, Sudeten propaganda chieftain, in a speech filled with threats of direct action against Czechoslovakia, said:

"We offered the Czechoslovaks an honorable peace which they rejected; now, with gun in hand, we are going to fight for freedom.

"We started our Sudeten free corps with gun in hand. What the kaisers for centuries demanded, Adolf Hitler will achieve."

The highly excited crowd frequently broke in with "sieg heil" and yelled "liar" whenever the name of President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia was mentioned.

A crowd of several thousand outside the exhibition hall became so agitated that one elderly man denounces as spies an American newspaper man and his English colleague.

Arrest Correspondents.

The American's hat was knocked off and his hair pulled by the mob. The two correspondents were arrested on false charges made by the mob and were held incommunicado for an hour and a half. Police searched them and tried to read their notes on the speeches. They were finally released.

Sebekowsky mounted the rostrum after homage had been paid to "party comrades who fell for the liberation ideal."

"We did not flee our homeland to fold our hands into our laps idly, but we shall return victoriously," he said.

Then, referring to Benes, he shouted: "Benes is nearing the end of his tether; he is afraid of Sudetens' self-determination and well he may be."

Sebekowsky accused "peacemakers" after the world war with forcing Germans, Slovaks, Hungarians, Ruthenians, and Poles under Czech rule.

He charged that the Sudeten German region "has been turned into a battlefield; streets are mined, barricades are erected, people are being killed and maimed."

Turning again to Benes, he said that Czechoslovakia's president and Dictator Josef Stalin of soviet Russia had agreed not to permit successful arrangements in the Czechoslovak-Sudeten German negotiations over the minority's autonomy demands.

"Benes," he cried, "you have lied your country to death."

Storm Troops May Join Corps.

VIENNA, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Storm troop formations and other semi-military organizations of the Nazi party in German Austria today were instructed that volunteers can be taken from their ranks for the Sudeten German "free corps."

POPE PIUS ASSAILS TOTALITARIAN STATE IDEA AS A 'FALSITY'

Vatican City, Sept. 19.—(AP)—L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican newspaper, reported today that Pope Pius, in addressing a group of French pilgrims yesterday, said there was an evident "falsity" in the totalitarian state idea.

The pope was quoted as remarking that one frequently heard the idea that everything should be within the state, then commenting:

"One might sum up this theory with brutal simplicity: All for the state and nothing for the individual.

"No, the church is not for such a doctrin. But neither is it for the exact reverse: All for the individual and nothing for the state. . . .

"True virtue always is in the center, neither one extreme nor the other. . . . Everywhere some say everything ought to be for the state, and we have the totalitarian state, as it is called: Nothing without the state, everything within the state.

"There is a falsity here so evident that it is astounding that otherwise serious and talented men say this and teach it to crowds."

HITLER MAKES NEW DEMANDS; WARNS BRITAIN

Says "Nazi Legions" Are Set to March.

leged that poison gas flasks and high explosives were distributed among the workers and that "poison gas squads were formed and dynamiters trained on the Spanish model."

Other reports told of the machine gunning of women and children and the crushing to death of a woman and her child by a Czech armored car.

Czechs Cry "We Want War."

The official Voelkischer Beobachter reported that a "Czech mob" chanted "we want war!" in the streets of the Czech border town of Bodenbach. The paper said the demonstrators included Czech soldiers.

German papers described the Czech communists in an effort to picture them as agents of soviet Russia.

German officials said they felt they "owed part of the victory won in London to the anti-soviet policy of Germany because wide circles abroad are beginning to realize that Germany is the main bulwark against communism.

"The anti-communist international pact between Germany, Japan and Italy certainly helped to frighten the soviets and restrained them from rushing to the aid of Prague on a greater scale than they have done."

Guards Head for Border.

An American today saw twenty-four trucks loaded with Schutz Staffelmen [hand picked guards] being driven in the direction of the Czech border.

In Berlin and surrounding areas many trucks were requisitioned in the last three days. Authorities want to form a new "motorized division" with the help of the speedy "Strength Through Joy" organization vehicles and other buses. In Berlin eighty city buses were taken over.

What the Jews and non-Nazis in Sudeten Germany have to expect once these districts are incorporated in the reich was indicated by a report that another 110,000 Jews in Germany are being deprived of all means of subsistence after Sept. 30. They are traveling salesmen who were excluded from "itinerant trades" under a recent decree.

Prepares for Parley.

Godesberg on the Rhine is preparing for the new British-German conference. It is enjoying its annual country fair which is known for its gaiety and wine. It lends a slightly frivolous touch to the conference in which the fate of a country of 17,000,000 is to be decided by the master of 7,500,000 Germans and the British prime minister.

Since Sunday morning scrub women and interior decorators have been working overtime in hotels and especially the one in which Hitler and Chamberlain will live.

Godesberg is one of Hitler's favorite spots in Germany. In the days when the Nazi party was short of funds Hitler and his friends always found a warm welcome in the Hotel Dreesen. Now that he is the chief of state a suite of seven rooms is always kept in readiness for the Fuehrer.

"Blood Purge" Recalled.

For many Nazis, the name of Godesberg has an omnious ring. It was in this town that Hitler decided to "crush the Roehm rebellion" in the blood purge of 1934. He started from Godesberg on his flight to Munich to order their punishment. [Capt. Ernst Roehm was reported to have killed himself in his prison cell after his arrest].

Hitler is expected to arrive in Godesberg by plane tomorrow with Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Propaganda Minister Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels. Chamberlain is expected to arrive Wednesday.

[A dispatch from London said Prime Minister Chamberlain had called off an immediate second visit to Hitler in order to give the Czech government more time to study the British-French proposals.]

HUNGARY REGENT IS EXPECTED TO SEE HITLER TODAY

MUNICH, Germany, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, intends to pay a brief visit to Reichsfuehrer Hitler at Berchtesgaden tomorrow, it was reported today.

His purpose will be to enlist the aid of Hitler and of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain in settling the fate of the Hungarian minority, numbering 700,000, in Czechoslovakia.

under arms, and that about 1,500,000 more easily are mobilizable. The equipment of this army is considered good, although inferior in quantity and quality to the equipment of the Czechoslovak army.

In case of war, which Prague seems to regard as practically inevitable, the calculations of the Czechoslovak general staf will be thrown cut completely if they have to reckon with an attack from Poland as well as from Germany, or even if there should be a nominal amount of hostile pressure from Poland.

Actual Attack Doubted.

There is little fear, however, of Poland joining with Germany to attack Czechoslovakia. It is not that the inclination is lacking in Poland, either by the government, by the army, or by the populace.

Hatred between the Poles and the Czechs is one of the most tenacious in Europe, surpassed perhaps only by the hatred of the Hungarians for the Czechs and Rumanians. More than one Polish statesman has grudges to settle with Czech statesmen — notably President Eduard Benes, whom they consider entirely too clever.

The Polish nation as a whole has not forgotten the disputes about small bits of territory which arose during and after the Versailles peace conference, in which the Poles were worsted. Above all it has not forgotten the attitude of the Czechs during the war with Russia in 1920, when the Czechs refused to transport ammunition to Poland and did their best to make Poland lose the war.

Pressure Keeps the Peace.

It is safe to say that if the two nations had only themselves to consider they long ago would have been at war. Poland would have made war on Czechoslovakia.

As component parts of the complex European mechanism, an isolated war between the two nations has been impossible. Even if Czechoslovakia is attacked, Poland is counted upon to observe an attitude of neutrality—even though this neutrality is sullen.

Col. Joseph Beck, foreign minister of Poland, and some other Polish statesmen may have strong pro-German leanings, but the mass of Poles do not share these sympathies.

This correspondent was convinced of this three years ago when on a tour of investigation in Poland for THE TRIBUNE. At that time he heard, in hundreds of private conversations, this opinion:

"The treaty arranged by Col. Beck with Germany is a necessary convenience. Not even he expects the Polish people to warm up to the Germans. The traditional and natural alliance of Poland is with France, and you notice the French alliance never has been broken."

The Polish feeling toward Czechoslovakia is one of irritation. Among the Pole there is much hatred for Germany, or feelings of detestation combined with fear. That fear is based on centuries of experience during which the Poles have been pushed constantly eastward before the force of German expansion.

Sentiment in Poland, therefore, would not tolerate active military cooperation with Germany, even against Czechoslovakia. Within the last two weeks there has appeared, astonishing as it may seem, the suggestion that Poland might give aid to Czechoslovakia. Not from sympathy, but on the eminently practical ground that Poland — considering the German claims to Upper Silesia and the Polish corridor—will be the next on Germany's list once Czechoslovakia is dismembered.

Recognize Own Vulnerability.

The better informed Poles remember that their country, like Czechoslovakia, has a heterogenous population with hardly a larger percentage of "pure Poles" than Czechoslovakia has of "pure Czechoslovaks." They see the absurdity of supporting the German argument on minorities when that argument could be applied against themselves. They realize also that in case of war they would have to take into account a certain amount of disloyalty in the army and sabotage in the rear.

Aside from sympathies and preferences, Czechoslovaks have a tangible and practical ground for confidence in Poland's neutrality. That is supplied by Russia.

Some Czech military men, in their hearts, are skeptical about the amount of efficacious aid Russia may bring to Czechoslovakia, but they are assured that fear of Russia will keep Poland neutral, if all other arguments fail.

Acts as Balance Wheel.

Because of its geographical position between Germany and Russia, and its line of natural defenses like a tortoise without a shell, Poland has to practice a policy of balance between the two, regardless of considerations of dignity.

Poland cannot afford to swing its weight entirely to either side. In times of nominal peace, like the present, it may lean toward Germany, but Russia would take immediately a serious view of Poland as an ally of Germany in actual war.

In Prague the chances of Poland being allied with Germany are considered very slight. It is admitted that Poland might join with a Germany easily and overwhelmingly victorious and thus partly win its own share of the spoils, partly curry favor with the victor, and get easy treatment when Germany entered claims against Poland. Such a situation would presuppose that Germany would be able to protect Poland against Russia.

Logical Point of Attack.

If the improbable should happen and the Polish army did move against Czechoslovakia it does not have a choice of many points to attack despite the 610 mile frontier the two countries have in common. The main Polish operations would be directed from Katowice against the Czech industrial region of Teschen, not only because it is one of the few regions in which the Poles have a railway and road system adequate for launching an attack, but because the population on the other side of the border is largely Polish. At this point Czechoslovakia is most vulnerable to Poland.

The Polish army, advancing from Teschen into Czechoslovakia, might be expected to link up with German forces advancing from a base in Vienna north through Bratislava, with the object of cutting off Slovakia and sub-Carpathian Russia from the two western provinces of Czechoslovakia.

JAPS DRIVE THROUGH MUD AND RAIN, WITHIN 40 MILES OF SINYANG

SHANGHAI, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Slogging through rain and mud, the extreme right wing Japanese column on the Hankow front reported tonight it had driven to within 40 miles of Sinyang, on the Peking or Hankow railway, 100 miles north of the provisional Chinese capital.

Other Japanese columns spread out through the Yangtze valley, southeast of Hankow, reported snail-like progress against severe Chinese resistence. A Japanese spokesman said naval forces above Wusueh were sweeping mines from the Yangtze.

CZECHS SEEK AID OF RUSSIA IF NAZI ARMY ATTACKS

Prague Agent Talks to Soviet Ambassador.

GENEVA, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Czechoslovakia was reported to have fallen back on soviet Russia tonight in the hope that Moscow might back her up against French and British pressure to give her Sudetenland to Germany.

Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov of Russia was said to have sent to Moscow a Czechoslovak request for support delivered to his delegation earlier in the day by Edouard Heidrich, Czechoslovak foreign office expert.

Both Russian and Czechoslovak officials flatly refused to give any details of a talk Heidrich earlier had with Jacob Suritz, soviet ambassador to France. They also denied Heidrich talked with Litvinov.

The officials said, however, that the last hope of Prague lay with Russia.

Ask Russia: Will You Help?

In both soviet and Czechoslovak circles it was understood Czechoslovakia had proposed that Russia try to induce France and Britain to stiffen their stand against Germany in the event Prague should refuse to accept the terms of Adolf Hitler.

Czechoslovakia was reported to have asked Russia what the chances were of getting soviet military aid in the event of German invasion and French failure to help. Russia's alliance with Prague provides for such help only if France gives aid first.

Possibility of a Czechoslovak appeal to the league of nations was discussed openly in Geneva. It was generally considered, however, as a last step to be taken only if German troops crossed into Czechoslovak territory.

Russia Remains Silent.

MOSCOW, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Soviet Russia maintained an official silence tonight on the British-French plan for cession of Sudeten German areas of Czechoslovakia to Germany in a deal to save Europe's peace.

Some soviet circles, however, contended that developments proved what the soviet press has been saying for weeks that the policy of Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain consistently has been to reach an agreement with Reichsfuehrer Hitler at Czechoslovakia's expense.

Moscow has given no indication whether the soviet union will help Czechoslovakia if French and British aid is withdrawn.

LEAGUE INVITES JAPAN TO PARLEY ON WAR IN CHINA

Loyal Spain Asks End of Nonintervention.

GENEVA, Sept. 19.—(AP)—While the Czechoslovak crisis was uppermost in the minds of delegates to the league of nations, its meeting were stirred today by echoes of two wars now going on.

The league council unanimously agreed to invite Japan to sit with it while discussing China's demand that the league act against Tokio. This set the league's rusty punitive machinery in motion for the first time since the Italo-Ethopian war. It was the first time it had moved against Japan.

The Spanish government delegation opened a campaign to end the nonintervention agreement. Julio Alvarez del Vayo, government Spain's foreign minister, appeared before the assembly to attack great powers for failing to aid states which he said were victims of aggressor nations.

British May Scrap Pact.

There was some belief that London would seek an end of the non-intervention agreement when and if the British government decides a general European war is unavoidable.

Del Vayo called to mind the league's "ghost" nations when he addressed the fifty delegates. He said "the Chinese people have been abandoned to their fate" and the "disappearance" of now German Austria "will not even be recorded in the list of international crimes."

"It is not the aggressors but their accomplices on whom the greatest responsibility falls," he cried. " . . .

Wait on Japan's Answer.

The league decision will be made after Japan replies to the invitation to sit in the council while the question is being discussed. In 1933 Japan resigned from the league; the resignation took effect in 1935.

China's representative was fully aware, in calling on the league to recognize that a state of war exists in the far east, that he risked changing the United States attitude toward the conflict.

Should the United States follow a league decision that war does exist in China, and similarly recognize the state of war, the Washington government would be compelled to apply the neutrality act.

The Chinese, however, believe the possible application, however ineffective, of the covenant's punitive measures to be worth the risk of having war supplies from the United States cut off.

DUCE TO IMPART ITALY'S WAR VIEW TO WORLD TODAY

Expected to Review Czech Crisis in Udine Speech.

ROME, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Keeping Italy's viewpoint to the front in the fast moving European crisis, Premier Benito Mussolini will address the world again tomorrow. While Great Britain, France, and Germany are engage in discussing the fate of Czechoslovakia, Il Duce will speak at Udine, in northeastern Italy.

Fascist newspapers forecast that tomorrow's speech will deal with developments since the premier's address yesterday in Trieste, when he said that if war comes "Italy's place already is chosen."

Virginio Gayda, authoritative editor of Il Giornale D'Italia, who often expresses Il Duce's views, wrote today that "Italy is ready to take up arms at Germany's side if a mad conflagration should explode" over the Czechoslovak problem.

May Discuss British Plan.

Between the times Premier Mussolini spoke yesterday and announcement today of his plans to talk tomorrow, Great Britain and France jointly agreed upon a plan to offer Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland to Germany. Some observers thought Il Duce tomorrow probably would give his views on this plan.

Il Duce has insisted Italy wants to avoid war through a peaceful settlement of the Sudeten problem.

Another point on which Premier Mussolini has not spoken is Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's demand that Prague cut loose from her alliances with Moscow and Paris. The Italian press repeatedly has attacked those alliances, however.

It is considered likely Premier Mussolini will let the world know his reaction to Prague's latest attitude.

Termed "Insolent Stubbornness."

The Fascist press already has referred to yesterday's rejection of a plebiscite by Premier Milan Hodza of Czechoslovakia as a sign of "insolent stubbornness." Premier Mussolini demanded such a plebiscite in his Trieste speech.

Il Duce entered Jugo-Slavia today for the first time. He crossed the frontier at Postumia for a brief visit during a tour of Julian Venetia province.

Replying to local Jugo-Slav officials who greeted him, Premier Mussolini proclaimed the inviolability of the present frontiers between Italy and Jugo-Slavia.

"This is our frontier," he said, "and this will remain our frontier."

The province of Julian Venetia, which Italy won from Austria in the world war, has 450,000 people of Slavic blood comprising Italy's largest minority.

Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italy's foreign minister, received Sir Noel Charles, British charge d'affaires, for a short discussion of the general situation.

SPANISH REBELS PUSH NEW OFFENSIVE PLAN IN ASSAULT ON EBRO

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Spanish insurgent command today reported it was pursuing a new offensive against government forces west of the Ebro river in south Catalonia.

The latest campaign against the government salient was started yesterday. The government later reported it was halted at its very outset. Insurgent advices, however, said the movement was still in a preliminary phase and was resumed today with violent new attacks.

The insurgents were said to have moved up several divisions of shock troops in their effort to crush government defenses in mountains barring the road to Barcelona from the Gandesa sector.

BORAH PROTESTS EFFORTS TO GET U. S. INTO WAR

Blasts French and British Intervention Pleas.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho], dean of the senate's foreign relations committee, today denounced proposals emanating from French and British quarters seeking to involve the United States in Europe's threatened war.

What such suggestions really mean, Senator Borah declared, is that the United States would supply the men and the money that would be necessary in the event of war.

"The people of this country may now look forward to a deluge of propaganda seeking to involve the United States in these controversies, and all in the name of peace," Senator Borah said. "They call it peace to get us in. But after we get in it is war!"

Refers to Blum Proposal.

Senator Borah referred specifically to the proposal by Leon Blum, socialist former premier of France, that President Roosevelt address himself to the European crisis resulting from Nazi Germany's territorial demands upon Czechoslovakia. Similar suggestions have come from British sources.

The Globe and Mail of Toronto, Ont., today carried an editorial urging President Roosevelt to call a conference at which Nazi Chancellor Adolph Hitler and the heads of other European countries would sit around a table and discuss their differences.

In 1936, as the Globe and Mail recalled, President Roosevelt was credited in published stories with entertaining the spectacular idea of attempting to call just such a conference. It was believed at the time the suggestion was put out as a trial balloon. The balloon was quickly deflated. Then in October, 1937, Mr. Roosevelt made his Chicago Bridge speech, in which he proposed concerted action by the democracies to quarantine aggressor nations.

Deserted by Chamberlain.

This balloon also settled with a tremendous crash when Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain left President Roosevelt out on a limb with his proposal of collective security and began dealing with the dictators—Hitler in Germany and Premier Mussolini in Italy.

It is reported that some of the President's left-wing advisers now are urging him to take a hand in the European crisis, in the hope of bringing Hitler to heel, but so far both the White House and Secretary of State Cordell Hull have pursued a policy of watchful waiting.

"Whatever the nations of Europe may see fit to do in their effort to secure peace is a matter upon which the European nations alone must pass judgment," Senator Borah declared. "The people of the United States are not interested in European boundaries or with the plans of European nations in regard to European matters."

250 Postmasters Attend Reception for Howes

Two hundred fifty postmasters from 25 states attended a reception in the Hotel Sherman last night for W. W. Howes, first assistant postmaster general. Fire Prevention Week Will Start in U. S. Oct. 9

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has designated the week beginning Oct. 9 as fire prevention week. His proclamation emphasized the "disastrous consequences of preventable fires."

LEGION PLEDGES EFFORT TO KEEP U. S. OUT OF WAR

Chicago Picked as Site for 1939 Convention.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The men who helped to win the world war 20 years ago only to find out later that it did not prove to be a "war to end all wars," roared today for a powerful armed peace and neutrality that will keep the United States out of war.

The 20th annual convention of the American Legion, its greatest gathering, had for a keynoter United States Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts. He talked of neutrality, national defense, and communism.

He gave the Legionnaires a command to move. It was: "The command is forward—forward, not for world democracy, but for peace and democracy at home here in America."

National Commander Daniel J. Doherty reported that today there are 972,933 members of the Legion. He pointed to the Legion's Americanism commission activities as "of greater import now than at any time in the history of the Legion."

The four day convention was geared for action on policies and plans without the usual problems of election and selecting a next year convention city. Preconvention action found Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle unopposed for national commander, and Chicago the choice for the 1939 convention.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, entered the midwest city's official bid for the 1939 convention by asking the delegates to vote to return to the "city that really appreciates you."

Phil Conley of the Illinois department followed Mayor Kelly and presented a certified check for $27,500 to assure the expenses of the national convention. A moment later Commander Doherty put in a personal bid for the 1940 convention for Boston.

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York was introduced to the convention and received a medallion as chief executive of the city in which the last year Legion convention was held.

The Herbert G. Akroyd post of Marlboro, Mass., tonight regained its national championship among drum and bugle corps with a score of 96.25. Commonwealth Edison post of Chicago, another former champion, was second with 95.65. Chicago Police post, finished with a score of 94.30.

HORNER-COURTNEY LEADERS ASKED TO BACK ENTIRE TICKET

Horner-Courtney ward and township leaders in Cook county will be asked this week to take action indorsing the entire Democratic state and county ticket.

Martin J. O'Brien and Charles K. Schwartz talked yesterday at the organization's Hotel Sherman headquarters with about half of the ward leaders. At the close of the conference they said it had been agreed that the first step looking toward unified party action in this area should be the passage of an indorsement resolution.

"The meeting will be held at a time when Gov. Horner can be present," said O'Brien. "It probably will be either Thursday or Friday."

HURRICANE MAY PASS FLORIDA; MOVING NORTH

East Coast Prepares to Save Lives, Property.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Cities and towns along a 500 mile stretch of Florida's east coast from Jacksonville to Key West prepared tonight for a severe hurricane reported roaring this way from far out at sea. Preparations were carried out despite weather bureau reports that the course of the terrific storm is shifting northeastward and there is hope that it may miss Florida.

Miami looks like a frontier town. Its glittering glass and gaudy stucco are hidden under rough lumber that covers the façades of buildings.

Windows and doors on structures throughout the city were boarded up for protection against high winds, flying débris and heavy rains.

Prepare Emergency Lights.

Inside residences families are getting out kerosene lamps for emergency lighting. Bathtubs and various other containers were filled with water in the event the normal supply is cut off.

Public buildings were made ready to serve as shelters. Residents who felt their homes were insecure were notified where to go for protection. Schools, police stations, various public buildings, and in one case a big night club closed for the summer were designated as available. Every preparation is made to guard against a repetition of the death and destruction caused by the last hurricane, which took 450 lives in 1935.

A state-wide emergency relief organization and the Red Cross augmented efforts of private residents to prepare for any eventuality.

Center 360 Miles at Sea.

The WPA and the CCC evacuation of all men in exposed places, including camps in the keys where 257 war veterans died in 1935 blow.

In 1928 the most disastrous hurricane in Florida history swept in from the sea and took 1,180 lives.

The federal bureau in an 11:30 p. m. advisory said ship reports had confirmed 9 p. m. advices saying the disturbance had changed its course and was moving northwestward.

"At 10 p. m. eastern standard time," said the advisory, "the center was about 360 miles east of Palm Beach and still moving at a rapid rate for a fully developed hurricane. This change in direction has greatly lessened the threat to Florida. While this is reassuring, we urge that you stand by for another twelve hours."

FOUND DEAD IN HIS CAR.

In Marital Rift

[Acme Photo.]
BETTE DAVIS.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Screen Star Bette Davis admitted today that she and her husband, Harmon O. Nelson, agent and former band leader, were having domestic difficulties.

"There is no use denying reports of a rift," she said. "I am not the coy type that tries to hide what is true. However, I hope sincerely there will be no separation. Just now I don't believe there will be."

DUBUQUE FEARS POWER, WATER LOSS IN FLOOD

Dubuque, Ia., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The rapidly rising Mississippi river threatened to shut off Dubuque's water and power supply tonight. Basements of both plants were flooded and pumps were in constant operation to keep the water away from machinery. Five hundred persons have been removed from homes along the river bank and relief agencies are preparing to care for refugees.

At Prairie du Chien, Wis., the river was reported falling tonight after reaching the highest stage in the last sixteen years. Milwaukee road trains were unable to cross southern Wisconsin and were detoured through Dubuque where the track is protected by sandbags.

Heavy rain for the last week has sent the Sugar and Pecatonica rivers in northern Illinois out of their banks and flooded many roads in the area. A washout on the Illinois Central railroad near Orangeville stopped trains, and in Freeport water was from one to three feet deep in more than 100 basements. U. S. highway 20 east of Freeport was under two feet of water.

CAB DRIVER DIES IN CELL.

John Taylor, colored, 537 East 41st street, a taxicab driver, was arrested early yesterday for reckless driving and was locked up in the Wabash avenue police station. A few hours later he was found dead in his cell, apparently of a heart attack.

ILLINOIS LABOR PARTY PUTS FULL TICKET IN RACE

Drys Also File; 5 Column Ballot Indicated.

The Illinois Labor party yesterday entered a full slate of candidates for state offices in the November election. The necessary petitions, headed by the name of Attorney Frank W. McCulloch as the candidate for United States senator, were filed at Springfield.

At about the same time petitions also were filed in behalf of the Prohibition state slate selected at a convention held in Peoria last April. The dry candidate for United States senator is Enoch A. Holtwick, a member of the faculty of Greeneville college.

Last Saturday a nominating petition carrying the names of three candidates was filed as an independent petition but it was circulated by the Communist party. The first of the trio named was Morris Childs, secretary of the Communist party of Illinois.

See Five Columns on Ballot.

Unless one or more of these petitions goes down under legal attack, there will be five columns on the Nov. 8 ballot, the first two being occupied by the Democratic and Republican candidates.

Political interest attached particularly to the Labor party ticket. Neither the Prohibition party nor the Communist party is considered strong enough to affect the senatorial election materially, but if the Labor party movement is anywhere near as developed as its promoters say it is, there is a likelihood that it will cut into the big union vote now claimed for Congressman Scott W. Lucas, the Democratic nominee.

It is also considered possible that the Labor party, now entering an election for the first time, might cut down the organization vote previously considered strongly favorable to Louie E. Lewis, the Democratic nominee for state treasurer who was put up as a labor candidate.

Both Parents Attorneys.

[Attorney McCulloch, the candidate for United States senator on the new party's ticket, is 33 years old. He is a son of Attorney Frank H. McCulloch and Mrs. Catharine McCulloch, who also is an attorney. In 1911 his mother was the first woman justice of the peace to hold court in the United States. She was a leader in the crusades for prohibition and woman suffrage.

Young McCulloch studied at Williams college and received his law degree from Harvard in 1929. He is chairman of the Illinois Workers' Alliance of Cook county.

McCulloch's running mates include Attorney Joseph M. Jacobs and Bert N. Nelson, a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, both of Chicago, for congressman-at-large.

Murder Victim

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
MRS. ALICE DUBOSSI.

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Police of Westchester county today were hunting for a middle-aged man for questioning in the slaying of Mrs. Alice Dubossi. Her beaten and strangled body was found yesterday in a ditch in Yonkers park. Police believed Mrs. Dubossi had been dead for a day before her body was thrown from an automobile. She was a beauty operator. Her purse and a valuable ring were missing.

FIFTH WIFE JAILS BIGAMIST; FINDS HIM WITH SIXTH

'Walked Out on a Couple,' He Confesses.

Detectives William Jannisch and John Meehan of the Fillmore station had six reasons for arresting George Tanrath last night. Every reason was a wife. Tanrath, 38 years old, an interstate bus driver living at 4329 Madison street, is a wholesale bigamist, they charged.

The detectives were put on Tanrath's trail through the story of his fifth wife, Alice Perkiss Tanrath, 4546 Magnolia avenue, to Desk Sergeant Martin Joyce. She told Joyce that she was married to Tanrath in October, 1935, and that he left her last June 6. She became suspicious, she said, and discovered he had been married four times previously and once since.

Police listed Tanrath's wives in order as Leona Smith, married in 1920; Isabelle Ossman, 1922; Helen Rice, 1926; Frances Speckmann, 1928; Alice Perkiss, 1935, and Wilma Phillips, married two months ago.

The Phillips girl is 19 and an expectant mother. She was found in Tanrath's apartment. She said she was married to Tanrath in her parents' home in Jonesboro, Ind. Tanrath had little to say except that he always insisted on an understanding in his marriages that when and if discord arose either he or his wife could leave.

"So I just walked out on a couple," he said.

Three Physicians Named on Oak Park Health Board

Three physicians were appointed members of the Oak Park board of health last night. They are Dr. Louis P. River, Dr. Thomas I. Motter, and Dr. Burton R. Bancroft. They will fill vacancies on the six man board created by the resignation last June of three doctors who indicated that they disapproved the removal of Dr. Frank N. Needham as village health commissioner. Dr. George N. Mueller is the present commissioner.

Frederic A. Williams, New York cotton broker, yesterday received custody of his daughter, Margot, during the school year. Margot, who is 13 years, has been living with her mother, Mrs. W. Sbarbaro, master in chancery.

REPORT GENERAL EDUCATION FUND WILL LIQUIDATE

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The general education board, now approaching liquidation, has expended $255,334,670 toward the progress of education since the board's inception in 1902, according to a report made public today by Raymond B. Fosdick, president of the board.

Up to 1920 the board's expenditures were almost exclusively from income, the report notes. In 1920 the practice was initiated of spending from principal as well as from income. Total appropriations up to the end of 1937 were from principal, $139,337,348, and from income, $115,997,322.

The total amount received by the board in gifts and accretions exclusive of income from investments was $179,754,751. The gifts were mainly from the late John D. Rockefeller.

COUNCIL TO GET ORDINANCE ON AIRPORT MONDAY

Joseph F. Grossman, assistant corporation counsel, yesterday said that the city's airport enlargement ordinance should be ready for passage by the council next Monday. The city and the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad reached an agreement during the day to keep certain through streets open along the new right of way and no other obstacles have appeared, he said.

The city council subcommittee on the airport, headed by Ald. Bryan Hartnett [12th], will hold a public meeting later this week to go over final details of the voluminous document prepared for the council. As soon as the ordinance is passed it will be sent to the Illinois Commerce commission for approval. Meanwhile the Chicago Title and Trust company is drawing up a detailed description of the properties that must be acquired as part of the airport expansion program.

IF THE SHOE FITS—

By CALEB

THERE IS something about shoes that fascinates those who work with them. Perhaps it is because shoes have their own personalities—as strong and definite as those of their owners. Perhaps it is the sheen and the feel of pliant, well-cured leather skillfully fashioned into footwear.

Long ago we began to build custom shoes to fill special orders. In 1905 Mr. Field himself ordered the first pair sold and launched a department that continues to serve customers from New York to California and Duluth to New Orleans. Each year our factory produces hundreds of pairs, formed carefully around lasts built up from detailed measurements. In the factory the foreman, who has presided there for thirty-three years, moves carefully about, fondling the fine kid and calfskins, running his finger along the careful hand stitching, rubbing the half-completed uppers of a shoe on his sleeve, the better to display its deep russet colors.

There isn't a machine in the department. Across the hall the whir and clatter of modern machinery comes from the repair shop. The foreman closes the door against it. His men sit silently with unchanging expressions at their low benches, an alcohol flame burning before them, gleaming knives, fantastic hammers in orderly profusion about them.

The work progresses slowly. Often one of them pauses to gaze intently at the piece of leather in his hand—motionless and utterly absorbed in the contemplation. The clatter of the modern machines beats like a wave against the walls of their shop. They do not hear it. With steady, unhurried pace they draw the fine, close stitches in amazingly even rows.

Theirs is a craft—and here, fortunately, they still find many who need it. One workman has made shoes for a certain woman customer for more than thirty years. Among the great files of lasts and patterns stored on dusty shelves are many of feet shod by these same craftsmen for twenty, fifteen, ten years. All sorts of assignments have come their way—and all are met with conscientious care. Here is the finest in hand craftsmanship—untouched and undisturbed by the inroads of modern production speed. Here is a little citadel against the noise and the hurry of the machine—one of many evidences in our organization that craftsmanship still has its place in this civilization.

THREE PARTIES PICK TICKETS IN WISCONSIN VOTE

Coalition Effort Also Gets Test.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

NEW YORK — Representative John O'Connor, Democratic chairman of house rules committee, seeks renomination over President Roosevelt's opposition. Other congressional and legislative candidates to be chosen.

NEW JERSEY—William H. J. Ely unopposed for Democratic senatorial nomination; former Senator W. Warren Barbour seeks Republican nomination over two opponents.

WISCONSIN—Senator F. Ryan Duffy, praised by the President, unopposed for Democratic nomination; six Republicans and two Progressives seek senate nomination; Gov. Philip La Follette, Progressive, seeks fourth term nomination.

MASSACHUSETTS—National issues lacking in congressional races; no senate seat at stake; Gov. Charles F. Hurley, Democrat, has three opponents.

BY THORNTON SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Wisconsin's three principal political parties, Republican, Democratic, and Progressive will nominate candidates in tomorrow's primary. The general election is Nov. 8.

Involved in the primaries is an effort, being made for the first time, to coördinate the La Follette opposition into a coalition group comprising the conservative strength for both old parties. Coalition strength is the unknown factor of the primary. A coalition committee has named a state ticket which is running in both Republican and Democratic primaries.

Weather Affects Vote.

Heavy rains which continued up to the eve of election and flooded rivers which have made many back roads impassable are expected to tend toward a relatively small vote. The average off year primary vote is from 600,000 to 800,000.

There are nine candidates for the office of United States senator in the three parties, six Republicans, two Progressives, and F. Ryan Duffy, Democratic incumbent who is unopposed.

Popular opinion tonight gives the Republican nominee a better than even chance for a victory in November. Betting favors the Republican for first place with the Progressive nominee second. Duffy has lost favor by his complete acceptance of the New Deal and is attacked by opponents in both parties as merely a proxy for the President. He is supported by the Democratic machine and a background of officeholders and postmasters. James W. Corcoran, Democratic state committeeman has placed the job holders at 10,000 in number.

Whitewashed of Charges.

Supporters of Senator Duffy announced today they were advised by the senate campaign expenditures committee in Washington that its investigators had found no grounds to support charges that WPA workers here had been solicited for funds to aid Duffy's reëlection.

Charges had been made by William H. Stafford, candidate for the Republican nomination for the senate that the Duffy for Senator club had undertaken to collect funds from WPA workers and federal employés.

The Republican candidates for the senate are Alexander Wiley, Chippewa Falls, candidate for governor in 1936; William H. Stafford, former congressman from the 5th Milwaukee district; John B. Chapple, Ashland newspaper editor and candidate for the United States senate in two previous elections; William J. Campbell, Oshkosh lumberman, father of the coalition movement; Stephen J. McMahon, Milwaukee, former member of the federal tax commission, and Edward J. Samp, former chairman of the state committee.

La Follette Seeks Fourth Term.

Gov. La Follette who is seeking the nomination for an unprecedented fourth term is opposed for the Progressive nomination by Glenn B. Turner, Madison attorney endorsed by the Milwaukee Socialists and the Farmer-Labor Progresive federation. La Follette is conceded the nomination but the defection of the Socialists and the Federationists make his election at least an uncertainty.

Robert K. Henry, Jefferson, Wis., Democrat and former state treasurer is the coalition candidate for both Republican and Democratic nomination for governor. He is opposing Jerome F. Fox, who has the convention endorsement for the Democratic nomination. In addition to Henry, Julius P. Heil, Milwaukee manufacturer and James G. Peterson, Medford farm leader are seeking the Republican nomination.

Republicans Optimistic.

J. Pierpont Wood, Janesville Republican national committeeman is confident the Republicans will elect at least three of the ten congressmen in November. There are sharp competitions for the nomination in each district.

The polls in the county districts and in the smaller cities close at 5 or 6 o'clock. The final county always is late because the voting in Milwaukee continues until 8 o'clock [9 o'clock Chicago time].

$100,000 DOPE CACHE AND 3 EX-CONVICTS ARE SEIZED IN RAID

Morphine and heroin valued at more than $100,000 was seized yesterday by agents of the federal narcotics department in a raid on a suite of offices in the St. Clair building, 154 East Erie street. Three men, all ex-convicts, were arrested. They are Russell Jenkins of 1504 North Dearborn parkway, a parolee from the Ohio penitentiary on a murder charge; Bruce Hoffman of 3165 Winthrop avenue, and William McMullen, who would not give his address, a former federal convict. Later Thomas Gray, who lived at 4621 Sheridan road until two days ago, was arrested, reportedly as a go-between.

Thomas Gray.

When the agents under James G. Biggins, chief of the Chicago narcotics office, smashed the door of the ring's offices they found nearly 700 ounces of dope. Its wholesale value is at least $85,000, the agents said. Gas masks used while mixing the narcotics were found in the place. The seizure was one of the largest in several years here.

C.I.O. Union Headquarters on South Side Is Bombed

A hall at 4758 South Marshfield avenue used by C.I.O. unions was bombed early today. John Weber, 5033 South Damen avenue, a private watchman, fired three shots at a man who escaped after the explosion. The blast smashed the front floor of the building, but did only about $50 damage. Mrs. Sabina Sikora and her two small children, who live in the rear of the place, were shaken by the explosion. In seeking a motive, Sergt. Marshall Pidgeon, of the mob squad, said he would question Arthur Kampfert, subregional C.I.O. organizer in charge of the Packing House Workers organizing committee, which maintains headquarters in the hall. Ten C.I.O. packing house unions also meet there.

Brewery Fined for Smoke Violation Accused Anew

Frank A. Chambers, superintendent of the city bureau of smoke inspection and abatement, yesterday asked Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes to file charges of smoke violations against the Manhattan Brewing company, 3901 Emerald avenue. The company was fined $200 in June by Municipal Judge Joseph B. Hermes for the same offense. The new violations occurred, Chambers charged, on Aug. 15, Aug. 18, and Sept. 14.

TWO HARVARD MEN VIE IN LIVELY CONTESTS AT MASSACHUSETTS POLLS

Boston, Mass., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Two young Harvard blue bloods on opposite sides of the New Deal fence are providing two of the most spirited contests in tomorrow's Massachusetts primary election.

Thomas H. Eliot, young Harvard law graduate and grandson of the late Samuel Eliot, noted Unitarian preacher, is running for the Democratic nomination to congress in the 9th district. He seeks to oppose Congressman Robert A. Luce of Waltham, veteran Republican member of the house. Eliot, an ardent New Dealer, counsel for the federal social security board, is opposed by four other candidates.

Robert F. Bradford of Cambridge, also a Harvard law graduate, a staunch Republican, is opposing Warren L. Bishop for renomination as district attorney of Middlesex county.

Open Bids for Breakwater to Protect Filtration Plant

Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt yesterday opened bids on the construction of a breakwater to protect Chicago's new twenty-one million dollar water filtration plant. A federal grant of $5,415,750 has been made for a start on the plant. Work on the breakwater must start by Wednesday. The Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company was low with a bid of $709,825. The breakwater will be 3,000 feet out in Lake Michigan between 74th and 79th streets.

Mother's Standby in Treating

CHILDREN'S Frequent COLDS

If your children keep coming down with nasty little colds all winter, use Vicks VapoRub these three simple ways.

✓ For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves local congestion—eases muscular soreness or tightness—helps the youngster relax into restful sleep.

✓ For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue. It melts, trickles slowly down—bathes the throat with soothing medication. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest.

✓ For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air-passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested ways to relieve the misery of colds.

101 THEATERS SUE BALABAN & KATZ AS A MONOPOLY

The Balaban & Katz corporation was accused in a suit yesterday of violating the federal anti-trust laws by an alleged monopoly of the motion picture industry in Chicago. The suit was filed in District court in behalf of 101 of the 360 movie theaters in Chicago and suburbs. Five officers and film buyers for the company, and nine producing corporations were also named as defendants.

Attorney Joseph Rosenberg filed the action, which asks that the defendants be restrained from allegedly conspiring to dominate the independent theater owners. Balaban & Katz is accused of violating a consent decree entered in 1932, which permitted loop theaters to exhibit a first run picture for three or four weeks, after which it was to be released first to larger outlying theaters and after ten weeks to smaller houses.

By a "continuous run" system, the suit charges, Balaban & Katz has shown pictures continuously in the loop for such long runs that all their exhibition value in the neighborhoods is gone. The plaintifs also condemn the block booking system, and assert they have been deprived of the right to bid freely for new pictures.

IDENTIFY SLAIN BANDIT.

The body of a robber, slain Sunday night by an intended victim, was identified yesterday as that of Hoyt Enoex, colored, 25 years old, of 427 East 45th street. Enoex was shot by Luther Harper, colored, a delivery boy, at 4324 Champlain avenue.

NEW WPA GROUP OPENS DRIVE TO BACK ROOSEVELT

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—An organization known as the WPA Employés Association of America has written to President Roosevelt that it proposes to "mold an army of 3,000,000 men and women and their dependents" to keep him in office and to vote only for those congressional candidates "willing to support your recommendations and legislative program."

Raymond B. Meisnere, president of the association, in his letter to Mr. Roosevelt, attacked an existing WPA union known as the Workers Alliance as bearing "the taint of communism."

Wrap your packages in MOSINEE

More yards per pound — Costs less per yard

WHEN YOU purchase commodities from a merchant who wraps your packages in Mosinee, you know that he is furnishing you the best wrapping paper procurable at the lowest net cost—wrapping paper is a primary commercial requisite, and is made to fulfil a three-fold purpose:

1. To preserve the articles wrapped until required for use.
2. To protect the contents wrapped against soil, contamination and concussion.
3. To transport the contents wrapped safely, from point of purchase to point of delivery, in as good condition as they were when purchased.

Mosinee wrapping fulfils this three-fold purpose economically to both merchant and consumer.

The merchant gets more yards of paper to the pound. The consumer gets each package wrapped at the lowest cost.

This is the reason why constantly increasing thousands upon thousands of consumers demand more Mosinee wrapping each year. And why Mosinee wrapping is shipped into every one of the 48 states of the Union in larger quantities each year.

Remember, all "brown wrapping paper" is not Mosinee. You can easily identify the genuine Mosinee sheet, for every yard has the word "Mosinee" watermarked plainly in its surface. Look for it.

G. O. P. HAS GOOD CHANCE TO WIN IDAHO IN FALL

Democrats Split and President Disliked.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—With the Democrats split, the farmers deserting President Roosevelt, and the Democratic state administration convicted of corruption, the Republicans have an exceedingly good chance to carry Idaho in the November elections.

The defeat for renomination of Mr. Roosevelt's yes-man, Senator James P. Pope, and the nomination in his stead of the independent Democrat, Congressman D. Worth Clark, generally was supposed to have extinguished whatever prospect there was of electing a Republican senator. It would have been easy for the Republicans to beat Pope with his record of supporting the bill to pack the Supreme court and of sponsoring the 1938 agricultural act which is growing more and more unpopular with the farmers.

Opposed to Roosevelt Policies.

But with Clark nominated the Republicans found a good deal of their ammunition useless. Clark is a likeable young man with a record of opposing the court packing bill, of voting against the bill to clothe the President with dictatorial power to reorganize the administrative branch of the government, of opposing the utility holding company death sentence and otherwise refusing to rubber stamp Roosevelt measures.

To a good many Republicans Clark appeared to be a good enough Republican for all essential purposes of the moment and the disposition at Republican national headquarters was to view an attempt to defeat Clark as futile. If he does win, he will be indebted to the support his independent stand has won him among Republicans as well as Democrats.

There are a number of factors, however, that have inspired the Republican leaders here with confidence of the election of Donald A. Callahan, the Republican candidate for senator, and have given the Democratic leaders grave cause of concern.

Listened to Promises.

Most important of these factors is the backsliding of the farmers from faith in Mr. Roosevelt. Idaho went Democratic in 1932 and 1936 because of the plumping of Republican farmers for Mr. Roosevelt. In 1932 they were attracted by his promises to get adequate prices for their products. In 1936 they voted him gratitude for the seeming prosperity they were enjoying.

With wheat now down to 39 cents on the farms, however, and potatoes and bean crops not paying the cost of production, the picture is entirely different. The farmers are disillusioned. The farming districts are vocal with condemnation of the Wallace crop restrictions and the Hull reciprocal tarif treaties, which have subjected wheat growers and cattle raisers to Canadian competition. Callahan's attack on the Roosevelt agricultural policies are drawing large audiences in the farming counties.

Wallace Unpopular.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace is exceedingly unpopular with the wheat growers for his 30 per cent curtailment of the next crop while southern states are beginning to get wheat quotas for acres taken out of cotton production.

No less unpopular is he in the sugar beet raising region because of his production restriction in the face of clamors for such expansion of acreage as would warant construction of more sugar factories and thereby relieve the pressure of the surpluses of other crops.

The sugar beet growers are particularly outraged by the pay for field labor fixed by Wallace at $4 and $5 a day, compared with $1.25 a day in Louisiana and 80 cents to $1 a day in Porto Rico. They are convinced that the department of agriculture is definitly favoring sugar production by Porto Rico and Cuba.

Lose $40 to $50 Monthly.

Similar notes of dissatisfaction with the Democratic farm program have been sounded by the dairy farmers whose former average of $60 to $70 a month for dairy products has dwindled to $20. Altogether the slump in farm revenue is being reflected in lessened business in the towns supplying the farmers, with consequent reaction there against the Roosevelt administration.

This agrarian reaction against crop control has been developing for a year or more but was ignored by the Democrats and was one of the causes of the defeat of Senator Pope for renomination.

Pope was one of the authors of the agricultural act of 1938. He promoted the legislation in a series of hearings by a senate agricultural subcommittee held in the west a year ago. He held hearings in Boise and reported that the farmers were virtually unanimous for the bill. The witnesses heard were for it, but 90 per cent of them were government payrollers.

Borah Finds Opposition.

Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] concurrently toured the state holding daily meetings with groups of farmers and came to the conclution that the farmers overwhelmingly opposed the bill. He returned to Washington and fought it. Pope returned to Washington and told the President the farmers wanted it.

When Pope was defeated for renomination he sped to Washington and told Mr. Roosevelt the foul deed had been perpetrated by Republicans who invaded the Democratic primary to vote against him. That many Republicans did so in their zeal to strike at rubber stamp dictatorship is not denied, but that they alone caused Pope's defeat is open to considerable doubt.

Analysis of the primary returns indicates that a far more important cause of his defeat was his failure to receive the votes of farmers who have been voting the Democratic ticket since 1932 The tide had turned and it engulfed Pope, the author of the unpopular agricultural act of 1932.

Decides Not to Run.

Pope finally decided not to run as an independent but so far he has not shown any enthusiasm for the election of Clark. A good many Pope followers are off the reservation and are expected to knife Clark for the reason that if Clark wins the Idaho delegation to the 1940 Democratic national convention will be anti-Roosevelt whereas if Clark is licked Pope will control the party machinery for the President.

Also militating against Democratic success are the revelations of graft, waste, and inefficiency in the Democratic state administration, particularly in the highway department. Some Democratic officials have been convicted and sent to prison, others have been indicted and are yet to come to trial.

Corruption in 1936.

The corruption and peculation took place mainly in the administrations previous to 1936 of Gov. C. Ben Ross, now Democratic candidate for governor . The revelations have turned the state upside down and tremendously increased the election chances of the exceedingly able and popular Republican candidate, C. A. Bottolfsen.

The Republicans are likely to gain a house seat in Idaho—that in the 2d district vacated by Clark to run for the senate. The Republican candidate is the popular American Legionnaire and Rotary club leader Henry Dworshak; the Democratic candidate is Bert H. Miller, who won nomination by a nose in a field of nine. In the 1st district nothing snort of a Republican landslide could dislodge Democratic Congressman Compton I. White.

BAILIF BUSINESS BAD; HORAN THREATENS TO FIRE 20 MORE AIDS

Bailif Albert J. Horan announced yesterday that unless the Municipal court's business increases he will discharge twenty deputy bailifs before Oct. 1. He will do it even if they should happen to be the best of precinct captains of the Kelly-Nash Democratic organization and even if he has to go to jail twice for firing them, Horan added.

Horan fired fifty-five deputy bailifs before the primary election last April. The judges of the court ordered him to reinstate them. Horan refused, saying the business of the court had dropped to a point where there was no work for the fifty-five. For his refusal the judges sentenced Horan to jail on a contempt charge. He has appealed his sentence to the Appellate court.

"Since then eleven other vacancies have occurred by deaths, resignation, and discharge," Horan said yesterday. "The number of suits filed in our court is constantly decreasing. Most of the judges are working only two or three hours a day. I intend to trim my staf further but of course if the business of the court should increase I would reinstate the men as fast as they were needed."

FINE TWO HIGH SCHOOL BOYS IN PEP RALLY RIOT

Small fines were assessed last night by Magistrate Frank E. Herrick in Wheaton, against two high school boys who pleaded guilty to minor charges in connection with a football pep rally in the suburb Thursday night. The rally, police said, was more like a riot.

The boys, Burton Rogers, 16 years old, 519 South Hale street, Wheaton, and George Reneau, 15, of 479 Duane street, Glen Ellyn, were fined $3 and $1.40 costs each.

Thirteen other boys, charged either with resisting arrest, disorderly conduct, street fighting, or tomato throwing, were given continuances, twelve of them to Sept. 27, and one to Sept. 24. Wheaton police used tear gas and fire hydrant streams to disperse the boys.

ON GETTING INTO POLITICS.

The other day George A. Paddock, who is the Republican township committeeman for Evanston, asked one of his Republican friends to help in the campaign. The friend objected on three grounds: that the party lacks national leadership; that he doesn't approve of its present state leadership and therefore doesn't want to help those leaders; that not being a politician, he couldn't do anything worth while.

What Mr. Paddock replied, in a letter to his friend, has application far beyond the boundaries of Evanston. In part, he said:

"National leadership—Between presidential campaigns a minority party has no one leader. No one has authority to speak for the party. The various Republican candidates, however, are all running as opponents of the New Deal. This is war time, and if you are not in one army you are aiding and abetting the other.

"Illinois Republicans—The Republican party in Illinois is changing management. New leaders are coming to the front. If others are not all they should be, have you a right to complain? You are the kind of citizen who says, 'Why don't they get better candidates?'

"What could you do for the Republican party? First of all, realize that the most important part of the campaign isn't the conventions or the radio addresses or the mass meetings. It's the neighborhood work in the precincts; seeing that people register [there are 5,000 unregistered Republicans in Evanston right now]; talking to those who are undecided [telling 'Roosevelt stories' to other Republicans doesn't change any votes], and helping to get out the vote on election day [thousands of our Republican neighbors don't take the trouble to vote, or go out of town without leaving absentee ballots].

"This kind of work is what wins elections. It's the sort of campaigning that the New Dealers with their army of pay rollers do to perfection. Democrats in Evanston, while they are still in the minority, have a better organization than we have. Why? Because you, and others like you, fine citizens that you are, are unwilling to 'get into politics,' while the Democratic officeholder has to work to keep his job.

"The men who made this nation, your people and mine, were 'in politics.' They had to be. If you think you have enough of their fighting spirit to keep the New Dealers from smashing what is left of our country, let me know. I'll put you to work."

Mr. Paddock is reading from the primer of politics. Elections aren't won by platforms or speeches. They are won by organizations and doorbell pushing. Mr. Roosevelt on the radio may be a powerful weapon, but it is Jim Farley down in the precincts who gets out the vote. If the Republicans want to beat Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Roosevelt's yes men they must beat Jim Farley first.

MILK A LA FARLEY.

Officials of the federal departments of agriculture and justice, who want to establish a dictatorship over the milk business, have been highly critical of the cost of distributing milk. Recently they were reported to be preparing a distribution scheme of their own. It was to be modeled, according to the report, on the practices of mail delivery.

In comparison with some other government operated business, the postoffice has some claim to efficiency. But it is a naïve conceit to hold it up as a model of efficiency to private business.

In its parcel post business the postoffice engages in the delivery of commodities. Assume that farmers used these facilities to deliver their milk. Obviously the assumption is contrary to fact. To begin with, the postoffice could not keep the milk cool in transit, as the milk distributor does. But what would be the cost of such delivery by the service that critics of the industry hold up as a model of efficiency?

A quart of milk, with the bottle, weighs 56 ounces, something less than 4 pounds. Chicago's milkshed extends 150 or more miles from the city. The parcel post fee on 4 pounds within the 150 mile zone is 12 cents. The cost of transporting the milk alone, without a container, would be 11 cents.

As the milk company handles it milk moves with a speed not only greater than parcel post but greater than first class mail. To send milk by first class mail would cost $1.70 a quart. Even to get special delivery on parcel post would cost an additional 20 cents, raising the delivery cost to 32 cents.

A Chicago milk company, buying milk from the farmer at 3.64 cents a quart and selling it in Chicago for 12 cents delivered to the home or 10 cents in stores, spends about 6¾ cents of this price spread on transportation and delivery wages. This is between a third and a fifth of the cost of delivery by the postoffice.

It is possible that the cost of distributing milk can be reduced, although any large reduction must obviously come out of the hides of the milk wagon drivers, either in lower wages or less work. But in offering the postoffice as a model of efficiency the self-appointed experts down in Washington have made no contribution to solution of the problem.

THE CHOICE IS MADE.

In one sense there is no precedent in modern European history for the surrender by the British and French to Hitler. The allies had the command of the sea and the preponderance of military force on land and probably in the air as well. Economically, also, they were far stronger than Hitler. Their moral position with respect to the disputed territory was fairly good or could easily be made to appear so, for if the Germans had a claim based upon national origins the allies had on their side the sanctity of treaties and the defense of a small nation.

Yet Britain and France apparently have caved in and they did so in circumstances which provided a maximum of prestige for Hitler and a maximum of humiliation for them.

They must have reasoned that they could not afford another victory in war. Another 1914 might cost hundreds of thousands of lives, and in the end there would be little to show for it but economic collapse at home, to be followed, perhaps, by revolution with all that it implies of civil war and domestic chaos.

In British and French eyes Czechoslovakia wasn't worth the risk even though the surrender entailed a tremendous loss of prestige and even though the prospective elimination of the Czechs as a military power has made allied resistance to Germany's future expansion far more difficult. It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that what Germany wants in middle and eastern Europe she can now take.

The French see ahead of them a Germany immensely stronger in man power and physical resources than any Germany in history and the British see for the first time since Napoleon the prospect of a continental nation so strong that it can dominate Europe against any combination which Britain may bring against it. Britain risked war to check Napoleon; she declines to fight to check Hitler.

Both France and Britain have therefore abandoned what each of them has regarded as the first principle of its foreign policy. The French have given up the idea of restraining Germany by surrounding her with a ring of hostile forces, mutually bound to come to each other's defense. The British have abandoned the idea of preventing the rise of a dominant power on the continent. It is, of course, far too early to say that these policies have been abandoned for good, but for the present at least they are no longer to be regarded as the guides to action.

The choice, as it presented itself to Chamberlain and Daladier, was between the immediate danger of ruin through war, even a victorious war, and the remoter danger of subservience to an all-powerful Germany in the years to come. From their point of view it was a choice of evils and they preferred, when the showdown came, to take their chances with the remoter future, hoping, no doubt, that Hitler's régime would collapse from internal pressure before his imperial plans reached fruition.

Whether the Czechs will accept the arrangement which seems to have been made for them remains to be seen, but the probability is that they will. They appear to have been deserted by all their allies save Russia and their chances of successfully resisting Germany are correspondingly weakened. They can hardly hope to win a war in such circumstances and if defeated must expect terms of peace which would deprive them of more than they are now asked to give up. As it is they may be permitted to hold territory claimed by the Hungarians, the Poles, and the Rumanians. In an unsuccessful war they might lose all these lands and more besides.

There is one sense in which the events of the week-end are thoroughly familiar. Czechoslovakia thought it was as secure against Germany as alliances with powerful nations could make it. The world today has another evidence of the transitory value of treaties. They are binding just as long as it is to the interest of both parties to have them so. Treaties are not enforceable as civil contracts are. They are merely expressions of an interest existing at the moment of signature. When Washington warned our country against forming alliances with European powers he had that thought in mind. "It is folly," he wrote, "in one nation to look for disinterested favors from another. . . . There can be no greater error than to expect or calculate upon real favors from nation to nation. It is an illusion which experience must cure, which a just pride ought to discard."

The events of the week-end underline Washington's wisdom.

Editorial of the Day

FROM THE SPICE ISLANDS.

[New York Sun.]

Last year the spices imported into this country were valued at $12,000,000. Included in the year's imports were 17,000,000 pounds of mustard seed, which seems little enough when the quantity used on frankfurters is considered; 5,176,624 pounds of nutmegs from the Caribbean Islands; 663,485 pounds of cinnamon bark from the Dutch Indies, Ceylon, and other sources; 586,031 pounds of pimiento from Jamaica and the Central American republics, and 994,976 pounds of ginger root from West Africa and the orient. Spain contributed anise seed; the Netherlands sent caraway; British India was the source of cardamon, and Malaya of mace. Other spices imported from far lands were black pepper and curry, sage, paprika, thyme, cloves, juniper, peppermint, and vanilla beans.

Most spices are of tropical origin and were anciently grown in the east, where they had many religious, social, and ceremonial uses. Spices in the orient symbolize beauty, as indicated by the comparison of a bride to a garden full of all the "chief spices." During the middle ages high value was placed on pepper. Spice was regarded as a luxury, and was an inciting cause of the search for and discovery of new routes for trade and travel. Chiefly to increase the supply of pepper and reduce its price Portugal sent Vasco da Gama to seek a water route to India. His success resulted in lowering the price, and Portugal established a pepper monopoly. For many centuries the Pepperers' guild of London, organized in 1180, was a powerful and important trade guild. In England owners of pepper bequeathed portions of their stores of it to heirs and favorites, and landed proprietors accepted packets of pepper in payment of rent by tenants. A pound of pepper was often paid for a year's rent of land or house. In later times pepper got itself written into English law and thus into the laws of the colonies through the custom of giving "one peppercorn" for a year's rent of property when the landlord's primary object was to insure formal acknowledgment of his title to the land from the tenant. The term "peppercorn rent" still stands in legal procedure, and it has been used in this country to indicate a merely nominal rental fee, given and accepted as a tangible token of tenancy.

MYSTERY OF A STATUE.

Do you see that statue, stranger—over there in Grant park—called the Seated Lincoln? It was the last work of a great American sculptor, Augustus St. Gaudens, who also did the more famous standing figure of the Emancipator in Lincoln park, and the equestrian memorial to Gen. John A. Logan, close to Michigan avenue. There is a strange story about this Seated Lincoln; an unsolved civic mystery.

Here is a piece of sculpture of which any American city might be proud; and yet Chicago kept it boxed up in storage for twenty years and placed it on view only under the compulsion of public opinion suddenly aroused by newspapers. For a generation it was a forgotten masterpiece. Why? The park commissioners and various boards of eminent cits never told, except by meeching alibis.

John Crerar gave the money for it in 1889. St. Gaudens completed the casting in 1906. A few years later it was exhibited for a while in the Art institute; in 1915 it was lent to the San Francisco fair. The rest of the time it was out of sight in a dismal tool shed in Washington park. Why?

In 1923 a vox-pop letter, published in the Chicago Evening Post, asked what had become of it. A newspaper man [the conductor of this column, to be exact] clipped the item and passed it to his city editor, with appropriate remarks. The resulting crusade was lively, and the dilatory cits had unconvincing explanations to offer. Difficulty in finding a site was their principal excuse. On May 31, 1926, the Seated Lincoln was finally unveiled.

Now walk around this statue, stranger, and study its inscriptions. You will observe that the names of the commissioners who accepted the gift appear, and that by the time it was dedicated they were all dead. You will note, furthermore, that the designer of the fine architectural setting is also named, and that he was Stanford White.

St. Gaudens' Seated Lincoln, with its pedestal design by Stanford White, was completed shortly before the architect was murdered by Harry Thaw because of a girl named Evelyn Nesbit. Thaw's trial was the greatest sensation and scandal of the period.

There may be a connection, stranger, between the murder and the statue. The eminent cits, chewing the sour cud of puritanism, may have turned thumbs down on Lincoln because of White's blemished morals. They were like that in those days.

A HEART FLIES SOUTH.

Now from the marshes the impatient cry
Of feathered troubadours madly flinging
A troubled symphony against the sky
Wakens my heart to a strange, wild singing;
And grey wings etched on the moon's deep fire
Make my docile spirit a willful thing
That fain must follow its gay desire
To fly with the birds in their winnowing.

Is my heart wrought of stranger things than clay
Which claims an ancient kinship with the earth
That every autumn finds it far away?
I cannot know—but yet I feel a dearth
Of tears when I would grieve the passing year,

Mutiny in a Skyscraper.

A male stenographer was employed by an oil firm on the fourteenth floor of a building on Wacker drive. In some manner he angered his superior, who proceeded to "dress him down." The young man, infuriated beyond discretion, strode to his desk beside a window, lifted his new typewriter as one would pick up a kitten by the nape of the neck, extended it out of the window, and let go. He then donned his hat and coat, walked out the door, and hasn't been seen since.

The typewriter plummeted to earth and landed in a parking lot adjoining the building. With an explosion it burst, scattering pieces of metal like a shrapnel shell, some of which penetrated the steel body of a parked car ten feet distant. Others were retrieved forty feet away. The resulting damage and charges totaled somewhere around $300.

MOTHER AND BABY DOING FINE.

WHEN the congratulations, handshakes, flowers, presents, and telegrams celebrating the advent of a new son or daughter have abated somewhat, it may dawn on the parents that a considerable responsibility is theirs. A tiny mite of humanity has entered the home and—for several months—must be the center and circumference of interest. Nature wisely has provided mother love which has intrigued poets, musicians, and writers from the beginning of time and this instinct will guard jealously the welfare of the newborn.

We must make certain that the mother's strength is not wasted, for every infant needs from five and a half to six hours of constant care in each twenty-four, which is primarily her obligation. But what about the mere male? Some facetious individual has remarked that after a careful investigation it was found that fond papas spend on the average eighteen minutes and thirty-six seconds per day with their offspring.

If the mother is nursing her progeny—and she should unless she is afflicted with some organic weakness such as tuberculosis, or is not a good "producer"—she must have ample rest as fatigue affects the output of the glands. Now the child has ways of protesting when he is deprived of adequate nourishment, and if he frets he is probably announcing his disapproval. This may establish a vicious cycle. There may be little sleep for any one, hence an increased weariness the day following and, in consequence, less milk.

All of that means the mother's constitution must be spared every possible strain, at least for the first four or five months, as this period is of paramount importance. If funds are low, perhaps father can be persuaded to stretch his eighteen minutes a little and increase his attention to the running of the household, for the wife and baby possess the right of eminent domain. If a healthy youngster is to develop, all other considerations must give way.

I know very well that there are scores of canned foods which are excellent, but I refuse to be convinced that the mammary glands would be provided unless they were to be used. Now, the fact of the matter is that breast milk is delicately adjusted to the requirements of the babe and those who are supplied with it thrive much better. Then, there are certain instances in which lacteal fluid from another source is quite unsuitable. No matter how carefully one may prepare artificial feedings, there always is some risk that bacteria may contaminate the mixture. Furthermore, there is no comparison in digestibility as that which is manufactured by the human depots is perfect in composition. It contains all the necessary vitamins and it transfers to the nursling many immune substances which protect him against contagion.

Even before the flow starts the babe should be put to the breast every four to six hours during the day with possibly one night nursing. If fluid appears within two or three days all is well, although we must realize that worry and loss of sleep or exhaustion from any source may delay it.

Only rarely will mother's milk disagree with the tot, although indigestion, anger, or nervous excitement on her part may prove deleterious. But it takes a good deal to change the character of the food which she produces and rather quickly a standard program will be adopted which will satisfy. In most instances the three hour schedule is desirable for the first six or eight weeks with only one feeding at night—that is, at approximately 2 a. m.

How long should a baby remain at the breast? Twenty minutes is considered sufficient. This is largely a matter of common sense and good judgment as occasionally the production rate may be slow. But the little rascal must be made to keep his mind on the job and neither dawdle nor slumber.

ACCURATE FIGURES LATER.

S. G. writes: I believe the statement appeared in a newspaper that 40 per cent of our entire population are afflicted with syphilis or gonorrhea or both at some time or other. Did such a statement appear? If this is not true, what is the correct percentage?

REPLY.

Maybe so. In the absence of accurate data various guesses have been made indicating that about one-tenth of our population have syphilis at some time. Partial but accurate surveys would indicate that communities vary from 2 to 6 per cent. This includes both diseases. Figures now being gathered by the United States public health service no doubt will be available within a year or two.

COLLAPSING DAMAGED LUNG.

Mrs. J. R. writes: I have heard that when one lung is seriously infected with tuberculosis the quickest and most advisable way to recover and at the same time save the other lung is to collapse the damaged one. What is your opinion?

REPLY.

Pneumothorax, if it can be satisfactorily carried out, unquestionably assists in arresting tuberculosis, as the tissue is given a chance to heal—the lung no longer being used. See the article which appeared in this column on July 21, 1938.

SIGN OF FATIGUE.

H. G. S. writes: Every time I stay out late my eyes become crossed at about midnight. What is the cause? Is there a cure for the cross-eyedness of late hours?

REPLY.

This is merely an evidence of fatigue of the muscles which control the eyeballs. Seeing double, however, may have other causes—alcohol, for example. With more rest the disturbance will probably vanish.

WHOOPING COUGH VACCINE.

Mrs. Z. writes: In a whooping cough epidemic, should children be inoculated against it, or is it enough to prevent contact with afflicted children?

REPLY.

In the presence of a whooping cough epidemic, no child should be exposed knowingly. Vaccines are of the greatest value, but approximately four months must elapse before protection is assured.

BETTER OIL SKIN.

M. K. writes: I had a bad sunburn this summer. This has cleared up, but the burned area itches terribly. What can be done?

REPLY.

A simple oiling of the skin or the application of calamine lotion may be of valus.

TAKE HIM OUT OF POLITICS.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 16.—I think that when a man of any political party is elected President he represents all the people, and it is inconsistent with this if he is permitted to remain the leader of any group less than the whole.

The President would do clearer thinking and there would be clearer politics if he were removed from such contacts, either by law or party mandate. The rule could well be applied to all government officeholders and I am sure would have the support of our citizens.

Won't you please give the idea enough publicity to get it before the people so we may have an expression of opinion?

THROWING MISSILES AT TRAINS.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Missiles have been thrown dangerously at the windows of the Illinois Central suburban trains during the rush hours, endangering the safety and lives of the passengers. A heavy spike struck a window the other night, throwing a shower of broken glass over the passengers in the nearby seat and even over me across the aile. The conductor said this was happening frequently near the 23d street viaduct.

Three young boys living near by were caught by Capt. Cartan's force, and according to the report just given me by Commissioner Allman, were sent to the Juvenile home and their parents were sent for. The parents agreed to watch the boys closely and see that no more violations of this kind were committed.

The public should know, I think, of the prompt and effective results the police secure when cases like this one mentioned above are reported to them.

A MODEL STREET SWEEPER.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—I'd like to shout a bit of praise to our one man street sweeping crew. He keeps the neighborhood around St. Louis avenue and Huron street cleaner than many abler men on that job would. He is lame and it makes it harder for him to get around. He wears snow white trousers, white cap, and yellow polo shirt; always neat and clean. If our street cleaning department had many more men like that I'm sure we could be proud to boast of it. Here's hoping this street sweeper reads this and knows we appreciate men like him in the 28th ward.

MAPS.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—A short editorial on maps in last Sunday's TRIBUNE brings out clearly the importance of maps in the study of the news events both foreign and domestic.

History is rather a hobby of mine and we must have a knowledge of geography to understand it clearly, and these small maps in THE TRIBUNE are such a help. And the large colored maps in its graphic section also make things clear. The W. G. N. continues to be my favorite newspaper. MRS. MARGARET M. WALTER.

PARKING ON THE SIDEWALK.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Will some one be kind enough to enlighten me as to why cars are allowed to park on the sidewalk at Harrison street and the Chicago river bridge? As I write this there are four parked on the walk at this location.

One man just now drove down the walk for a distance of one-half block and honked his horn for a pedestrian to get out of his way. R. E. MYERS.

FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Critics of Superintendent Johnson's change in the program of the first two years of high school don't realize that they are doing gross injustice to the children concerned in the change. For the last fifteen years or more the freshmen and sophomores in high schools have borne the heaviest program of the high school curriculum. In other words, the least mature students carried a load 25 per cent heavier than their schoolmates in the junior and senior classes.

Realizing the senselessness and the injustice of the system, Dr. Johnson with the consent of the North Central association reduced the program of the first two years to the level of the junior and senior years. The reduction in the number of subjects required for graduation from thirty-six to thirty-two has made possible the shortening of the school day. There is no longer any necessity for a twelve-period day. No child needs to stay in school till 5 o'clock. Dr. Johnson has given the little freshmen and sophomores time for relaxation and play.

THEY WENT TO THE MAYOS.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 16.—The article about the doctors in this morning's paper makes me wonder about socialized medicine and why this present administration wants it. Not long ago you published an article about the American Medical association and a clinic in Washington. If there are competent physicians and surgeons on the staf of this clinic why should James Roosevelt go to the world renowned Mayo clinic, or don't the President and his family have confidence in the clinic in Washington? What is good for one is good for all. Let the government leave the medical profession alone and we will be all the better for it. It is the greatest profession next to the ministry. MRS. A. V. C.

A TRIBUNE ADMIRER.

Lima, O., Sept. 16.—I have been a subscriber for THE TRIBUNE for a long while. I have it delivered seven days a week. If I had to choose between giving up our local paper and THE TRIBUNE, I would keep THE TRIBUNE. I especially enjoy reading the editorials, written in a fearless, clear cut manner. Your editorial entitled, "Pecora and Hines" is interesting and to the point. I concur in your verdict. More power to Mr. Dewey. He should be the ideal today for clean, young Americans. I am thoroughly sold on THE TRIBUNE.

WARNS OF MOBILIZATION ACTS.

Bunkers Cove, Panama City, Fla., Sept. 15.—I was glad to see in THE TRIBUNE the editorial entitled "The United States in This New War" and was pleased with the cartoon by Parrish entitled "Anything to Get His Hands on That Weapon."

It is evident you understand the sinister meaning of the war mobilization acts pending and ready to be pushed through congress in case of war.

The wording of the titles of these acts is so diabolically clever as to mislead any one who does not go far enough to discover their real significance. THE TRIBUNE could well devote a series of editorials to this subject. We need a Paul Revere to arouse the people. The time to do this is right now before the crisis arises, before war hysteria begins.

MORTGAGE INTEREST.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own a mortgage on a piece of property on the northwest side. One of the owners of the property is now dead and the will is to be put through Probate court. I have not seen the will nor do I know its contents, but the widower has come to me with quitclaim deed [1] asking me to sign same for the consideration of $10 to convey quitclaim interest in same to him.

2. I am one of the relatives but I do not know anything about the will except what the widower told me, and that is that it was made out in his favor.

3. What I really wish to know is if I sign this document would it jeopardize my interest in the property [4] especially in regard to the mortgage?

J. J.

1. A mortgage holder might execute a release, but he does not ordinarily execute a quitclaim. It is not clear to us whether you are misinformed as to what is being asked, or whether the transaction is irregular.

2. This may mean that you inherited an interest in the property. We would suggest that you insist on a complete disclosure of the nature of your interest before you sign anything.

3. Presumably the purpose of asking you to sign is in order that you may convey some interest in the property.

4. Clearly the mortgage should be expressly excepted if you do not intend to release it.

DIVA VAN GORDON SUES HUSBAND ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Accuses Him in List of Fistic Encounters.

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Cyrena Van Gordon, diva of the opera, started a suit for separation today against her husband of six years, Howard D. Smith, wealthy copper magnate, mining engineer, and banker.

In papers filed in Manhattan Supreme court the prima donna charged her husband with cruelty. She said he bopped her on the side of the head while she was dancing with a mutual friend at Central Park casino three months after they were married in 1932.

A month later she and her husband attended a concert at Carnegie hall. As the singer recalled it, Smith struck her and continued to beat her while she was prostrate in the aile. Friends came to her rescue, she said.

In December, 1936, she said, during a party in her apartment on Park avenue Smith went on a rampage, felling one guest with a blow.

"Then he took one of my fingers in his mouth and bit it," according to her suit. "Then the butler came in and Smith beat him up, too."

The diva topped her recital with the most recent incident, last June 15, when Smith decided to go back to the west coast. He gave her one parting sock and departed, she said. Smith is now in Los Angeles.

YOUNG ROBBER SLAIN IN LIQUOR STORE HOLDUP

Until last night Policeman Walter Valkenburg of the Englewood station, who has been on the police force two years, had never fired a shot at another man. But last night he shot at two bandits in the Economy Liquor store, 942 West 63d street. He killed one and wounded the other.

Valkenburg was on duty in the rear room of the liquor store to prevent holdups because the store had been robbed of $130 last Saturday. He was looking out from his hiding place when two men came in, hands in pockets.

They ordered John Lobick, 7022 South Maplewood avenue, and Isaac Levin, 4839 North Central Park avenue, clerks, into the rear room. Then Valkenburg went into action. He ordered the robbers to surrender, but they ran. He fired six shots. One man fell dead. The other staggered, but managed to escape with the aid of a third man waiting outside. The slain robber was about 32 years old.

Double Shooting Victim's Will Filed; Sons Get Farm

The will of Scott Le Voy, who was mysteriously shot to death in his farm home near Waukegan Sept. 13, was admitted to probate at Waukegan yesterday by Judge Martin C. Decker. It gives two-thirds of the property to his son, James, whose wife was also shot to death, and one-third to another son, John T. Le Voy of 534 South Cuyler avenue, Oak Park. The estate is principally the farm, valued at $6,000.

PARKING SPACE RENTERS NEAR N. U. GET A JOLT

Here's bad news for those residents in the neighborhood of Dyche stadium who find the Northwestern university home football season profitable. They will not be allowed to rent parking space to automobile owning football fans. For years many of the stadium neighborhood residents have been charging 25 and 50 cents for parking on their lawns and sidewalks.

Evanston officials found the practice expensive, for sidewalks were cracked and other city property damaged. Accordingly the Evanston city council last night passed a resolution, 14 to 1, barring the parking practice. The sole dissenter was Ald. Edward Kappelman, in whose ward the affected residents live.

QUERY BUSINESS MEN ON WIDENING OF CONGRESS ST.

Motor Club Asks Views of Nearby Merchants.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Chicago Motor club yesterday mailed questionnaires to 300 business men in the vicinity of Congress street asking their opinion of plans to open this street as a broad thoroughfare.

"The controversial opinions of engineers and the opinions of the organized promotors of this project are familiar to newspaper readers," said Charles M. Hayes, president of the motor club. "We want to learn the viewpoints of the corner merchant intimately acquainted with the problems of his immediate neighborhood.

Points Out Preferences.

"This club, representing automobile owners in all sections of Chicago and surrounding territory, is convinced that elevated highways are far superior to a parkway design in reducing accidents and relieving congestion. Our judgment will be influenced, however, by the interests of the neighborhood as reflected by answers to these questionnaires although we will not overlook the interests of Chicagoland as a whole."

"Arguments have been heard for and against this propect," reads a letter from Mr. Hayes accompanying the questionnaire. "Some say it would develop the neighborhood. Others say no, pointing to the failure of South Parkway to benefit real estate.

"Some say it would aid merchants of the neighborhood while others say that the proposed closing of 31 north and south streets at Congress would hurt neighborhood stores.

Call Attention to Cost.

"Some planners have favored spending $17,609,400 of public funds to buy land and buildings for a right of way in which to lay $6,694,600 worth of pavement in a broad Congress street. Others have felt that this $24,304,000 could be spent to better advantage on existing rights of way.

"There is no question but that the west side needs and is due a major improvement. Some believe Congress street is the only proposal worthy of consideration. Others have other plans.

"Through these letters, the Chicago Motor club hopes to learn what individual west side merchants are thinking. Will you help us?"

Offer Chance for Opinions.

The questions, while somewhat argumentative in phraseology offer ample opportunity for expression of opinions contrary to those held by the motor club. They read as follows:

1. I am [or am not] in favor of Congress street in preference to other proposals to improve west side trafic.

2. I do [or do not] believe the closing at Congress street of 31 north and south streets [detouring 72,483 vehicles and 45,658 pedestrians daily] would be detrimental to local retail business.

3. I do [or do not] believe the opening of Congress street to large volumes of trafic would develop adjacent real estate as was the case in the North Michigan avenue improvement.

I do [or do not] believe the opening of Congress street to large volumes of trafic would fail to enhance abutting realty, as was the case on South Parkway and Warren boulevard.

Ask About One Way Trafic.

4. In preference to Congress street, I do [or do not] favor a one-way trafic system, like the Warren-Washington system, from the loop to the city limits.

In preference to Congress street, I do [or do not] favor a west side elevated highway.

5. I do [or do not] favor spending $17,609,000 of public funds for Congress street real estate for a right of way in which to lay $6,694,000 worth of pavement in preference to spending $24,304,000 in improvements on existing rights of way.

6. I do [or do not] believe the Congress street parkway would reduce west side trafic accidents.

I do [or do not] believe the Congress street parkway would resemble the outer drives where there is one accident involving a death or personal injury to every 1,250,000 miles of travel.

I do [or do not] believe that the Congress street parkway would resemble South Parkway between 51st and 35th streets where there is one accident involving a death or personal injury to every 55,000 miles of travel.

Approved by Committee.

The accompanying diagram shows the 31 north and south streets that would be closed, the 20 that would be provided with grade separations, and the 12 that would cross at grade with stop and go lights. This is the plan approved in 1935 by a committee headed by Loran D. Gayton, city engineer.

This committee's report recommended the ultimate conversion of Congress street into an elevated highway but its immediate construction as a parkway to serve the south end of the loop while a west side elevated highway is built to connect with the north end of the loop.

West Side Plan

(Story in adjoining column.)

Plan for paving project to make Congress street a through street, with the disposition to be made of cross trafic.

U. S. TO CONSIDER CITY'S PLEA FOR FIXED BRIDGES

Permission to erect fixed bridges instead of movable bridges over the north branch of the Chicago river at Fullerton and Diversey avenues is sought by the city in a petition filed with the war department. Capt. S. N. Karrick, district army engineer, will conduct a hearing on the city's petition beginning this morning in the United States courthouse.

If permission is granted, the river north of Fullerton avenue will be closed to large vessels. The city's proposal is to substitute fixed bridges with a clearance of 21 feet.

The city informed the government that a survey of river commerce disclosed a gradual reduction in the number of vessels for which the bridges were opened. The average in 1936 and 1937 was 80 round trips by sandboats, 36 by pleasure craft, and two by construction ships.

According to the city's petition, a new movable bridge at Diversey avenue would cost $1,750,000 whereas a new fixed bridge would cost $765,000. At Fullerton avenue a new movable bridge would cost $1,150,000 and a fixed bridge only $500,000. Lower annual operating costs also were cited.

GO BACK TO '73 FOR COLDER SEPT. 19 THAN YESTERDAY

Yesterday was Chicago's coldest Sept. 19 since 1873. The minimum of 42 degrees was a single degree above the lowest temperature sixty-five years ago. There were showers during the day and a few flakes of snow were noted by residents of River Forest.

Because of the unseasonable chill, the board of education ordered that fires be started in all school buildings. Children who had been shivering at their desks were soon comfortable. Heat is usually turned on in the schools on Sept. 21. The county building also turned on the heat when court attachés and lawyers complained.

The rain increased the total since Sept. 1 to 5.06 inches, or 3.05 inches more than normal. Forecaster C. A. Donnel said that today would be cloudy and continued cool. Tomorrow, it is expected, will be fair and warmer.

STICKNEY CALLS MEETING TO CLOSE MARSH VILLAGE

Stickney township officials yesterday began action to force thirty families to abandon a year old community on low, marshy land near 71st street and Harlem avenue. The township board of health ruled that it constituted a serious health menace to the rest of the township.

Herbert R. Maid, president of the health board, said that the residents are either on relief or WPA workers. The lots, he said, were purchased for $25 and $50 and unsanitary dwellings erected.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY RIDING A BICYCLE KILLED BY AUTO

An automobile struck and killed a boy on a bicycle yesterday at 107th street and Kedzie avenue. The bike rider was John Deal, 15 years old, sophomore at the Morgan Park High school. His home was at 10821 Whipple street. Joseph Mayer, 33 years old, 3415 West 95th street, Evergreen Park, was the driver of the car.

Abel Hicks, 75 years old, 15337 Ashland avenue, Harvey, died in the Ingalls Memorial hospital yesterday of injuries incurred last Wednesday when he was struck near his home by a car driven by Victor Hoffman, 14712 Center avenue, Harvey.

John Labree, 38 years old, 208 North Le Claire avenue, a bricklayer, was critically injured last night when he was knocked down by one automobile and run over by another at Washington boulevard and Talman avenue. He suffered a skull fracture and is in the County hospital. Robert Stokes, 22, of 2650 Washington boulevard, was the driver of the first car. The driver of the second car did not stop.

Up until 4 p. m. yesterday 573 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 439 were killed in Chicago, where 13,998 were injured in the same period.

PLAN NEW COAST GUARD STATION OUTSIDE OF LOCK

Eventual construction of a new coast guard station at the end of Navy pier, for which plans have been approved, will make it unnecessary for coast guard vessels to go through the control lock at the mouth of the river. A rescue crew Sunday crashed into the east gate of the lock while hurrying to ten persons aboard a disabled cruiser.

Capt. J. L. Ahern, commander of the Chicago coast guard district, said yesterday that permits for the station have been received from the city, state, and the war department. The station will cost $500,000. The money is not available.

The sanitary district board yesterday was considering a proposal to leave the lock gates open until Jan. 1, when the control wall will be completed. Closing the gates serves only to give practice to lake captains and the lock operators.

Drivers in Austria Forced to Become Right Handed

VIENNA, Sept. 19.—(AP)—After more than a century of left handed traffic, the Vienna district at midnight switched to driving on the right to bring this last section of Austria into line with the road rules of the rest of Germany. Regular police and the Nazi motor corps kept a sharp watch on trafic, instructing drivers of automobiles and other vehicles when they made mistakes.

THE MASSACRE Chicago's 1938 Trafic Toll

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

Ex-Senator Brookhart May Run as Progressive

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Smith W. Brookhart, former Republican senator from Iowa, said today he was considering running for the senate in Iowa this fall on the Progressive ticket.

3 AUTOISTS GET 10 DAY TERMS AS DRUNK DRIVERS

Three motorists who were arrested for drunken driving were ordered yesterday to serve ten day sentences by Judge Stephen Adamowski in Safety court.

William Jones, colored, 506 East 33d place, was sentenced to the Bridewell and his right to drive was suspended until April 30, 1939. Joseph Ewing, colored, Harvey, was sent to the county jail and his right to drive was suspended until Dec. 31. George Pilzer, 4735 North Kedvale avenue, was sent to the Bridewell. He was ordered not to drive until April 30, 1939.

2 Assistant U. S. District Attorneys Get New Tasks

Assistant United States District Attorneys Roy D. Keehn Jr. and Daniel D. Glasser were assigned yesterday to take up the duties of Former Assistant United States Attorney Thomas B. Hart, who resigned recently to become litigation attorney for the federal Securities and Exchange commission. They will handle bankruptcy prosecutions together and Glasser will handle liquor cases, according to United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe.

Economic Problem No. 1 for Advertisers Selling the Southeast

Average income per family in the Southeast is low because such figures include the negro families, one-third of the total. 94% of the negro families have an admittedly low income. When the proper adjustment is made for this group and tenant class farmers, average income per white family (including about 6% negro families) will be found to compare favorably with average income per family in any other section of the country.

19 MARKET AREAS PRODUCE 75% RETAIL SALES

The only true way to analyze the Southeast as a market for your product is to forget average statistics per family—eliminate low income groups, such as a large percentage of the negro population, and the tenant farm class, and concentrate your sales in those markets where purchasing power per white family is greater than the National average per family.

These 19 markets, together with their trading areas constitute one of the richest sales opportunities in the Nation. In these market areas is concentrated 75% of the total retail sales for the Southeastern territory. Any National sales map will disclose that business is relatively better in these market areas than most other sections of the country.

These are the markets where the wealth and buying power of the Southeast are concentrated. These are the easy-to-reach markets, economically and dominantly covered by the daily newspaper list herewith. These leading daily newspapers cover 3½ out of every 5 able-to-buy families. In these 19 market areas no other form of media carries your message into the homes of so many families with money to spend at the low cost offered by these leading daily newspapers.

A Better Way to Treat Constipation!

When you're constipated, it's a great temptation to be satisfied with quick relief. But medicines may become a habit. And they don't keep constipation from returning. It's so much better to get at the cause of the trouble!

If you eat what most people do, chances are the only thing the matter is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

What to do? Eat Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. This crunchy cereal contains both "bulk" and the intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1. And it's not a drug, not a medicine! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by grocers. Served by restaurants.

REPULSE BLACK INVADERS; SAVE U. S. GOLD HOARD

Blue Forces Prepare to Envelop Enemy.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Knox, Ky., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum's Second field army, the Blues, met serious reverses for a time today in its defense of the nation's gold hoard, stored here, and the industrial Ohio valley, but rallied late in the day to repulse the Black invaders. So successful were operations of the Blue forces that the enemy was driven back several miles and Blue forces gained a position that will permit the start of an enveloping movement.

This war, of course, is being fought with paper—military orders and maps. The purpose of the activity, known as a command post exercise, is to give field training to 500 regular, National Guard, and Organized Reserve officers of the fifth and sixth corps areas.

Controled by Umpires.

Field army, corps and division headquarters are set up as in actual combat. Telephone and telegraph lines are used and for the first time the army is experimenting with facsimile transmission of maps and sketches by field wires. Problems given to the corps and division commanders for solution are controled by a staf of regular army umpires. Success or failure of operations are shown by umpires' decisions of the effectiveness of combat orders issued by the Blue commanders. The Black forces are imaginary.

Division commanders receive regular military information from the umpires which is supposed to come from outposts and patrols and frequently from aerial observers who are assisting in the training. The only troops used are service troops, including those who set up phone and telegraph lines, carry messages and drive the cars needed by officers in their movement about the war zone.

Serving under Gen. Drum, the army commander, are Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, Illinois National Guard, as commander of the 6th corps, and Maj. Gen. Robert H. Tyndall, Indiana National Guard, commander of the 5th corps.

Commanded by Hammond.

Gen. Keehn's 6th corps consists of the 33d division [Ill. N. G.], commanded by Brig. Gen. T. C. Hammond of Harvey, Ill.; 32d division [Wis. and Mich. N. G.], commanded by Brig. Gen. I. A. Fish of Milwaukee, and the 6th division [U. S. reg.], commanded by Brig. Gen. Karl Truesdell of Fort Sheridan, Ill.

The 5th corps is made up of the 5th division [U. S. reg.], under Col. E. A. Fry of Columbus, O.; 37th division [Ohio N. G.], under Maj. Gen. Gilson D. Light, Toledo, O., and the 38th division [Ky., Ind., and W. Va. N. G.], under Maj. Gen. E. W. Carter of Louisville, Ky.

Units not attached to divisions but operating under army or corps command include the 2d [U. S. reg.] cavalry, Col. C. L. Scott, Fort Knox; 7th cavalry brigade, mechanized, Col. A. R. Chaffee, Fort Knox; 3d composite wing, GHQ air force, 53d cavalry brigade [Ill., Wis., and Mich. N. G.], Col. H. T. Weber, Royal Oak, Mich., and the 54th cavalry brigade, Brig. Gen. N. C. Bolton, Cleveland, O.

Deployed on 12 Mile Front.

Dawn today found the Blue army deployed along a twelve mile front extending from Cecelia northeast to Elizabethtown and thence southeast for several miles. Both flanks of the Blues were protected by cavalry units. Gen. Keehn's 6th corps held the line from Elizabethtown southeast. Gen. Tyndall's forces operated between Cecilia and Elizabethtown.

A late morning thrust by the Black forces resulted in the capture of Elizabethtown, while to the east Blue mechanized cavalry successfully fought off Black mechanized cavalry and forced its retirement from the field.

In the afternoon Blue forces rallied north of Elizabethtown and the last troops were brought in from a concentration point northwest of Elizabethtown. A counterattack was carried out with success, Elizabethtown was retaken, and the Black forces pushed back for several miles all along the line.

Plan to Circle Black Flank.

Success of the afternoon operation allowed the 5th corps to push west and south of Cecelia. Mechanized Blue cavalry released from the eastern sector was rushed across the west flank and moved into a position where at dawn tomorrow a move may be started to circle the west flank of the Black forces and destroy them.

When the action was stopped tonight the 33d division held the heights commanding Elizabethtown. The 32d division was next in line to the east and the 6th regulars were on the eastern flank protected by cavalry.

The 38th division joined the 33d on the west and had the 37th on its right, while the 5th held the extreme west line. The mechanized cavalry was in concealment south and west of the main battle line and a cavalry brigade protected the flank far to the west.

These positions will be held by the various units through the night and tomorrow morning new tecdical problems will bring new operations for the various commands.

Military Maneuvers

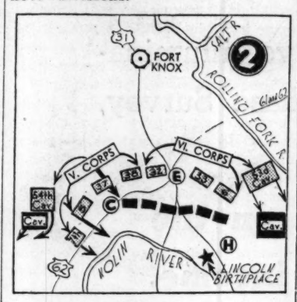
The military situation in Kentucky yesterday morning when officers participated in imaginary battle. Blue defending forces moved east and south in front of the Black invaders, on a line from Cecelia (C) past Elizabethtown (E). During the morning Black forces captured E. Numbers in squares denote divisions.



The positions at the close of the day's fighting. Blue forces rallied and counterattacked, driving the Blacks south of Elizabethtown (E) and pushing west of Cecelia (C). The Seventh mechanized cavalry moved from the east flank to the west to prepare for an encircling movement, while the Fifty-third cavalry fought the Black cavalry in a thrust toward Hodgenville (H).

2 WOMEN HELD FOR INQUIRY INTO MURDER MYSTERY

Investigation Revealed in Pleas for Release.

Two attractive sisters-in-law, Mrs. Frances Genovese and Mrs. Nellie Genovese, appeared yesterday before Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court. They were there on a writ of habeas corpus. Their lawyer said they had been arrested Saturday and were being held illegally by police. He demanded they be freed.

Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan and First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley opposed the demand. Sullivan testified the women had been seized in an apartment in the Rienzi hotel, 600 Diversey parkway. Their detention was necessary, he added.

"We are holding them," he said, "during an investigation in a series of robberies and an important murder."

Neither Sullivan nor Crowley would say what murder, but on Sullivan's statement Chief Justice McKinley ordered the women held another day.

Crowley and Sullivan, it was learned last night, are working diligently in an attempt to solve the slaying of Albert J. Prignano, state representative of the 17th senatorial district and Democratic committeeman of the "Bloody" 20th ward. He was assassinated Dec. 29, 1935, in front of his home at 722 Bunker street.

The murder, inferentially blamed on the Nitti dominated remnants of the old Capone gang, has been a complete mystery from the first.

Henry Zelanowski was arrested by police of Springfield last Friday and brought to Chicago by Sergt. John Hanrahan of the detective bureau. It was reported last night that Zelanowski is involved in the current investigation.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

The answer to this question—complete, authoritative, illuminating—leaps from the pages of the Consumer Purchase Survey, just completed by the Department of Labor:

This chart points out a basic reason for The Times tremendous advertising productivity in the New York market. It corroborates also what The Times market research department finds from close and constant contact with retail outlets in the market. The Times large volume of circulation is chiefly concentrated in the active-buying half of the market—the half that builds volume and bigger profits. ONE of Hitler's advisers at the historic meeting with Chamberlain at Berchtesgaden was Baron Alexander von Dornberg, according to THE TRIBUNE. No one was more astonished to read of Von Dornberg's activities than William C. Parke, one of the younger officers of the Continental Illinois bank. Thirteen years ago the red haired six foot German from Darmstadt and Parke were fellow apprentices in the leading export-import banking house of Hamburg and lunched together every day. Now Von Dornberg is chief of protocol of the German foreign office and advises der Reichsfuehrer.

ATTENTION, ornithologists. Employés of a coal company with offices on the twentieth floor of the Continental Illinois Bank building have the bird book out to identify the migratory birds that light on the building fire escapes. Some of them appear to belong to the wild canary family, although from the descriptions in the book they might be flycatchers, warblers, or vireos. Wrens, a beautiful black and orange fellow they believe is a red start, and one they have identified as the peabody bird, are among the visitors. Also a killer, the sparrow hawk. THE budget of a pair of Saddle and Cycle club members, husband and wife, who bet on their tennis and bridge games with one another, will not stretch for cash payments, so they have instituted a system of bisques. The loser must perform a commanded service for the winner for each bisque, walk the dog, subordinate his choice of movie, or make payment in similar fashion. Place a slice of ham in a baking dish. Cover with a layer of green peas to which clings the water in which they have been washed. Toss in a wedge of butter, a squeeze of lemon, salt, pepper, and a suspicion of onion.

Name Leaders for St. Luke's Fashion Show

BY JUDITH CASS.

MRS. HUNTINGTON B. HENRY talked herself into a job yesterday at the first fall meeting of the St. Luke's fashion show committee. After she had described something she and Mr. Henry had seen on their summer European trip she unanimously was elected chairman of the special feature committee for the show.

What it was she described no one who was at the meeting will tell yet, for until they are sure the details can be worked out the committee members do not want to divulge what their special feature this year is to be.

Whatever the feature, however, the show, to be held on Oct. 18 at the Stevens hotel, is cetain to be as great a success as the annual St. Luke's show always is, for the same capable women who have been handling it for the last eleven years are planning this year's. This means that the show will run smoothly and professionally, with nary a halt nor a hitch to make the audience realize that amateurs are behind the scenes, in fact, responsible for the entire show. A woman in the professional fashion field told me recently that the St. Luke's show is known all over the world where fashion shows are given, in New York, London, and Paris, and that no other show in the world compares with it.

Meeting Is Held at Thorne Home.

Yesterday's meeting was held at Mrs. Robert J. Thorne's beautiful home, White Oaks, in Lake Forest. Almost every member of the large and active woman's board of St. Luke's hospital was there, most of them just back from vacations, and many of them busy just now getting children off to school. Mrs. John W. Cary, president of the board, again is to be chairman and treasurer of the show committee. Mrs. Walter B. Wolf again will be in charge of the fashion revue and Mrs. John L. Cochran will plan the stage decorations.

Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, chairman of the properties committee, will have working with her Mrs. Allyn D. Warren, Mrs. Gordon Lang, Mrs. Harold Eldridge, and Miss Margaret Hixon. Mrs. Robert Thorne is chairman of the exhibitors and Mrs. Harold C. Smith heads the models committee. Her co-workers are Mrs. John A. Chapman, Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., Mrs. Morrison Waud, and Mrs. W. Irving Osborne Jr.

Mrs. Hixon, Mrs. Thorne, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Chapman, and Mrs. Gary will be hostesses at a tea to be given next Monday at 4 o'clock at the Casino for the 24 debutantes who are not going away to school, so will be here to act as models or cigaret or flower girls at the show.

Mrs. Reed Directs Sale of Tickets.

Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed is directing the sale of tickets and Mrs. Charles F. Glore and the two Mrs. A. Watson Armours are in charge of boxes. Mrs. John C. Pitcher, assisted by Mrs. Walter F. McLallen III., are "doing" publicity, and Mrs. Robert M. Adams is program chairman. Miss Harriet Borland and Mrs. Walter Byron Smith are planning tea and dinner; Mrs. Grant H. Laing and Mrs. Selim W. McArthur will be in charge of the flowers and cigaret girls, and Mrs. Louis C. Sudler and Mrs. Press Hodgkins are bar chairmen.

The show, as usual, will be in the afternoon and again in the evening. Strolling musicians will furnish entertainment in the bar, where numerous cocktail parties are to be given

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

There's one preparation that is simply made to order for this season's fashions in faces. It's a toning lotion, foundation and powder all in one that gives a finish to the complexion that Cleopatra would envy if she were around these days. It's best described as a dull-tone lotion and is a sophisticated complexion makeup in itself. What's more it stays on for hours. You don't need to use face powder with it unless you really want to.

Some of the smartest women in town, with skin more oily than dry, don't use powder over it. They like the velvety-filmed effect, accented with warm shades of rouge and lipstick. This comes in a family of shades that can be tuned to the natural skin tone.

This is simple to use. In the bottle it will remind you of a rather heavy liquid powder, but the only true point of resemblance to the usual run of those is that this, too, has to be shaken well before using.

The face must be thoroughly cleansed first. Then you pat on the liquid, with the finger tips, and let it dry. Pat it on generously and dust off the surplus. You're all set, with no smudge or shine on your nose. There is something about this lotion that gives a warm, rich tone to the skin that we find especially flattering.

If the skin is extremely dry the lotion can be expertly blended with a bit of cream to make a base for powder. But for women with normal or oily skin it can be used as is. The effect is marvelous.

Women with oily skin always have a makeup problem. This lotion, which has three tricks up its sleeves, may be the solution of yours.

Dancing? That the film hath not.
Otherwise, this Marx Bros. movie
Stacks up as par-cel and lot—

Of the rank and file of Marx Bros. extravaganzas.

"Room Service," adapted from the successful stage play, has locales in a New York hotel, where an out of funds shoestring theatrical producer, brother-in-law of the harried inn manager, and some twenty-two members of his unpaid cast have managed to house themselves for about six months, stilling demands for rent with fair promises of a soon to appear "angel."

Comes the hotel chain's combination efficiency man, book balancer, and eye that never sleeps to raise Cain. . . .

Groucho, Harpo and Chico fix things in characteristic fashion.

The three have an excellent supporting cast, direction was snappy and several unique situations provided laughter aplenty for the audience who watched the picture with me.

See you tomorrow.

Behind the Scenes

[Written in Chicago.]

A bunch of the boys were whooping it up at Chicago's famous Chez Paree. Unlike the bunch of boys in the fabled Malamute saloon, these were distinguished celebs—Wallace Beery, Benny Rubin, Benny Fields, Fernand Gravet, Abe Lyman, Harry Richman. They were talking about actors in general; in particular they were commenting on actors who refused to work unless they got a certain salary.

Joe Frisco, for instance, who held out for a flat $1,000 a week. Theater bookers offered him $900, but Frisco said no. Conditions got worse in vaudeville and they offered him $800. Frisco said no. He said no for three years, and by that time vaudeville gave one last shuddering breath and no more offers were extended or rejected.

"That's the trouble with you performers," said Joey Jacobson. "Very few of you are business men. A business man will take the best offer he can get; he'll settle bad debts for 10 cents on the dollar. Actors are all temperament; they forget that this is a business, too. They must get a certain salary; their name must be advertised in certain size type. It's a funny setup."

"You're right," said Benny Rubin. "I'm thinking of an actor who played on the bill with us at Pittsburgh. He was a big, handsome Irish guy and he was doing a single. He was getting $300 a week, and after he paid his agent's commission and the kick-back, his net salary was $235 a week. Then he met a girl who was a headliner and they went together for a couple of weeks, and she liked him and one night, when they were night clubbing, she said: 'You ought to be getting $750 a week.' She didn't know that in that one sentence she had written his death sentence."

Rubin paused and lighted a cigaret. "From then on the idea of $750 a week became an obsession with this fellow. I ran into him in various theaters—Omaha, Kansas City, Philadelphia, Denver—and when you'd ask him how he was doing with his act, he'd say: 'Swell. The audiences love it. After all, they should, Benny—I'm a $750 act.' He was like a golfer who shoots 86's, but always believes that his real game is geared to a 75. The girl had put that $750 rating in his mind, and he never got over it.

"Then his mind took another slant. To support the illusion in his own mind and to bolster up his vanity, the minute he'd arrive in town, he'd get hold of a printer and have 24 sheets printed, with his name in huge letters and with the name of the theater. He'd hire a man to go around and paste up these 24 sheets and he'd take people past them so that they could see his billing. He was never a headliner, never got more than $350 a week, but in his mind, you see, he WAS a headliner and these 24 sheets gave him the assurance he needed.

"Then he thought out a new stunt. He got little stickers printed, about the size of a silver dollar, with his name on them. In restaurants, when the waitress or waiter left the table, he'd whip out one of these little stickers, lick it quickly, and stick it on the menu. In railroad stations, in telephone booths, inside taxicabs, he'd paste up his stickers. It was really tragic; a fellow trying to prove to himself that he was a big-timer by giving himself the billing that he could never win. But the little stickers almost got him killed.

"In Chicago one of the bigger mobsters [it was during the prohibition days], invited all of us on the bill out to his house for spaghetti. It was a magnificent home, and he was very proud of it. Late in the night the host called me aside: 'If I didn't like you, Benny,' he told me, 'I'd kill that big guy who came out here with you. Do you know what he did to me? Look——'. He showed me the bathroom, all done in Nile green. The walls of the bathroom were covered with the little stickers. So I got him out of there quick.

"Then vaudeville went boom, and we all drifted out of it, and I lost track of him. A few weeks ago I was over at RKO visiting my brother Eddie on the Cary Grant set. They were doing a big scene with a lot of extras, and there as an extra was my friend of the little stickers. To save him embarrassment I ducked behind young Doug Fairbanks and George Stevens and exited from the set. My brother followed me outside and asked me what was the matter and I told him that one of the extras used to be a vaudeville act and explained that I didn't want to embarrass him. 'He's very happy,' said my brother. 'He works regularly; say it isn't bad every day to get $7.50.'

"On the way out I ran into him going into the commissary. He gave me a big hello. So we talked there for a couple of minutes. He didn't know I'd been on the Cary Grant set, or had seen him with the extras. I asked him, a bit awkwardly, how he was doing. 'Marvellous, Benny.' he said. 'I'm sorry that I didn't get into this picture business years ago. It's right up my alley. They're going to make me a big star. Right now, of course, I'm not in the four figure class. You know, it's funny. I'm still getting my old vaudeville salary—seven-five-O, Benny, seven-five-O.'"

Soap and Cold Water Assist Coarse Pores

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Probably next to the acne victims we hear more cries of distress from girls and women whose skin show enlarged pores.

We have gone into the study of this particular problem pretty thoroughly. We have talked to medical authorities and read their treatises on the subject. The opinion seems to be that enlarged pores, like coarse hair, big bones, etc. are hereditary. Some folks are born with fine skin, others with coarse. But we have never talked to or been advised by dermatologists, but cleanliness has been emphasized as the means to beauty for this type of skin. Cleanliness and cold water. Cold water as the perfect astringent is invariably included in the advice.

What makes this particular skin blemish the worry it is, is that the pores are susceptible to becoming blocked when the oil secretions of the glands cannot get out. The oily material hardens and the pores gradually enlarge. This is the type of sufferer most often heard from, of course. The clean skin of naturally coarse texture may not be a great asset, but it is not the liability it is sometimes accused of being. It is the other type of coarse skin that becomes the liability and worse—a potential developer of real acne trouble. Add dirt, oil, grime to that oil embedded in the large pores and you have blackheads, which are the basis of ninety per cent of our acne troubles. The blackheads become infested. They fester and then there is a world of trouble.

So the routine for enlarged pores is to keep the skin especially meticulously clean. Not just clean but clean. Wash with good soap and water twice a day—not once, for this type skin is usually oily. This is vital because dirt and oil accumulate in the enlarged pores and dead cells tend to pile up on this type of skin.

Short Skirts Put Emphasis on Hose Shade

BY RHEA SEEGER.

With the daytime clothes cut with shorter skirts, hosiery plays a more important style function. Long, slenderizing lines are achieved with lacy clox at the sides. Black heels also slice the inches off otherwise too thick ankles. And the selection of the right hosiery shade becomes more important with the change in skirt length.

One new shade equal to any occasion is called coquette. It's one of those obliging shades that goes out with black, brown, green, beige, wine red, and all the new green colors. It shimmers and glows effectively with all of them. And it slenderizes the ankles and the rest of the leg in no uncertain flattery. Destined for a record breaking popularity, coquette fulfills all desires for a good mixture of beige, taupe, and sun tan, with a fine fall glow.

Besides all this you can buy coquette in service weights and in the thinnest and sheerest of one thread hose for evening wear.

Another new color is called wine crush, a vintage tone to wear with all the high fashion wine tones. This shade has a definite wine red cast. It is an unusual color and looks a trifle on the dark side until it goes over flesh, then it glows most alluringly.

A pre-run idea is a new trick . . . see the rib row black heeled stockings just unpacked. The sooty black heels not only flatter but do even a better slenderizing stunt with vertical rows of drop stitch in the filmy black heel. These new heels come in the coquette shade and also in the wine crush. These hose are good finds because of the good price marks on the shades that go well with the new clothes.

A Door Closed Softly

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright, 1938, By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, accompanies his cousin, Alison, to a party at Lady Wibbe's. David's thoughts are mostly concerned about Betsy, his former love, now living in England, though he knows not where. By accident the two stumble into the wrong house. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman, who receives them, they hear a woman scream.

INSTALMENT II.

A HOUSE OF MYSTERY.

The sound seemed chopped in two—just as though a hand had clamped down suddenly over the shrieker's mouth. While the echoes still lingered those below heard quick, striding footsteps followed by the soft closing of a door.

Had there been a light thud, just before, the sound of some one's body struck to the floor?

The thing could not be ignored. David, muffler in hand, wheeled brusquely round, gaze glued to the stair. Alison also turned, involuntarily, and in doing so caught the odd expression in the ill matched eyes beside her. It was a panic stricken gleam—and the face had grown a pastier white. Quickly the woman gave a gulp and began giggling again.

"We—we have a parrot," she remarked flatly. "Rather noisy at times . . . O, not at all! Goo—good night. . . ."

Almost pushed down the shallow step—and the door banged behind them! In the sudden dense darkness they stumbled, groping their way past the sodden shrubbery to the gate. There with one accord they paused!

"Was that a parrot?" whispered Alison, laughing shakily.

"Was it" she urged. "I could certainly have sworn——"

"Hush!"

He was listening. It might have been a sob which had reached them, but nothing more. From top to bottom the whole house lay in tomblike silence. A car passed—then another. Crunching into the drive next door. The dazzling head lamps had a steadying effect.

"Possibly," argued Alison. "Parrots can sound awfully human at times. Only—did you see her face when it happened? And the way she fell over herself getting us out?" As the thought of the past ten minutes swept over her she shivered.

"To think I could have been such an incredible fool!" she upbraided herself. "And now just supposing . . ."

"Supposing what?"

"Well, that something is wrong. Something that's got to be kept quiet?"

She could not make David out. After standing there as though half a mind to ring again he jerked an abrupt, "Come on," and showed no inclination for further discussion.

"O, well, it's nothing to do with us, I suppose. You're right, let's get along to our party."

This time warmth and bright lights greeted them. Nothing dubious about the butler on the threshold, and Alison, met by a beaming parlor maid in crisp ecru cap, soon found herself before Cynthia Wibbe's empire mirror taking stock of her appearance.

Though sturdily built, Alison had hips narrow enough to stand gathers. The full, leg o' mutton sleeves sat well on her boyish shoulders, while the maroon of the velvet toned in pleasantly with her bloomy, permanent tan, her clear hazel eyes, and the hair whose chestnut still retained a tinge of gilding left over from summer sun bleach.

This hair, worn short, stood like her face entirely on its own merits. The kinked wave being natural, she merely plied a brush till it shone.

Downstairs she mingled with a large, happily buzzing throng. Mostly strangers, but here surged her hostess, clamorous with hospitality. Alison fell on her, eager to pour out her adventure.

"O, Lady Wibbe, imagine my making such a blunder! We went in, sat for ages sparring at cross purposes. . . . I simply must tell you——"

"Do! Are you quite frozen? Come to the fire—but first let me introduce you to just a few people. My husband you've met, I think? Francis!" Arm linked through her guest's, the authoress bore down firmly on a small, vague individual at this moment conversing with a bearded giant.

"Look after Miss Young, won't you? She's had a frantic time locating us. Prof. Jorrocks, Miss Young of Boxall's. Mme. Sorapine, Mr. Gwinn—yes, it's Charlie Gwinn, of course, and . . . O, Nigel, so you've come!" She jingled off to do duty in a new quarter.

"Bewildering place, Hamstead," murmured Sir Francis simply. "Let me get you a drink to thaw you. Hot punch or sherry?"

Alison's story—such a good story, too!—seemed unlikely to be recounted. No one wanted to listen, and after giving a bored ear to the professor's long winded recital of going astray in the Glasgow slums she took her drink to the fireplace. David had preceded her, and lonely and taciturn was worming his back before the blazing logs.

"Smoke?" said he, handing her a cigaret.

Moodily mechanical he struck a match—and as Alison took her first puff she saw the small daughter of the house edging fascinatedly toward them. Brave in blue taffeta, she had her father's meagerness and her mother's determined black eyes. Her manner meant business.

"Tell me," she begged, making a bee line for the point, "was it the awful house next door you got into? And you actually spoke to the people? O, what are they like?"

Alison rejoiced to find the Wibbe child, bless her, giving a gloating attention.

"Crickets, what a swiz!" Cynthia Wibbe's daughter sprang into air with a rapturous click of flat silver heels. Swooping down on her mother, just passing, she shouted without preamble: "Mums, do listen! Now, Miss Young, let's have it again from the beginning—and don't leave out the parrot. That's the juciest part!"

"Parrot?" echoed the authoress, good humored but vague. "Who's got one? Beastly birds! Not near us, I hope."

"It's what we want to know," said Alison dryly. "Have your next door neighbors got a parrot?"

"Next door? Must be a new acquisition. It's the old Grimes place, of course, but——"

"Mummy, you know there's no parrot!" Outraged by this bland fatuity, the daughter shook her mother till she tinkled. "Even a dumb parrot we'd have seen on one of these balconies. You've got to listen! There was this blood curdling scream, and the creature who sneaks out with a market bag simply invented the parrot to account for it. O, didn't I tell you what I thought about the woman who's shut up? If you won't ring up Scotland Yard, then I will!"

Cynthia Wibbe caroled gaily. Penelope, she remarked, was destined to make a fortune writing thrillers.

"So useful! And now, if you'll forgive me rushing off——"

"O, beast, you would! Can't you understand it's serious?"

"Hush, Pen! Have you forgotten why you're allowed up this evening? Fortune teller, you know." Lady Wibbe explained that she had been lucky enough to get hold of quite a clever woman, and as an especial treat the younger generation was to have first go at her. "She's waiting now in Daddy's study all ready to begin. Mr. Beddoes, will you go in now?"

"Come in!"

The old woman, seated behind a green card table with a background of dusky legal tomes and a cone of light raying down on her, looked commonplace and grandmotherly, with her gray lace gown and her silvery, waved hair. She was shuffling a pack of playing cards between plump fingers, and it was the astonishing dexterity of the movement coupled with a crisp note in her voice which gave the lie to her age.

"Now, then!" She shoved the pack toward David. "Will you give these a thorough mix and cut them, from you, in three piles?"

David obeyed, aware of a close scrutiny from somewhat remarkable eyes—slate gray, watchful, underhooded, wrinkled lids.

Gift Is Good Decoy to Win Girl's Heart

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Not all young men all of the time worry about the kind of present to send a girl. But some young men some of the time would like to know how to go about making a deeper dent in a girl's affection via the gift route. Not a bad route to take, either, especially these days when so many young men feel they've done enough for the girl merely being on hand with clean collar and shoes shined.

But we'll let you young men hear from one of your own sex. On the subject of gifting your girl, says Norton Hughes Johnathan in his clever guide for young men, "Gentlemen Aren't Sissies" [Winston]:

"If you're anxious to make a big hit with a very special young lady, your florist can help you do the trick. The woman who runs the gift shop can help, and the candy shop clerks will do their part."

Florists are friendly and sympathetic toward love-bitten young men. They see plenty of them and are expert at selecting inexpensive blossoms.

Being original about the gift adds interest, as if the girl were 18, say, send her eighteen roses with card inclosed reading something like "a rose for each year that went by before I was lucky enough to meet you."

"Sending flowers or little presents at unexpected moments is a clever detail of sophistication," Johnathan adds. "But for perfect effectiveness, time them. Send them at unexpected moments rather than on the obvious occasion."

General suggestions offered by our authority as safe are: "First, never send a girl an article of wearing apparel, even if you're engaged to her. It's poor taste.

"Second, never send a gift so expensive or elaborate that it creates a feeling of obligation on the girl's part.

"Third, try to use originality when selecting the gift.

"Fourth, present it at what seems on oportune moment.

"Whatever you do, don't dump a gift in a girl's lap in the middle of a squabble. Instead of soothing matters, it will have the opposite effect.

"Girls love anything which represents an unusual attention. It may be flowers. It may be a telegram. It may be a special delivery letter or a long distance telephone call.

"It may be merely your school paper, with the best jokes marked. A girl enjoys being able to point with pride to the things a man does, so that her friends will say enviously: 'He must be a darling!'"

White sauce is a pretty fundamental piece of cookery. The woman who knows how to make a good white sauce has learned the secret of creamed dishes, souffles, cutlets, croquettes, and many other foods which include this most favored of all sauces somewhere in their makeup.

White sauces are known as thin, medium, and thick, depending upon the amount of flour used in proportion to the liquid ingredient. A thin white sauce makes most cream soups; a medium white sauce is used for creamed vegetables, meats and fish, and as a base for many other sauces and a thick white sauce is mixed with chopped or ground meats or vegetables for cutlets and croquettes, or is blended with eggs and baked as a souffé.

Thin White Sauce.
[For cream soups.]
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
¼ to ½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk

Medium White Sauce.
[For creamed foods.]
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
¼ to ½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk

Thick White Sauce.
[For croquettes, souffles.]
3 to 4 tablespoons butter
3 to 4 tablespoons flour.
¼ to ½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk.

METHOD: Melt butter in saucepan or in the top of a double boiler. [The double boiler is useful in keeping a sauce smooth if it has to stand after it has been made.] Blend in flour and seasoning. Add the milk, a little at a time, and stir to keep smooth, while cooking over low heat. Stir constantly until the sauce is thickened and smooth. Use a dover beater if there are lumps, but there won't be any if this method is carefully followed.

VARIATIONS OF MEDIUM WHITE SAUCE.

CHEESE SAUCE: Add ¼ to ¾ cup grated American or pimiento cheese to the recipe for medium white sauce, with a few drops of Worcestershire sauce, if desired. Stir until cheese is melted and serve at once over potatoes or vegetable dishes, macaroni or eggs.

GOLDEN SAUCE: Stir in the yolks of two eggs when the sauce is ready to serve. This sauce is especially good with asparagus, peas, and other green vegetables.

MEAT SAUCE: Add ¼ cup catsup or chili sauce to the finished white sauce.

MEXICAN SAUCE: Add 2 sieved pimientos and 2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper to the white sauce. Serve with meats, such as sliced cold roast beef.

HORSERADISH SAUCE: Add ¼ cup horseradish and ¼ teaspoon dry mustard to the white sauce recipe, and serve with ham or corned beef.

SHRIMP SAUCE: Add ½ cup finely broken shrimp, a few drops of lemon juice, and 1 tablespoon minced parsley. Serve with omelets or fish.

There are hundreds of other simple variations, each of which may produce an entirely different sauce. Add curry powder to make a sauce for shrimp, for example: Add prepared mustard to make one for corned beef hash; or add chopped hard cooked eggs to give a topping for salmon loaf or patties.

Sheffers Does Landscapes in Pleasant Vein

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts is sponsoring the exhibition of paintings by P. Winthrop Sheffers in the west mezzanine gallery, Drake hotel. The paintings are chiefly landscapes with a sprinkling of marines. Summer prevails and sunny skies abound.

There is a touch of stiffness about certain of the compositions which detracts from their naturalness, but if you are eager to see pleasant pictures, a variety is offered you here.

Mr. Sheffers comes to Chicago from a long stay in the west and a shorter stay in Detroit. He studied in Berlin and the German training is evident in his work. There is that trim, precise, metallic feel to many of his paintings that one finds in the German landscape of twenty years ago.

The few landscapes which are warmer in feeling and more pliantly compiled, such as "Lengthening Shadows" and "Stormy Skies," make one wish the artist would disregard those precepts upon which he has been nurtured and let himself in for a good, serious attack of Inness' impressionism.

At the Tudor gallery, Chicago Woman's club, 72 East 11th street, there is an exhibit of landscapes and still life in oil and water color by Carolyn B. McCracken. Mrs. McCracken paints in whispers. Her work is extremely ladylike, the colors are subdued. They wash over a subject and the shadow of the substance remains, pale pinks or blues or greens giving it an anemic, artificial life that an open window would endanger.

At one loudly spoken word, one feels in this exhibition, all the pictures would fold into themselves like shocked white woolly shawls and stay resigned, in neat cocoons, until the speaker had left. Then, once more free to frolic undisturbed, these delicate landscapes and flowers would frivol gently, with dignity, in a quiet atmosphere.

Union of Plaid and Wool

SUIT IN JUNIOR SIZES.

One of the smartest ideas in fall fashions is the union of plaid woolen and velveteen. It has so many possibilities, particularly in the field of suits. The pattern in our sketch today is a practical one, since it may be a three piece suit or a two piece dress. The original creates the blouse in a rich, dark blue velveteen, with the skirt of plaid woolen to harmonize. There is, by the way, plenty of green in the plaid. The blouse, the pattern for which is No. 3036, available for 10 cents extra, is made of white silk. If you like, fashion it of jersey.

You will like the jacket because it fits so casually you scarcely are conscious that you have it on. There are a modified shirtwaist collar, straight sleeves, a buttoned affair at the neckline that is tailored and trig, and four [count 'em] pockets! A narrow waistline is aided and abetted by a snugly fitted belt that buttons.

The skirt is a simple affair that molds the hipline and acquires width at the hem by means of an inverted plait.

You can fashion this costume of two plaid shades, if you like, of course.

Style No. 3451 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 2½ yards of 39 inch material for the jacket and 2 yards of 39 inch fabric for the skirt.

Style No. 3036 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

preceding the evening performance and dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry, the Hampden Winstons and the Frank Wilhelms are leaving Friday to enjoy the last week of the bass fishing season at the Coleman Lake club.

Miss Mary Ryerson and Miss Tita Johnson, two of the debs who will take part in the show, are going east later in the season for the Yale-Harvard football game. Each is going with a Harvard man. But perhaps just because they are women and so proverbially perverse, each plans to wear Yale colors!

Birthday Party for Samuel T. Chase.

Mrs. William F. Burrows Sr., who herself will be the especial guest at a birthday party on Oct. 16, is to be hostess at one next Saturday when she gives her customary birthday party for Samuel T. Chase. Mr. Chase should have 71 candles on his cake, but it is doubtful if there will be that many, and it is certain that no one who didn't know when he was born would believe that he is that age. But according to "Who's Who" he was born in 1867.

The party for Mrs. Burrows will be given by her daughter, Mrs. John C. Pitcher.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Whitman [Marjorie Sidway] of Highland Park are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, their third child, last Thursday at the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest. The baby has been named Russell Whitman II., after his grandfather, Russell Whitman of Evanston.

A number of Chicago people will be in Holland, Mich., next week-end for the wedding on Saturday of Miss Joan Cree Everett, daughter of Mrs. John C. Everett of Chicago and Holland, and Virgil Edwin Tobin, son of Mrs. Joseph A. Tobin of Los Angeles, Cal. The ceremony will be performed at 8:30 o'clock in Grace church with a reception following at the Waukazoo inn.

Mrs. Roger Quincy White will be matron of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Anna May Marion of Hamilton, O., Miss Sidney Sims of Chicago, and Miss Elizabeth Spencer of Columbus, Ga.

Robert White of Chicago will be best man for Mr. Tobin and the ushers will be Mr. Roger White, Kenneth Rich, Marshall Rich, and Eugene Swigart, all of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. White are giving a dinner-dance for Miss Everett and Mr. Tobin at the Warm Friend tavern in Holland on Friday night.

After a wedding trip to Mexico, Mr. Tobin and his bride will spend two or three years abroad.

Tavern Arranges Another Gay Party.

The Tavern club excels in offering its membership gay parties at home, or unusual ones abroad. "Whirligig night" is what the entertainment committee calls its next big party, planned for Tuesday night of next week.

Following dinner at the Tavern the guests will go either by chartered buses or in their own cars to ringside seats at the Coliseum to watch a session of the Roller Derby.

The women's pow-wow at the Onwentsia club today promises to be especially well attended. About 100 reservations have been made for the buffet luncheon that will follow a morning of golf events. The golfers will adjourn to the bridge tables during the afternoon. Mrs. John T. Pirie Jr. is chairman of the pow-wow.

The Skokie Country club will hold the annual tennis dinner tonight in the main clubhouse, with bridge, movies, and beer afterward in the cozy little tennis house.

Beauty Supply Trade Is Delighted with Upswing Hair Styles

The more than 1,000 persons attending the 35th annual convention of the Beauty and Barber Supply institute at the Stevens hotel are elated over the new up styles for women's hair. The styles mean more permanent waves, more coiffures by beauty shops, and a general stimulus to the industry.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

One of the most remarkable bridge controversies within my experience has been brought to my attention by a Cleveland correspondent.

It seems that in a recent game in that city a player held this hand:

♠ 3 ♥ A J 8 5 3 ♦ A Q 10 2 ♣ J 5 4

Opener	Responder
1 diamond	1 heart
1 spade	?

A bridge columnist in one of the Cleveland newspapers entered the argument with the published opinion that responder's rebid should be only two diamonds. Apparently [and not unnaturally] this opinion raised a storm of protest among his readers and he then submitted the hand to a famous expert. A few days later his column reëntered the fray by quoting the expert as follows: "Responder should bid two diamonds. This is the maximum bid on the hand. Two diamonds is definitly constructive and cannot be a warning nor sign-off after first responding with one heart." The columnist then went on to say that the Culbertson Gold Book does not consider a bid of three diamonds at the point noted a forcing bid, but that all leading players regard it as an absolute force to game.

A statement of this type can hardly fail to bring me into the arena. It seems incredible that any expert [the columnist actually named the expert] could give such a fantastic opinion, and therefore my future remarks must be considered on an "if" basis. If said expert [with whose game I am intimately acquainted] actually said what he is quoted as having said, he is either losing his mind or has some peculiar, personal, or insidious motive. Having played with the gentleman in question on countless occasions, and having watched his play over a period of years, I am able to state catagorically that he would not personally bid two diamonds under the conditions named. I have seen this expert respond first with one heart and later bid two diamonds on a holding such as:

♠ 7 6 4 2 ♥ J 9 8 5 ♦ Q 7 6 3 ♣ 5

Moreover, his partners allow for such a response when they play with him. It is inconceivable, then, that he would bid precisely the same on the hand quoted above, which unquestionably is worth a three diamond rebid.

Suppose this were the entire deal:

♥ A J 8 5 3
♦ A Q 10 2
♣ J 5 4

WEST	EAST
♠ K 9 8 5	♠ J 10 7 4
♥ K 4	♥ Q 10 9 6
♦ J 8 3	♦ 9
♣ Q 9 8 2	♣ K 7 6 3

SOUTH
♦ K 7 6 5 4
♣ A 10

Now, further supposing, let us assume that South opens with one diamond, North responds with one heart, South rebids one spade, and North then makes the fantastic bid of two diamonds. Is South supposed to bid two no trump at this point? I hardly think that either the Cleveland columnist or his expert backer would authorize such a rebid, yet a game contract in no trump would be the nearest thing to a laydown. Indeed, it would be iron-clad against the normal lead [on the bidding] of a low club by West. And, of course, there are thousands of other card combinations South might have with which he could not make a move over two diamonds, but which would offer a beautiful play for game.

Finally, where does my confrère get the idea that a three diamond bid by North at the point noted would be an absolute force to game? It would be no such thing! I defy him to produce one acknowledged expert who plays such a three diamond bid as an absolute force. It cannot be considered as anything more than a strong preference.

State St. Finds Women Like the New Styles

The old and the new in style turned out to be strikingly alike yesterday when the two eras met on State street to open Chicago's participation in National Retail Demonstration week.

The week, created to foster friendly relations between consumer and merchant, concentrates on fashions. Thus the parade of such characters as a Lillie Langtry, Victorian actress, a Madame LaValiere, and a Scarlett O'Hara, side by side with three modern misses.

Despite a morning of rain, the mile of State street establishments taking part in the week were thronged all day, merchants reported. An unusual flurry of buying was noticed in all fields of merchandise.

"Business is very good," David Mayer Jr., president of the State Street Council, reported. "Whether it comes from Demonstration week I don't know. This cold snap has brought a tremendous business.

"I haven't the slightest idea what is doing it, but people seem to be very style conscious and glad to see the new styles. Maybe," he added, "it's just the time of the year."

Another merchant reported business "by and large" to be good. The new fall fashions, he reported, were attracting unprecedented attention.

WEDDINGS

The wedding of Miss Marjorie Ann Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Crafts Watson of Highland Park, to James Marvin Ewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cady Ewell of Ravinia, will take place today. The ceremony will be performed at 4 o'clock in the Trinity Episcopal church in Highland Park with the Rev. Christoph Keller officiating. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents.

Kathleen Watson will be maid of honor for her sister and Mrs. Preston Weir will be matron of honor for her sister. Another sister, Mrs. George Lake, and Mrs. Warren Ashton, Miss Elizabeth Haller, and Miss Diane Ewell, sister of Mr. Ewell, will be the bridesmaids.

The wedding of Miss Ruth Emily Converse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Converse of Hinsdale, to Dr. William Edward Bretz of Hinsdale took place on Sept. 10. The ceremony was performed in the Unioin church in Hinsdale with the Rev. Wilfrid A. Rowell officiating. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Bernard Vonnegut of Boston will be the best man and ushering will be Mr. Weir, Mr. Lake, Mr. Ashton, and Lorry Farwell.

Young Stepmother Must Use Tact in Handling Charges

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

It's not going to work, I assure you.

I mean this: That if you're about to become a foster mother or a stepmother [but particularly the latter], you won't be successful if you start out with the main idea that you are going to reform your young charges.

Reform may come about in due season, but you must have something different in your heart and mind if you and the children are to live happily together.

I've been asked what advice I can give new stepmothers: It's hard to fill the order briefly, but here is a carefully thought-out attempt:

[1] The new mother should be sure that nothing in her face, voice, or manner inspires the slightest fear in her child.

[2] She should try to understand him, to see with his eyes.

[3] She should discard once and for all the "good and bad" interpretation of his behavior. She should learn to think of him rather as a growing and developing being.

[4] She should be interested in her new young charge as a person, not as an object for training.

[5] She should enter into his play and his interests, find common ground with him, since he is too young to enter much into hers.

[6] The new mother should be jolly, a little easy going, and ready to laugh.

[7] She should be patient.

[8] She should keep her new "young" rested and well fed, and hygienically [but not naggingly] clean.

[9] She should be lavish with praise and sparing of blame.

And here we are at the end of our space, and I've said nothing about discipline or punishment, training, or habits! "Now what kind of advice is that?" you may ask with annoyance.

If you do, I'll tell you. This kind of advice is intended to help you to do that most important thing—to lay a foundation for the right kind of relationship between you and the child which you are to mother. The rest: Obedience, routines, etc., will "follow as the night the day," with the exercise of reasonably good sense.

Fluffy Kitten Appealing Motif for Crib Quilt

BY NANCY CABOT.

Babies' cribs always are the objects of the greatest fascination because they are so soft and smooth in delicate pinks and blues. The pillows and coverlets in these cribs have the most cunning and appealing animals, either embroidered or appliqued. The kitten is an excellent subject for baby crib sets, and the watchdog on a pillow is an ideal addition for the corner and a companion for its feline friend.

For a hot iron transfer pattern of the kitten and the dog, No. X-512, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

A STRAIN ON THE FAMILY TIE

WPA IS A LEECH THAT SUCKS CASH FROM TREASURY

City Has to Scratch for Funds to Sponsor Work.

[This is the sixteenth article in a series on the gigantic WPA machine. These articles were prepared after weeks of investigation by three Tribune reporters. Today's deals with the manner in which the Works Progress administration is sucking money out of Chicago's city treasury.]

BY WILL O'NEIL.

WPA is a leech which sucks constantly at Chicago's finances. The insistent demands for more and more projects put forth by WPA executives have just about cleaned out the city treasury. Mayor Kelly says the city must get some money soon or shut down many of its WPA projects before the end of this month.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation has before it the city's plea for a loan of three million dollars. The city proposes to repay the money in the next two years out of motor vehicle tax collections.

A Change From Old Days.

If this scheme fails, Mayor Kelly hopes Harry Hopkins, national WPA administrator, will furnish necessary funds for continued operation of WPA projects for the rest of the year.

Three years ago in the early days of the WPA, when the city had no money, the Works Progress administration supplied the money needed for construction materials, in addition to paying the wages to the WPAers.

In those days one of the old Mount Greenwood sewer projects, for example, was set up at a cost of $121,950. WPA supplied all the money, including $33,093 for nonlabor costs.

On the other hand, the Michigan-St. Clair sewer, now under construction, is to cost $846,275, and the city is supplying 10.9 per cent of the cost, or $92,366.

Departments Split Funds.

When the city's 1938 budget was passed last January, appropriations were not made specifically for WPA projects. The available money was split among the various departments. Each department acts as the sponsor of projects falling within its field and dips into its regular appropriations for money to sponsor them.

The weight of the second, or Roosevelt, depression, was reflected in the city relief rolls last winter. The city administration had to shift its able bodied reliefers to WPA because there wasn't any other way to support them.

The vicious circle was complete. WPA began demanding that the city sponsor more projects. The man in the middle of the circle was Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works.

Hewitt sent proposals for projects to WPA. WPA officials said the city ought to supply a greater share of the money needed for the projects. Meanwhile Mayor Kelly was getting ever larger quotas of WPA jobs for the city.

Scratches for Money.

Hewitt spent nights in his office trying to find funds with which to sponsor projects. He raked up every possible item that could be listed as a sponsor's contribution toward the cost of the projects.

The commissioner has been battling WPA for three years, trying to get through as many worthwhile projects as possible. But the city's lack of money and the WPA's refusal to supply adequate funds for construction materials forces the city to propose many boondoggling projects.

One of the projects of doubtful necessity was the painting of scores of underpasses in the city. It would cost WPA only $2.50 per man per month for nonlabor costs.

But with the city short of funds, it was necessary for the city to sponsor these projects of doubtful value to build up a reserve fund to aid in financing worthwhile projects which require more money per man per month in nonlabor costs.

Last winter and early spring thousands of men stood for hours in the cold under Wacker drive and under Michigan avenue. There wasn't any work for them.

WPA gave the men their pay checks. In addition, WPA is supposed to allow $7 a man each month for materials and supplies for the project. So, on this project, the city might appear to have a reserve of $4.50 [deducting the $2.50 for nonlabor costs] for each man month of work.

Another project, known as the street and alley cleaning survey, costs WPA only 9 cents a month for nonlabor costs. This should leave the city with a balance with WPA of $6.91 for each man month of work.

Hewitt does not favor projects such as these, because the city does not, in his opinion, derive much lasting benefit from them. But these two projects alone gave him a "bank" with WPA of $115,191.03.

For the second of the general airport projects [the third one is now in operation] the city needed more than a half million dollars WPA nonlabor fund [i. e., funds furnished for material, supplies, etc.]. At the regular allowance of $7 per man month WPA would have provided less than half the needed money. But the boondoggling projects which the city had been obliged to take supplied the additional funds that were needed.

Tax Collections

Collections of 1937 Cook county property taxes prior to the deadline on the second instalment of realty taxes are better than at any comparable period for many years. The penalty date on the last half of 1937 realty taxes is Oct. 1.

Records in the county treasurer's office show that more than half of the 1937 taxes has been collected. After Oct. 1 a penalty of 1 per cent a month will be added to unpaid realty bills. No notice is mailed to taxpayers for the second half of the taxes, as bills for both instalments are sent out together prior to the first penalty date. The first instalment of 1937 taxes was payable on or before June 1.

2 CITY TRANSIT PROBLEMS COME TO HEAD IN WEEK

Subways and Unification Up for Consideration.

Developments in two major phases of the Chicago traction situation will come to a head in the next week. The first is the matter of unification of all transit systems. The second is whether the city is to have three downtown subways.

Walter A. Shaw, traction adviser to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, is to report to the court next Monday on a plan for unification of the elevated and surface lines. Shaw, it was learned yesterday, does not have a merger plan agreed to by the companies, but will submit his own unification proposal.

Shaw was named by Judge Wilkerson to coördinate the unification negotiations between the two systems, both of which are under the court's jurisdiction. He was instructed on June 15 to bring in a merger plan on Sept. 26. If possible, it was to be a plan agreed to by the companies. Failing such an agreement, he was told to bring in his own recommendation.

Subways Depend on Grant.

The prospect for a start on subway digging this fall has been alternately bright and dim during the last several months. The construction of three proposed tunnels in State, Washington, and Jackson streets is contingent on a Public Works administration grant of $14,328,000, or 45 per cent of the total cost.

Recent reports from Washington said that PWA officials are now cold to the subway project and have shelved it.

However, a special PWA engineering committee studying the feasibility of the plans is winding up its work without regard to these reports. Col. Henry M. Waite of Cincinnati, chairman, said the committee will complete its work within a few days and send its report to PWA Administrator Harold L. Ickes, in Washington.

If the subway grant is refused it will not be because the engineering committee has vetoed it, one authority close to the committee said.

Practical Report Expected.

"The committee's recommendations will be constructive," this informant said. "What is proposed will be physically and financially practical, for the engineers on the board are practical men."

The committee, it was reported, will recommend some modifications of the city's plans. Just what these modifications are was not learned. If they required extensive changes in construction plans that would delay a start on the subways the whole project might be upset, however.

City engineers estimate that nearly two years would be needed to build the tunnels, and the PWA requires that projects be substantially completed by June 1, 1940.

INTRUDER WOUNDS NEGRO.

Roy Williams, colored, 4416 South Park avenue, was shot twice yesterday by another Negro who invaded his home and attempted to attack Williams' wife, Elisabeth.

A HELPFUL STRANGER ROBS BLIND COUPLE; SENTENCE IS 90 DAYS

William O'Brien, who is blind and operates a candy concession outside the court room of Judge Stephen Adamowski in the county building, agreed when the stranger offered to help him put his stock away at the end of the day. Then the stranger took O'Brien to a street car and eventually to his home. His name, he said, was Stanley Matyga. He stayed all evening talking to Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, then left. And with him departed $8 the couple had hidden in a dresser drawer.

Stanley Matyga.

This was several days ago. Yesterday Matyga, who is 21 years old and lives at 2654 West 21st street, faced Judge Adamowski. O'Brien and his wife identified him by his voice. Then he pleaded guilty to larceny. Judge Adamowski sentenced him to 90 days in the Bridewell.

AX SQUADS FIND FEWER PATRONS IN BETTING DIVES

Fewer patrons are being found in gambling resorts as the ax raids of State's Attorney Courtney continue, the raiders said yesterday after they had chopped up the furnishings in ten more betting rooms. The day's raids brought the total for the campaign up to 194.

194

As usual, no warants were displayed and no arrests were made, although the operators were questioned. Four raids were in the loop, at 220 North Clark street, second floor; 36 West Randolph street, 32 North State street, and 128 West Lake street. The others were at 808 Roosevelt road, second floor; 909 Rush street, second floor; 1532 Chicago avenue, third floor; 1852 Chicago avenue, 2858 Broadway, and 4647 Broadway.

Meanwhile city policemen raided four horse betting parlors, arresting two employés in each. The raids were at 17 West Quincy street, 163 North Wabash avenue, 166 West Washington street, and 1912 Birchwood avenue. These eight prisoners will be arraigned in the South State street court, where sixty-four men were freed on gambling charges yesterday by Judge Eugene J. Holland.

Cleveland Heights Official Shot After Council Meets

POISONING CASES MOUNT; SUSPECT TAINTED PASTRY

With 103 cases of food poisoning reported in the last six days, investigators renewed efforts to find out whether contaminated pastry was the cause. Thirty-five more cases were recorded yesterday. Elmwood Park and adjacent areas of Chicago are the center of the outbreak. Almost all the persons affected said they had eaten chocolate eclairs or cream slices before they became ill.

Dr. Carl Potkin, 4259 Madison street, his wife Sylvia, and Mrs. Frances Winston, 1851 South Millard avenue were taken to Frances Willard hospital when they became ill after breakfasting at a Madison street restaurant. Their cases brought the total number in Chicago to 47. Health authorities were not sure, however, that their illnesses was of the same origin as the others. They said all the newly reported cases started last week, and that the outbreak is not continuing.

Whisk 4 Paroled Convicts to New York on Old Charge

Four convicts paroled yesterday from Illinois prisons were turned over immediately to New York detectives. They waived extradition and left to face trial for the robbery in 1930 of a New York drugstore. The four are Robert Clauson, 30 years old, and John During, 28, released from Joliet, and Fred Shaia, 38, and his brother, George, 28, released from Chester reformatory. The four were convicted in 1932 of a series of south side robberies.

INJURY STRIKES IOWA SQUAD AS OPENER NEARS

Pettit May Be Out of U. C. L. A. Game.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 19.—The University of Iowa football squad, which leaves Wednesday evening for its opening game with the University of California at Los Angeles, Friday night, suffered its first major injury this morning during defensive scrimmage. Kennith Pettit, 197 pound sophomore from Logan, Ia., who is ranked as the regular left end, suffered a broken bone in his right hand.

Pettit's injury may prevent him from making the trip to Los Angeles. Kennith Pettit, whose brother Roger also is a candidate for the same left end position, is highly regarded. Since one of Iowa's major problems this year has been to find replacements for Homer Harris and Bob Lannon, who were graduated, Kenneth's loss is felt keenly. Trainer William Frey believes, however, that a cast can be made for Pettit's hand and that there is a possibility he can play Friday night.

Iowa is limited to a squad of 33 players for the Los Angeles trip, although Coach Irl Tubbs said today he still hoped to take one or two more men.

Keen Fight for Positions.

"The fight for individual positions is so even in many instances that it is difficult to choose the squad. Because many of these boys are inexperienced, we really won't be able to tell what they can do until we see them in a game."

The Hawkeyes will leave from Cedar Rapids on the City of Los Angeles, Wednesday evening, and will arrive in Los Angeles Friday morning. Iowa followed the same travel program last year going to Seattle to meet the University of Washington and it was satisfactory.

This afternoon, for the second time since the Hawkeyes began practice Sept. 10, the squad drilled in secret. Two teams scrimmaged under game conditions for more than a half hour.

Two Weaknesses.

After the practice game the varsity drilled on defense against U. C. L. A. plays as demonstrated by the reserves. Coach Tubbs summarized Iowa's weaknesses today as: [1] inexperience at center and the ends, and [2] lack of speed in the line. While Tubbs is most reticient and prefers to wait until after the opening game before discussing possible improvement in the Iowa squad, it is apparent that the Hawkeyes will have a back field vastly superior to 1937 and that Iowa has two teams which will average 200 pounds.

The starting back field, which quite likely will be Mike Enich, quarter back; Nile Kinnick, left half; Glenn Olson, right half, and Frank Balazs, full back, also will have adequate replacements.

Balazs an Improved Player.

Balazs, a senior from Chicago, has shown marked improvement this fall. He is hitting the line harder and is gradually getting the knack of a last second surge of power with his shoulders.

Olson, another senior, apparently has won the right half back position. Mike Enich, the 212 pound sophomore quarter back, is the find of the campaign. He will not only be used on the spin plays, but he will direct the team.

Enich and the substitute quarter backs, Otto Huebner and Jack McKinnon, sophomores, and Russell Busk, have been given the signal calling duties so that Nile Kinnick will not be under the pressure of this responsibility. Kinnick is the star of the back field. Last year, as a sophomore, he proved himself the best kicker in the Western conference. Last season, whatever Iowa accomplished offensively, was due to Kinnick, who is a superior passer and a splendid runner.

May Be Even Better.

Without responsibility for generalship, the coaches believe Kinnick will be even better. When Iowa is in a double wing back formation, Kinnick is the left half. In the single wing back formation, he is the tail back. Kinnick has gained fourteen pounds since last fall and now, at 174 pounds, he is at peak physical condition.

Veterans Hold Line Positions.

Iowa's line probably will continue to be composed of veterans, for only two sophomores are listed in the first fourteen candidates. This line is a

CUBS FIGHT RAIN, BUT IT'S FUTILE; THEY CAN'T PLAY

Move to Philadelphia for Two Games Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The Cubs sloshed through rain and fog to get to Ebbets field today. It rained through their double-header with the Giants Saturday, likewise, only more so, during their double-header with the Dodgers yesterday. So the Cubs, eager to get in a full schedule, thought maybe they could swim through again today.

But it was no use. The Dodgers cooperated fully, and expected to annoy the pennant contenders as much or more than they did yesterday, but instead of slackening, the rain increased to downpour proportions.

The two games may not be washed out forever. After the Cubs finish their series in Philadelphia on Thursday they could return to Brooklyn on Friday, an open date, play the double-header, and take a special Friday night, arriving in Chicago in time to open the series with the Cards Saturday afternoon.

Must Decide Soon.

General Manager Larry McPhail of the Dodgers gave the Cubs until 6 o'clock tomorrow night to decide whether or not they desired to book this Friday double-header.

While Manager Hartnett said he had referred the decision to the Chicago office, tonight he was pondering mathematical possibilities and probabilities. He had about concluded that a split would be a greater handicap than skipping the games completely. He will make recommendations as soon as he lines up his pitching outlook after tomorrow's games, if any.

Ford Frick, president of the league, tonight granted permission for the proposed double-header Friday. None of the other contenders has simultaneous off days, pointed out Frick, so their washed out games are gone forever.

Distressed at the inability to play in Brooklyn, the Cubs tried to forget their disappointment by entraining for Philadelphia two hours ahead of schedule.

Higbe, Carleton to Pitch.

They are supposed to play two in Philadelphia tomorrow and single games Wednesday and Thursday. The outlook for carrying out the double-header plans tomorrow was none too rosy, according to the weather forecasts. Kirby Higbe and Tex Carleton have been asked to pitch.

Rain washed out all games in the National league today. While not widening the Pirates' margin over the Cubs, Reds, and Giants, the rain reduced the pursuers' chances to catch Pittsburgh. It also gave the Pirates two fewer chances to lose.

The Pirates, with a three and a half game lead over the Cubs, five over the Reds, and six and a half over the Giants, now have only fourteen more games to play. After completing a four game series with the Dodgers, starting tomorrow with a double-header, the league leaders play all their remaining games with the Reds and Cubs—seven with the Reds and three with the Cubs.

ROWE PITCHES 4 HIT GAME AS BEAUMONT WINS

Beaumont, Tex., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Lynwood Rowe pitched masterful ball today as Beaumont evened the final playoff series with San Antonio, 6 to 0. He yielded only four hits and two were scratches.

Cold? Sure, but Nothing Stops a Good Golfer

Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C. (left), defending champion, completes the first round of play in the 1938 women's national open golf tournament at Westmoreland yesterday with an 80, to tie for low honors with Dorothy Traung (right) of San Francisco.

The youngest contestant in the tournament is 14 year old Jeanne Cline, who dresses in accordance with the weather. She shot 99.

Sox Rained Out; Encounter Yankees Today

Joe McCarthy's New York Yankees, who have no worries until the world series and probably not then, will step into Comiskey park this afternoon for the first of a three game series. That is, the Yanks will step onto the premises and the Sox will do the same, if there is no continuation of the autumnal weather which on Sunday and yesterday erased a pair of double-headers with Boston.

The Yankee visit will be their last here this year, unless of course the National league race should end in such a fashion as to make it necessary for them to return for another whack at the Cubs, whom they bruised in four straight in 1932. Yankee scouts, however, are reported to be concentrating on gathering information on the strong and weak points of Pittsburgh's Pirates.

Because the Yanks have already clinched their third straight flag and because Prof. James Dykes of the White Sox wishes to continue his fall baseball school there is no way of telling just how the boys will be arranged for competition this afternoon. Dykes may start most of his rookies but give the Yanks something they don't like in the way of pitching —Thornton Lefty Lee. Spud Chandler may oppose Lee.

Injured Bartell Leaves Giants for Season

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Dick Bartell, regular shortstop of the New York Giants, today was en route to his home in Alameda, Cal. He will be out for the season, the result of a finger on his right hand being broken last week. George Myatt, called in from the Giants' Jersey City farm, is filling in for Bartell.

Pacific Coast League Playoffs Begin Today

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Pacific coast league playoffs will begin tomorrow with Sacramento in Los Angeles and San Francisco in Seattle.

Rain Puts Off Wood's Match with Budge

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Donald Budge, defender of the National Singles tennis championship, enjoyed a day of rest today. So did Sidney B. Wood Jr., the former Davis cup player, who was scheduled to meet Budge in the semi-final of the national tourney today at Forest Hills. The postponement of the match was due to heavy rain.

Included in the postponed matches are those between Gene Mako of the Davis cup team and John Bromwich of Australia and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan and Miss Alice Marble, the former champion.

Budge Never Extended.

So completely waterlogged was the turf at Forest Hills that a fourth postponement tomorrow may be necessary, according to Referee Dr. S. Ellsworth Davenport.

At no time during the tournament has Budge been forced to extend himself. In winning his way through four rounds, the hero of the Davis cup matches has not lost a set. All of the sets, with the exception of two deuced against Robert Kamrath, have been one-sided. Harry C. Hopman, the Australian team captain, compelled Budge to employ his fore court game.

Just Like Practice.

It has been more like practice than competition for the top ranking American. He is playing better now than at the start of the tournament.

It was reported today that an American promoter, just returned from Germany, has arranged for Baron Gottfried von Cramm to come to America as soon as his prison term is finished this winter and go on a professional tour with Fred Perry, Ellsworth Vines and Don Budge. The German star would have to obtain permission from his government to make the trip.

Nova Replaces Pastor as Garden Foe for Barlund

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Lou Nova, heavyweight from Oakland, Cal., has been signed to replace Bob Pastor as Gunnar Barlund's opponent in a fifteen round bout in Madison Square Garden Oct. 3. Pastor suffered a cut on his leg while using an ax in a training chore.

CHAMPION AND SAN FRANCISCO STAR CARD 80

64 Survivors to Open Match Play Today.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, Phi Beta Kappa scholar and housewife from North Carolina, yesterday was on her way to winning the qualifying medal in the national women's golf tournament for the third consecutive year. She put together a 41—39—80, one over par, for the West-Moreland Country club's course, but finally had to share honors with husky Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, who welded a pair of 40's to tie.

Mrs. Page, defending the title she won last year in Memphis, was the only member of the starting field of 107 to break par, doing so on the par 40 home nine in the face of one of the most miserable days a women's national ever has witnessed.

Rain Protects Meet Record.

The chilling wind and drizzling rain frustrated any of the anticipated smashing of the national medal record of 76 set by Enid Wilson of England at Exmoor in 1933.

The qualifying limit for the sixty-four low scorers, who will start match play with thirty-two battles at 11:30 this morning, was 94. Eight contestants were forced to play extra holes for the last five places.

Par—Out	455	434	455—39
Par—In	455	445	535—40—79
Mrs. Page—Out	447	445	544—41
Mrs. Page—In	455	346	444—39—80
Miss Traung—Out	445	535	545—40
Miss Traung—In	553	446	535—40—80

Back of the co-medalists was Marion Miley, the Lexington, Ky., professional's daughter, who dominated women's golf last year and gained the semi-finals of the 1936 tournament. The slim, dark-haired Kentuckian finished with a 41-42-83.

British Stars Card 84.

Tied at 84 were two of the members of the British Curtis cup team and a former runner-up for the title. They were Clarrie Tiernan from the County Meath of the Irish Free State; Jessie Anderson of Perth, Scotland, British champion last year, and Maureen Orcutt of Haworth, N. J.

Mrs. Page, who has set up a remarkable record in her five and one-half years of golf, won the qualifying medals at Canoe Brook, in 1936, with a 79 and a 78 in Memphis last October. Miss Traung, who has been around and about Chicago courses as a competitor in the women's western tournaments, had an eagle three on the twelfth for her start to an 80, to offset a three putt green on the fifteenth.

Meanwhile, such stars as Mrs. Edwin H. Vare of Philadelphia, Patty Berg of Minneapolis, Mrs. A. C. Critchley [the former Diana Fishwick], and Edith Estabrooks of Dubuque, were having their troubles. Mrs. Vare, who, as Glenna Collett, won the title six times, could have bettered the efforts of Mrs. Page and Miss Traung, except for a bunkered nine at the ninth hole. She eventually cleared with a 90.

Patty's Putter Fails.

The red-headed Patricia Berg discovered that fourteen clubs and a pair of rain pants were not enough to yield more than a 43—42—85. The kid who has shown herself in Chicago by winning the western women's Derby and closed titles, yesterday found that her putter was not clicking as on that day when she won the Derby with a record total of 308, including a memorable 73 in the showers.

Mrs. Critchley, bride of the British sports promoter, who competed in the national amateur last week, settled for a 90, while Miss Estabrooks, the sturdy Iowan who ran Miss Berg to the thirty-third hole of the women's western closed final, failed to make the grade by three shots, winding up with a 97.

Miss Williams Qualifies.

MANIE O'HARA'S SPEEDY FINISH BRINGS VICTORY

Chance Queen Wins After Jocky Loses Stirrup.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Once more the grey filly Manie O'Hara was the toast of the Hawthorne race track crowd. She won the Van Buren purse yesterday on a muddy track after most of the 6,000 spectators had wagered on her stoutly at even money.

She won it in the same easy fashion that has marked all of her six victories this year. Her margin was two and a half lengths after she had raced up from behind to pass all of those who had been running in front of her. Second at the finish of the 6 furlongs was Forever Prince, third was the weak hearted front runner Chief Menteur and fourth was Sly Gal.

Rolls Up Earnings.

There's a story connected with Manie O'Hara and Sly Gal. Manie O'Hara once raced for Mrs. Ethel V. Mars. The filly, a fashionably bred daughter of The Satrap-Boadicea, could not win for Mrs. Mars. She was taken from the Chicago sportswoman at Churchill Downs last spring on a $2,000 claim. Then she started winning every time the track was muddy. She has been doing it ever since and now has rolled up earnings of $4,625 for her new owner.

She advanced from a $2,000 selling plater to the $3,000 class. Next she beat $3,500 horses. Now she runs in overnight handicaps and allowance events. There's no telling how far she will go because she still is just 3 years old.

And here's the story about Sly Gal. The telegraph operator who is sending this story from Hawthorne to the Tribune office would have won the $500 Hawthorne handicapping rating contest if he had not picked Sly Gal to beat Manie O'Hara.

There were two unusual incidents during the running of the program. In the fifth race the even money favorite was Sanctity. An outsider at more than 7 to 1 was Chance Queen. The latter was ridden by Jocky Pete McLean.

Jocky Loses Stirrup.

Chance Queen enjoyed a comfortable early lead but at the head of the stretch Sanctity moved up and momentarily rushed to the front while his many backers cheered. In the excitement Jocky McLean's right foot slipped out of the stirrup. That would have beaten an ordinary horse.

McLean started riding in cowboy fashion. He shouted and he kicked with his dangling right foot. Chance Queen thrilled to this sort of a battle. She gradually wore down Sanctity. She finally won by a length and a half with Jocky McLean's foot still out of the stirrup.

The fourth race was one of those muddy track affairs that come along once a season. From the time the 6½ furlong battle started until it ended, not a horse in the five horse feild changed positions. Cloud D'Or, the odds on favorite at $3.20, broke in front and still was in front by three lengths when it finished.

Two women won $500 each in the rating contest. They were Mrs. William Price, 3218 Carroll avenue, Chicago, and Mrs. E. Z. Skinner, 554 Lincoln avenue, Winnetka.

Mrs. Price picked six in a row but missed when Gleaning Ruth was out of the money in the seventh. Mrs. Skinner missed on Gay Jane in the third, but had the other six. Each had two second choices down.

SEABISCUIT MAY RACE TODAY IN $5,000 HANDICAP

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit, which probably holds the record for traveling farther and running less than any other important racer, is slated to start in the $5,000 added Manhattan handicap at Belmont Park tomorrow.

Whether he will start is another question. Seabiscuit doesn't run well in mud and for that reason has been scratched out of several engagements this summer, often traveling a considerable distance to get to the scene.

If he does go, Seabiscuit will carry 128 pounds in a mile and a half test against four lightly weighted rivals. Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Handcuff and Walter M. Jeffords' Regal Lily, a pair of fillies, and William Woodward's Isolator have been asked to carry 108 pounds each and Moore's Piccolo only 100 pounds.

The Manhattan, longer than most stake races, is considered a test for the two mile Jocky club Gold Cup race, in which Seabiscuit may finally clash with Samuel Riddle's War Admiral.

A crown of green leaves binds her hair
That frames a face both sweet and bold.

Symbolic of autumn's prime,
Are accents to her bright laughter
Echoing down the halls of time.

SENATORS' 7 RUN SIXTH DEFEATS TIGERS, 12 TO 2

Bonura Smashes Homer with One On.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Washington Senators gained a split in their final series with the Detroit Tigers by scoring a 12 to 2 victory today behind the five hit pitching of Pete Appleton.

Vernon Kennedy, starting Detroit pitcher, lasted less than four innings and was followed in turn by Roxie Lawson, Jake Wade, and Bob Harris. A seven run uprising in the sixth, featured by Taft Wright's triple with the bases full and Zeke Bonura's homer with one on clinched the victory. Score:

INDIANS, 4; ATHLETES, 3.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Jeff Heath's homer helped the Cleveland Indians turn four hits into four runs today and gave Mel Harder his seventeenth victory, against ten defeats. Philadelphia's Athletics were the losers, 4 to 3.

Harder yielded the Athletics twelve hits, but did not get into serious trouble until the eighth. Johnny Humphries held the A's thereafter.

The Indians collected only three hits off George Caster in his seven innings, but one of them was the first inning home run by Jeff Heath with two on. An error by Nick Etten, the A's rookie first baseman, paved the way to the decisive run in the fourth. Score:

BROWNS, 13; YANKEES, 1.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Yankees, who won their third straight American league pennant yesterday, lost to the St. Louis Browns, 13 to 1, today with three second string hurlers failing to stem the seventh place club's attack.

The game was the season's final between the two clubs. The Yanks won fifteen, the Browns seven in the year's play.

In commenting on the Yankees' success Manager Joe McCarthy today called the 1938 team the greatest he ever has managed.

5 Sophomores Going Strong at Ohio State

Columbus, O., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The Ohio State football team probably will have more sophomores in the starting lineup than at any time since Coach Francis Schmidt took over the coaching position four years ago.

Indications are that five sophomores will be starters, two in the line and three in the back field. The backs are Don Scott at left half, Jim Sexton at quarter back, and Jim Langhurst at full back. Zadworney, a senior, probably will hold down the other half back post. In the line Nosker at left guard and Maag at center look like sure starters.

MAROONS SCRIMMAGE.

Despite Saturday's long scrimmage, and despite a persistent drizzle, Coach Clark Shaughnessy ordered another scrimmage session for the Maroons yesterday. Topping a day of drill on blocking and tackling, the scrimmage was limited to half an hour of offensive operations, during which the varsity made no touchdowns but got off a series of successful passes.

The Chicago line is just about as green as it can be, but judged by Maroon standards, there is lots of it, and Shaughnessy can afford to take chances with injuries. Ted Fink, veteran guard, was back in the varsity lineup yesterday, displacing Sophomore Joe Howard.

BADGERS WORK ON DEFENSE.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—With a full week of drills and the first scrimmage of the season out of the way, Coach Harry Stuhldreher today concentrated on strengthening the defense in Wisconsin's two workouts.

Stuhldreher was well satisfied with the offensive efforts in Saturday's long scrimmage, which produced seven touchdowns, but, he pointed out, the heavy scoring indicated that much remains to be done in bolstering the defense.

3 HURT AT MICHIGAN STATE.

NO NOTRE DAME REST.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Instead of resting as planned following Saturday's scrimmage, the Notre Dame squad went through a tackling and blocking drill today. Expected lineup changes did not materialize as a result of the scrimmage beyond some shifts in the third, fourth and fifth team fronts.

DE PAUL LOSES TACKLE.

Clare Murphy, De Paul's sophomore tackle who had been counted upon to start Saturday against Ripon college on the De Paul field, will be out of play for six weeks, it was learned yesterday.

X-rays revealed that he had sustained a chipped bone in his shoulder. This, added to the fact that John McInerney dislocated his shoulder last week and Capt. Tom Roberts had a sprained ankle, forced Coach Ben Connor to call off all scrimmages for the week.

INJURIES HIT MICHIGAN.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Injuries and illness hit the Michigan football squad today although Coach Fritz Crisler conducted the lightest drill in a week.

Guard Jack Brennan and Tackle Roland Savilla, both members of the first line, are out for indefinite periods as the result of injuries. Forest Evashevski, ranking quarter back, was sent to the university hospital for three days with bronchitis. Brennan was believed to have fractured his left wrist. Savilla incurred a fractured cheek bone.

ELTING SCORES AT ILLINOIS.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—With two hard scrimmages today, Illinois ended its two a day practice sessions. Only one drill will be held tomorrow and classes begin Wednesday.

EASES UP ON GOPHERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Coach Bernie Bierman today decided to decrease strenuous work and concentrate on polishing the Minnesota squad for the opener here with Washington Saturday. Bierman ordinarily has been a stickler on the heavy duty. He has kept the boys hard at it until the first game in previous seasons, but he rates Washington too tough to take any such chances.

Bears Prepare for Game with Colored Eleven

The Chicago Bears yesterday began preparation for a game with the colored All-Stars in Soldiers' field Friday night.

Chosen in a poll conducted by 100 papers of the colored race, the All-Stars, who have been drilling in Chicago for three weeks under the direction of Ray Kempf, Lincoln coach, and Duke Slater, are expected to present a formidable front to the National league team.

The colored squad includes Ozzie Simmons of Iowa, Ed Williams and Lincoln Gnatt of Cincinnati, Elvin Wanzo, Amherst; Ed Williams of New York university; Joe Lillard of Oregon; Willis Ward of Michigan, and Clarence Hinton of Northwestern.

From the far south are Madison Doram of Xavier, New Orleans, who won the poll; Hiram Workman of the same school, who was second, and Andrew Miles, also of Xavier, and Al Du Vall of Loyola.

The Bears came out of the Packer game with no serious injuries. Their reserve strength is the best it has been in years.

THREE TEAMS DROPPED FROM SIX DAY RACE

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Three of the original fifteen teams were dropped from the six day bike race in Madison Square Garden tonight. Laurent Gadou of Montreal was removed to a hospital with a broken collar bone and his teammate, Eddie Testa of Hollywood, Cal., was given the usual four hours in which to find a new partner. Two new combinations, Charley Bergna of Paterson, N. J., and Charley Morton of Long Beach, Cal., and Danny Esposito of Newark, N. J., and Lou Cohen of Brooklyn, were withdrawn when they fell eleven laps behind.

Bert Rubi, Hungarian heavyweight wrestler, tossed Al Williams of Fox Lake in thirty-five minutes last night in the White City arena. Hans Schnabel threw Jack Claybourne in seven minutes and three seconds in the other half of the windup. Angelo Martinez, a newcomer to Chicago, pinned Jack Brown 8:00. George Becker threw Fritz Schnabel, 18:19, and Mike Markoff and George Mansor wrestled to a thirty minute draw.

N. U. Points for Encounter with Frosh

Northwestern university's football team entered its second week of practice yesterday, a clash with the freshmen next Saturday being the immediate objective. Opening of school yesterday curtailed the workout to a single drill in the afternoon.

The presence of Bill De Correvont, former Austin High school star, in the freshman lineup has increased interest in the annual varsity-freshman game. De Correvont has been working out daily with the frosh for the last week. Several of his teammates at Austin High school are also members of the yearling squad. They are Alf Bauman, tackle; Don Johnson, center; Sunny Skor, quarter back, and Charles Feingarten, guard.

Sophomores Show Promise.

On the strength of their showing Saturday several sophomores are varsity prospects. They are Red Hahnenstein, Paul Soper, Roland Ortmayer and Phil Madsen, half backs; Francis Purtell, full back; Dick Richards, quarter back; Jim Smith, end; Corne Aarts, tackle, and Paul Heimenz, center.

The injury list was decreased yesterday by the return to practice of Ashley Arnold, sophomore half back; Nick Conteas, regular quarter back; Art Niedbalski and Joe Lokanc, sophomore guards. Arnold, who is expected to make a strong bid for the right half back position, had not been able to practice because of a knee injury received in baseball several weeks ago.

POLISH HOOSIER DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 19.—[Special.] — Groundwork plans to stop Ohio State's attack were laid at Indiana today as Coach Bo McMillin drilled the linemen on fundamental defensive tactics.

In today's first string lineup, which probably will be intact on Oct. 1 when the Hoosiers open their schedule against Ohio State in Columbus were: Petrick and Janzaruk, ends; Haak and Sabol, tackles; Sloss, center; Buchianeri and Usher, guards; Herbert, quarter back; Capt. Graham, full back, and Nicholson and Lewis, half backs. Sabol, Bucchianeri, Usher, Herbert, and Lewis are sophomores.

PURDUE BUILDS DEFENSE.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Coach Mal Elward sent the Purdue squad through an intensive practice this afternoon, with emphasis on defense, as the Boilermakers started active preparation for the visit of the University of Detroit eleven Saturday.

Pass defense was stressed. Sloppy tackling which marred the intrasquad game last Saturday, also received attention, as Detroit is expected to bring a well balanced team.

Duluth High school will be the opponent for Proviso's football team Friday night in a game which will be a feature of the Maywood Festival of Progress. Proviso beat Duluth, 12 to 7, last season.

The St. Rita men's club is sponsoring the St. Rita-St. Ignatius game on the St. Rita field Sunday afternoon.

C. O. Applegram, formerly on the Bowen coaching staf, is at Hirsch this season. He replaces Ed McMahon, who accepted a position at Herzl, Junior college.

Bob Rooney, senior center at Leo, who was injured earlier in the season, probably will be on the sidelines when Leo plays Loyola Sunday at Loyola.

Saturday, Bloom of Chicago Heights plays in East Aurora; Mount Carmel is host to Lew Wallace High of Gary, Ind., at Normal park and Waukegan goes to Racine, Wis., to meet Horlick. St. Thomas of Rockford invades Evanston Sunday to meet St. George. Catholic of Joliet will leave Friday for Louisville, where on Saturday night it plays St. Xavier.

Fenwick and St. Mel, both of the Catholic league, will clash in Mills Stadium Sunday afternoon. Fenwick is in the north section and St. Mel in the south section of the league.

DE PAUL AND LEO FOOTBALL TEAMS PLAY 6 TO 6 TIE

De Paul and Leo high schools played a 6 to 6 tie last night on a muddy gridiron at Shewbridge field. It was a non league game. De Paul scored in the third quarter when Grzonka took a 10 yard forward pass from Jakubowski and ran 15 yards. Leo's score came in the final period. A blocked punt gave the south siders the ball on the De Paul 4 yard line. McLaughlin drove for three and then Keehan went around end to score.

TILDEN VS. KELLY.

question mark, and its performance will determine the success or failure of the backs.

The center position is wide open. Four candidates now are about on a par. They are Chester Poluga, Martins Ferry, O.; Bruno Andruska, Chicago; Jack Edling, Moorhead, Minn., and John McCambridge, Des Moines. Andruska and Edling are sophomores. Any one of these boys may win the starting position, although Poluga now is ranked first.

Luebcke and Kelley Tackles.

Charles Brady, left guard, and Bob Allen, right guard, probably will start against U. C. L. A. Both are seniors. Fred Smith, junior letter man from Cedar Rapids, will move to left end now that Kenneth Pettit is injured. Smith has been handicapped by a pulled muscle. The veteran, Erwin Prasse, a junior from Chicago, is No. 1 right end.

U. C. L. A. PICKS TEAM.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Subject to change without notice, but guaranteed 80 per cent correct, the starting lineup of U. C. L. A.'s football opener against University of Iowa in the Coliseum on Friday night will be:

FULL BACK—Warren Haslam, squad's best short passer, or William Overlin, punter; both sophomores.
RIGHT END—Woodrow Strode, gigantic Negro, an outstanding weight man.
RIGHT TACKLE—Mladin Zarubica, greatly improved over 1937.
RIGHT GUARD—Co-Capt. George Pfeiffer, steadiest player on squad.

COBB FLYS IN; HE'LL TRY FOR RECORD IN 1939

John Cobb, noted British auto racing driver, arrived yesterday on a United Air Lines plane from Salt Lake City, en route to Detroit and then to London. He said:

"I'm through driving for the world speed mark for this year, but I expect to return next summer and try to take the record away from Capt. Eyston."

Cobb held the world speed mark for one day until Capt. George Eyston drove a little faster. Both records were made on the Bonneville salt flats.

Pick Judges for Northbrook Club Dog Show Oct. 2

BY BOB BECKER.

Several Chicago and midwest dog judges have been selected to officiate in the Northbrook Kennel club show which will be held at the Onwentsia Country club, Lake Forest, Oct. 2. Judge F. E. Eldert, president of the club, yesterday announced the following judging list:

J. C. Mitchell, Birmingham, Mich., will pick the winners among the setters, pointers, and pointing griffons. Springer spaniels will be judged by Frank Henry of Chicago. The cocker spaniel assignment goes to K. E. Leib of Iowa City. Dr. T. D. Buck, Rochester, N. Y., will judge all other sporting breeds as well as the hounds, working breeds, toys and some of the nonsporting breeds. He will also select the best dog in the show.

Other judges include J. W. Docker, Berwyn, fox terriers; Roger Phillips, Lake Forest, all other terrier breeds; Ben Rosenheim, Chicago, Boston terriers; Paul Belting, Urbana, bulldogs, and E. W. Busch, Chicago, chows. The children's handling classes will be judged by C. E. Harbison, Chicago.

In additon to the children's classes, a feature of the show will be the obedience tests sponsored by the German Shepherd Club of Chicago. William Schafer of Glenview will judge the obedience classes.

The Northbrook Kennel club show, regarded as one of the best managed shows in the middle west, had more than 500 entries in the last event, held in 1936. This year officers of the club announced they are aiming for the 700 mark. Since it is held close to Chicago and is an intimate, friendly type of show, the Northbrook event always is attractive to the beginner.

Entries will close Sunday. Dog owners wishing information on entry blanks or other details of the show should get in touch with the club secretary, Miss Emily Schweitzer, 1241 Waukegan road, Northbrook. Her telephone number is Northbrook 67.

Laporte Basketball Coach Gets Leave of Absence

OVERLIN EASILY BEATS CELEBRON IN TEN ROUNDS

Wins Unanimous Decision in Marigold Ring.

Ken Overlin, 1934 all-Navy middleweight champion, gave Billy Celebron of Rockford a boxing lesson in Marigold Gardens last night to win a ten round decision.

The ex-sailor from Decatur, Ill., took seven of the rounds to gain the unanimous decision of Referee Frank McAdams and Judges Harry Hall and Ed Hint.

Celebron Fights Back.

After absorbing a beating for two rounds, Celebron found the range in the third with a right to the chin which sent Overlin to his corner in a weary state.

Celebron held his foe on even terms in the fourth and fifth. In the next round, however, Overlin regained the lead and held it the rest of the way.

Despite inclement weather, a near capacity crowd of 1,659 attended the indoor inaugural. Net receipts were $1,713.

Saeli Beats Sagilio.

Phil Saeli outpointed Frankie Sagilio, Cicero junior welterweight, in a five round semi-final. Sagilio was down for a six count in the second.

All three preliminary matches went the limit of four rounds. Bob Tinsley beat Frankie Agnes, Joe O'Signac whipped Norman Roth, and George Nyberg conquered Johnny Williams.

John Roxborough, joint manager of Joe Louis, has taken over the management of Holman Williams, Detroit 147 pounder.

Louis yesterday denied a report that James J. Braddock, from whom he won the heavyweight title in Comiskey park last year, is being paid ten per cent of his fight purses as a reward for giving him his chance at the championship. . . . Pete Ferrand, South Chicago lightweight, will meet Lewis Jackson of Gary in an amateur contest tonight in Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Park boulevard. . . . Mique Malloy, south side promoter, is taking treatments for appendicitis attacks. . . . Before he meets Joey Archibald in Washington, D. C., next month for the featherweight championship, Leo Rodak will encounter Sammy Angott, Louisville lightweight, in a return bout in Pittsburgh Sept. 27. . . . Chester Rutecki will go after his fourth professional victory in White City Friday. Opposing the Catholic Youth organization middleweight will be Bob La Monte. Johnny Barbara, who scored his second knockout over Verne Patterson in the featured match in White City last week, is booked to encounter Bobby Pacho in the same arena Sept. 30.—F. M.

I don't go for this speed-up stuff
I think making fine beer takes time and patience
. . . . like we've made Meister Bräu since 1891
by RICHARD SEIBOLD, Meister Bräu Brewmaster
We could save time and money by adding SUGARS or SYRUPS
–but we'll never do it!

We charge our Bottled Beer only with Natural Draft Beer
Carbonation created in the Beer itself
I'M MIGHTY proud that our Meister Bräu is the largest selling bottled beer in this great midwestern area. And I think that's because we still make it the old, slow way we made it 47 years ago.
We could speed up by using sugars or syrups in the beer. This saves time and work. And makes a beer some people may like. But we prefer the old way. Brewing an all-grain brew.
And we could save money by using a cheaper grade of hops. But I found 25 years ago that makes a raw beer.
Our old methods keep the life in the beer—keep its natural foam and sparkle. Like in draft beer. Hence Meister Bräu has the true draft beer flavor.
I know you'll find a real difference in our beer. Order Meister Bräu today in bottles or cans. You'll be glad you found a beer made with old-time care.

MISS FREDERICK, STAR OF STAGE AND FILMS, DIES

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Actress.

Beverly Hills, Cal., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Pauline Frederick, famous star of the stage and silent pictures, died at her home today from asthma and a heart attack. She was 53 years old.

An inhalator squad worked for an hour over Miss Frederick in an effort to revive her. She was first stricken by an asthma attack last Friday and had been under the care of a nurse and physician.

Girl with Topaz Eyes.

Miss Frederick was known on the stage as "the girl with the topaz eyes." She rose from the chorus ranks to become, in her heydey, America's most popular actress. She was stately in carriage, black haired, and exceptionally talented.

Miss Frederick was born Pauline Libbey in Boston, Mass. Her stage experience began in "Rogers Brothers in Harvard," an early extravaganza and her only adventure into musical comedy.

On the screen she appeared in "ZaZa," "Madame X," "La Tosca," "Fedora," "Bella Donna," "Mrs. Dane," "Slave of Vanity," "The Lure of Jade," "Paid in Full," "Resurrection" and "The Eternal City." When talking pictures came in, she played in "On Trial," "Evidence," "The Sacred Flame," "Social Register" and "My Marriage."

Divides Her Talents.

In recent years Miss Frederick divided her time between the stage and screen. She scored a personal triumph in "Elizabeth, the Queen." Other notable parts she played in later years were "The Scarlet Woman," "The Queen Was in the Parlor," "Crimson Hour," "Amber," "Her Majesty, the Widow," and "Mary of Scotland."

Miss Frederick was almost 50 years old before she found any happiness in marriage. Four of her five marriages ended in the divorce court. Her fifth union, to Col. James A. Marmon, United States army officer, she described as her "only real happiness," yet it was cut short in 1935 by his death, 11 months after the ceremony.

Reject N. Y. Officials' Plea to End Truckmen Strike

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—More than 3,000 truckmen at a stormy meeting tonight howled down efforts of city officials and union leaders to halt an "outlaw strike." The men, whose stoppage of work has crippled city trucking for several days, jeered every proposal of a truce until contract terms which they demand are granted. The men are members of three locals of the International Teamsters' union [A. F. L.]. The session will be resumed tomorrow morning.

APPROVE FINAL JOS. SCHAFFNER ESTATE REPORT

The final accounting of Joseph Schaffner's $4,275,765 estate was approved in Probate court yesterday by Judge John F. O'Connell. Mr. Schaffner, one of the founders of Hart, Schaffner & Marx, clothing manufacturers, died April 19, 1918.

Michael Reese hospital received $20,000 and Northwestern university $12,500 for its school of commerce. The bulk of the estate went to relatives. It consisted principally of 30,000 shares in the Hart, Schaffner & Marx stock trust. The federal estate tax was $396,841, and the state inheritance tax $41,526 according to Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the court.

Judge O'Connell also approved the final accounting of the $1,500,000 estate of Albert E. Cross, grain merchant, who died Nov. 24, 1930. Charitable bequests were approximately $200,000. Relatives received the rest.

Institutions which shared in Mr. Cross' fortune included Northwestern university, $50,000; Y. M. C. A., $50,000; Garrett Biblical institute, $40,000; Evanston Hospital association, $10,000, and Wesley Memorial hospital, $10,000.

The wills of Morris Jepsen, disposing of a $128,000 estate, and Mrs. Louise Allen Watson, who left $75,000, were filed yesterday. Jepsen, who lived at 159 Linden avenue and died Sept. 9, was a cartage contractor and former laundry manager. The widow and a son inherit most of the estate. Mrs. Watson died July 9. She lived at the Lake Shore Drive hotel. She left the estate in trust to a cousin. At his death it is to be divided between the Visiting Nurses' association and the Children's Memorial hospital.

Union Business Agent Slain Leaving St. Louis Office

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Arthur Schading, 51 years old, business agent for local No. 1 of the A. F. of L. Electrical Workers' union, was shot to death tonight as he left union headquarters. Detective Sergeant William Greenspan said he was slain by two men who apparently waited for him to leave the building.

GREEN ATTACKS LEWIS AS FOE OF LABOR PEACE

Talks to Convention at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—William Green, president of the A. F. of L., described the C. I. O. today as the creation of a minority that had lost a 2 to 1 decision in a convention of labor delegates. He added that John Lewis' C. I. O. had failed both economically and politically. Green spoke to the national convention of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' union and charged the C. I. O. had served only to split labor. "Labor's non-partisan league," Green said, "failed to prevent the nomination of forty members of congress it put on the blacklist."

Attacks Labor Board.

Green added he was getting sick and tired of the National Labor Relations board. The American Federation of Labor has protested against that board and will try to limit its powers at the next session of congress, Green said.

Green told the mason workers that C. I. O. unions are cordially invited back into the American Federation of Labor. "If it were not for Lewis' veto of compromises approved both by A. F. of L. and C. I. O. committees, the rupture in labor's ranks would have been healed," he declared. "The A. F. of L. has more than made up the losses suffered through the unions that went into the C. I. O. and has grown much larger than it was before the split."

Opposes Wage Differential.

The American Federation has not planned any action against the minimum wage board, but is opposed to any differences in basic wages in different sections of the country, Green said. He condemned the C. I. O. for advocating a bill which was defeated and which did not provide fixed minimum rates of pay on a nation wide basis.

"A patchwork wage foundation," Green called it, "which would have differed in all parts of the country." Mr. Green said he anticipated considerable improvement in the employment situation.

CARNEGIE STEEL CUTS PRICES ON TRACK MATERIAL

Makes Bid for More Rail Business.

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, chief subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, made a bid for more railroad business late last night. The company announced reductions on track materials ranging from $2 to $5 a ton, effective immediately at Chicago and at Pittsburgh, Pa.

The company said present base prices on other steel products will be continued unchanged for fourth quarter delivery. No announcement was made by the Tennessee Coal, Iron, and Railroad company, another United States Steel subsidiary operating in the Birmingham, Ala., district. It was expected to follow the Carnegie-Illinois announcement shortly.

Unchanged Since March 5, 1937.

Present prices of track materials have been in effect since March 5, 1937, when they were included in the general steel price increases made effective then. They were not affected by the reductions made last June in several products.

J. L. Block, executive vice president of the Inland Steel company, said last night that his company undoubtedly would follow with similar reductions on track materials. Other steel making companies are expected to go along.

Steel men said last night that the companies have been getting practically no orders from railroads. If the price cuts revive railroad buying to any great extent, steel makers stand to gain. If the reductions should fail to stimulate railroad purchases the steel companies would not lose much because buying has been at such a low rate.

Basing Policy Retained.

United States Steel corporation's new price basing policy, announced last June, continues unchanged. Prices of products at Chicago, Pittsburgh, and Birmingham are approximately the same under this system. There is a differential of about a half cent a hundred pounds between some Chicago and Pittsburgh quotations because of higher switching charges on shipments in Chicago.

Most of the company's railroad products are made in the Gary, Ind., Bessemer, Pa., and Birmingham rail plants. The Gary plant employs about 600 men when working near capacity.

Most railroads have held their steel purchases this year to the minimum needed to keep tracks and equipment in good condition. Declining revenues and mounting deficits have forced them to postpone purchases of materials as much as possible.

The wage problem also has held up much needed replacement buying by some roads. Whether the reduction in prices of track materials indicates a belief by steel companies that the railroad wage question will be settled soon and the roads will be in a position to buy again could not be determined.

New Prices Listed.

The revised track materials prices follow:

Standard "T" rails over 60 pounds per yard, No. 1 quality, $40 gross ton, f. o. b. cars, mills either Bessemer, Pa., or Gary, Ind., reduced $2.50 gross ton.

Standard splice bars for "T" rails over 60 pounds per yard, billet steel, $2.70 per 100 pounds delivered f. o. b. cars, mills either Bessemer or Gary, reduced 10 cents per 100 pounds or $2.00 per net ton.

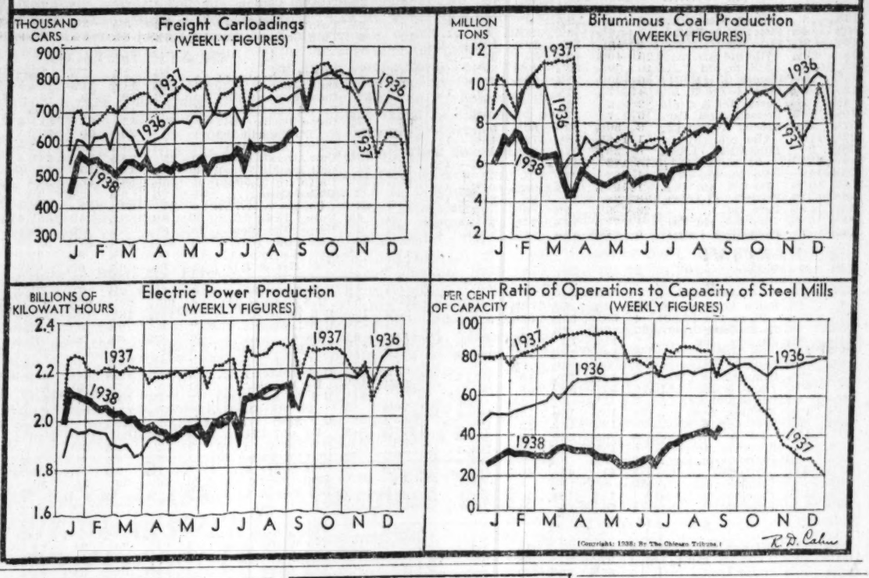
Cut spikes $3.025 per 100 pounds delivered f. o. b. cars, Pittsburgh; $3.03 per 100 pounds delivered f. o. b. cars, Chicago, 15 cents per pound, or $3 per net ton.

Screw spikes, $4.575 per 100 pounds delivered f. o. b. cars, Pittsburgh; $4.58 per 100 pounds delivered f. o. b. cars Chicago, reduced 25 cents per 100 pounds or $5 per net ton.

Track bolts $4.175 per 100 pounds delivered f. o. b. cars, Pittsburgh; $4.18 per 100 pounds delivered f. o. b. cars, Chicago, reduced 20 cents per 100 pounds or $4 per net ton.

Railroad tie plates $43.50 per net ton delivered f. o. b. cars, Pittsburgh; $43.60 per net ton delivered f. o. b. cars Chicago, reduced $3 per net ton.

Stage of Business as Reflected in 4 Leading Barometers



5 Fast Trains Net 48 Pct. for Rock Island

In the first seven months of 1938 five Rocket streamline trains operated by the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad earned a return equivalent to an annual 48 per cent on the original investment in equipment.

This was disclosed yesterday by E. M. Durham Jr., the road's executive official, during a celebration of the first anniversary of the Rocket service. Passengers on the Chicago-Peoria Rocket, which made its first run Sept. 19, 1937, participated in the observance. They ate slices of birthday cake cut in the Union station by Jean Alice Fleming, daughter of Joseph B. Fleming, co-trustee of the Rock Island.

Seven Month Revenue $870,000.

The Rocket trains cost $1,800,000. In the seven months their total revenues approximated $870,000. Total cost of operations, including allowances for depreciation and taxes, was figured at $390,000, leaving net income of $480,000. The trains traveled more than 630,000 miles and carried 219,181 revenue passengers.

Statisticians for the road said that cost per mile of operating the Rockets was not much more than half the cost of operating with the old line regular equipment.

The Peoria-Chicago Rocket showing was regarded as excellent. In the seven months ending July 31 its gross revenues were $227,000. Direct operating expense was $75,000. Net revenue was $152,000, and net income after depreciation, taxes, and insurance, was $135,000. This line, it was estimated, would return 60 per cent annually, at this rate, on the original investment.

Des Moines Train Pays More.

An even better record was made by the Chicago-Des Moines streamliner. It was said to have earned a net $176,000 in the seven month period, equivalent to 75 per cent a year on the money invested.

Another Rocket runs between Kansas City and Oklahoma City, and two make the long trip between Kansas City and Minneapolis.

Speeds of all units are about a mile a minute. Officers of the road believe that the speed and the comfort of these trains have won back much trafic to the rails.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES TO 47.3% THIS WEEK; NEW PEAK FOR YEAR

Steel mills in the United States will boost their average production to 47.3 per cent of capacity this week, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday. Gaining 2 points over last week's production rate of 45.3 per cent of capacity, the operating schedule is the highest in almost eleven months.

Since the Labor day week, marked by a usual recession, operations have climbed steadily. The September gains in output have been attributed principally to the takings of miscellaneous steel users

Average production a month ago was 42.8 per cent of capacity, the institute reported. A year ago the rate was 76.1 per cent. A further gain is expected in the next few weeks as automobile manufacturers engage more actively in production of 1939 cars.

Several large contracts for structural steel were awarded last week. The Bethlehem Steel corporation booked one order for 50,000 tons for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company housing project in New York.

TWO N. Y. CENTRAL TRAINS CHANGE TIME, STATIONS

Changes in the schedules of the Wolverine and Twilight Limited, trains of the New York Central system, were announced yesterday.

The Wolverine, now using the La Salle street station, will move Sunday to the Illinois Central station, 12th street and Michigan avenue, and will leave Chicago at 12:50 p. m. instead of at 1:05 p. m. It will arrive in New York at 8:20 a. m.; leave there at 6:15 p. m. and arrive here at 1 p. m.

The Twilight will be transferred Sunday from the Illinois Central station to the La Salle street station. Its schedule of 4¾ hours for the 284 miles between Chicago and Detroit will be maintained. Leaving Chicago at 4:15 p. m., it will reach Detroit at 10 p. m. eastern standard time. Returning, it will leave Detroit at 4:45 p. m. and arrive in Chicago at 8:30 p. m.

World Wheat Markets Drop on Peace Talk

Wheat prices in the world's leading markets declined 2 cents or more a bushel yesterday. The recession reflected the more favorable character of political news from abroad. Most of the decline in prices of futures occurred at the opening.

Net losses in wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade were 1⅝ to 1⅞ cents. Winnipeg prices closed 2½ to 2⅝ cents lower. Liverpool wheat futures were 2⅛ to 2⅜ cents a bushel lower.

European importing countries showed no disposition yesterday to purchase North American cash wheat. Sales were said to have been confined to a few small lots of Canadian and domestic grain.

Wheat Traders Cautious.

Wheat traders showed a decidedly cautious tendency pending further developments abroad. Some of the buyers of futures on Saturday sold their holdings during the first 30 minutes of the session and thereafter showed little interest in the market.

Official estimates on the wheat crops of various European countries are being increased. Latest returns indicate a new all-time record will be established for the 1938-'39 season. Excluding Russia and China, the world wheat crop is now estimated at 4,350,000,000 bushels, or 75,000,000 bushels more than was indicated on Sept. 1. The 1937-'38 harvest was 3,835,000,000 bushels.

Corn Ignores Frost Reports.

A forecast for light to heavy frost in parts of the great plains area and light frost over the week-end in parts of Kansas, Nebraska, and Iowa failed to have any effect on the corn market. Prices declined ⅝ to 1¼ cent a bushel, the latter on the May delivery. Commission houses were on the selling side of futures. The country sold 170,000 bushels of cash corn for deferred shipment to Chicago.

Oats futures were unsettled. The September delivery gained ¼ cent a bushel on scattered buying. Rye was ⅞ to 1½ cent lower, largely in sympathy with wheat. Soy beans declined 1¾ to 1½ cent a bushel.

EUROPE'S GOLD POURS INTO U. S. IN RECORD FLOW

Liners Bring More than 70 Million.

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Gold valued at more than 70 million dollars was brought by trans-Atlantic liners docking here over the week-end, banks and the federal reserve system announced today. It was the biggest inflow since the flight of the money metal to this country began several weeks ago. Most of the arriving metal was from England.

Tom K. Smith, banker, advised Morgenthau.

The White Star-Cunarder Queen Mary topped the list of gold carrying ships with a cargo exceeding 40 million dollars in bars, the largest ever carried by that shipping line and one of the largest cargoes ever received at the port of New York. The French Line's De Grasse brought in more than $2,000,000 and the Staatendam of the Holland-America line unloaded gold valued at $26,806,000.

Previous Record Exceeded.

The previous largest day's arrival of gold at New York, according to records of the federal reserve bank, was $68,000,000 in October, 1936.

In the London free gold market official price was fixed today at 144 shillings and 7 pence, off 2½ pence from Saturday's level. About £448,000 was taken for unannounced destinations, with most of it reportedly intended for shipment to America. Most liners now on the Atlantic headed this way also are reported to be carrying gold for New York.

The price of the metal again was fixed on the basis of the dollar-sterling exchange. With dollars at $4.8043 at price fixing time the metal price was equal to $34.73 a fine ounce, against $34.74 on Saturday.

Engagement of $13,300,000 of gold in England and $2,500,000 in Canada for shipment to New York was announced by the New York Federal Reserve bank.

Gold Stocks Mounting.

In Washington the treasury department reported gold stocks of $13,500,915,648 on Sept. 16. This was an increase of $38,584,400 from the preceding day.

European currencies reflected improved sentiment in international exchange dealings today as a result of the Anglo-French deal on Czechoslovakia. Principal foreign currencies, except the Belgian belga, showed gains in terms of the dollar.

The British pound sterling advanced ⅝ cent in terms of the American dollar, closing at $4.80⅝. French francs gained 0.002½ cents to end at 2.69⅝ cents. Holland guilders were 0.09 cent higher at 53.87 cents, and Swiss francs were up 0.02 cent to 22.57 cents. The Belgian belga finished weak at 16.89 cents, off 0.01 cent.

Money Agreement Working.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. said today that the tripartite monetary agreement is working satisfactorily, despite unsettled conditions in Europe.

He admitted that he has consulted with V. A. L. Mallett, British embassy, counselor, on the agreement, but declined to discuss details. He is continuing his conferences with fiscal experts. Last week, he said, he sought the opinions of Tom K. Smith, prominent St. Louis banker and former president of the American Bankers' association, as well as other financial authorities.

Morgenthau expects to meet with the Chinese financial mission, which is expected to arrive here within a day.

Stocks Climb on New Hope of Averting European War

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 19.—Stock market prices climbed fractions to around 3 points today as Wall street put a favorable construction on the British and French moves to avert war in central Europe.

Again taking the cue from the London and continental exchanges, which closed higher, leading stocks here picked up fractions to 2 points at the opening in fast trading. Best prices were registered around midday. In the afternoon there was light selling and gains were slightly reduced.

Transfers totaled 825,400 shares. The bulk of the activity came on rising prices, with volume contracting in the afternoon. Although all divisions participated in the advance, industrial shares were in best demand.

Domestic News Cheerful.

With the war scare quieting, the financial district found time today to pay some attention to domestic business news. Price boosts in copper, lead, and zinc helped the market for nonferrous metal stocks.

Steels were aided by the forecast by the American Iron and Steel institute of another rise in the mill operating rate this week. United States Steel and Bethlehem were leaders. Both gained 1¼ points. Youngstown and Republic also found some support.

In the motors Chrysler started 1¾ points higher to 69 on a block of 3,000 shares. The stock milled within a point of that mark and finally closed at 68⅞, up 1⅝ points net. General Motors was quite active and closed 1½ points higher. Yellow Truck gained a substantial fraction.

Rubbers also were well liked. United States Rubber spurted nearly 2 points. Goodyear and Goodrich added about 1 point each.

Railway Shares Advance.

Carrier shares took a good part in the advance. Santa Fe, up 2 points at one time, closed with a gain of 1¼ points. Union Pacific spurted 2 points on the day. New York Central, the most active rail, gained ¾ point.

Consolidated Edison and North American were strong spots in the power and light group. Both advanced more than 1 point.

Heavy machinery issues climbed as much as 3 points higher. Notable were Westinghouse and Case Threshing.

Montgomery Ward and Sears-Roebuck, both more than 1 point higher, passed the merchandising group. Oils were led by Standard Oil of New Jersey, up 1⅛; Phillips Petroleum, up 1½, and Texas corporation.

LOFT SHARES DOUBLED IN VALUE AS A RESULT OF COURT'S DECISION

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Common stock of Loft, Inc., more than doubled in value today, gaining $2.50 a share in price in the New York Stock exchange over the Saturday close. Today's finish was at $4.50 a share. At one time during the day the shares sold as high as $5.12.

Week-end news from Wilmington, Del., that the company had been granted by a court there the right to impress a trust of 91 per cent of the shares of Pepsi-Cola company, held in the name of the Grace company, and of Charles G. Ruth, former president of Loft, was responsible for the rise. The decision is subject to appeal.

Walter S. Mack Jr., president of Phoenix Securities corporation, announced that his company had taken up an option to buy 300,000 shares of Loft at $1.50 a share [25,000 of this amount had previously been purchased] and an additional 100,000 shares at $2 a share.

RAILWAY LABOR GROUP TO MEET WITH ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association, and a committee of labor union officials will confer tomorrow with President Roosevelt.

Officials at the local offices of the association revealed today the conference is scheduled, but said they had no information as to what will be discussed. However, it was presumed the labor leaders would talk over the present deadlock in their wage negotiations with the railroads. The roads have ordered a wage cut and the unions have refused to accept it.

It was reported that J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, will confer with the President today also.

INDUSTRY BIDS FOR PEACE AT WORLD PARLEY

Warns on Federal Regimentation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—Pleas for international peace were made the keynote today at the opening of the seventh international management congress. Industrial leaders and management experts from many states and from twenty foreign nations are attending the sessions.

A. W. Robertson.

In discussions and addresses that covered a wide range business also was urged to "stand by its colors" in guarding against undue governmental regimentation. This warning was given by A. W. Robertson, chairman of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Viscount Leverhulme Speaks.

The present European crisis was referred to only indirectly by the keynoters, who, nevertheless, made veiled references to it. In a welcoming message Secretary of State Cordell Hull said that the American reciprocal trade treaty program was an effort to remove trade barriers and end the "monstrous threat" of military action. Hull was unable to appear in person because of the pressure of the foreign crisis. His address was read by George Messersmith of the state deportment.

REINVESTING THE PROCEEDS OF LARGE-SCALE LIQUIDATION . . .

The fact that this year the income tax is less severe than in previous years with respect to taxable gains or deductible losses on security sales, has led many holders of very substantial blocks of stocks in particular companies to liquidate their holdings. We have been retained in a number of such instances to provide an intelligent, safe, well-balanced program of reinvestment, with continuing supervision in each case. We invite inquiries from other large-scale holders contemplating similar diversification.

USE OF CHECKS RISES SHARPLY IN MIDDLE WEST

Use of checks in the seventh federal reserve district [Chicago] rose sharply in the week ended Sept. 14. The weekly report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago yesterday showed debits to individual deposit accounts by 159 banks in the district during the period totaled $1,013,258,000. This represents an increase of 17.4 per cent over the $862,982,000 in the preceding week. That week, which included Labor day, was 12.3 per cent under the total of $983,719,000 in the preceding week.

The total for the week ended Sept. 14, however, was still 24.7 per cent below the $1,346,157,000 of the same week of 1937. Debits by banks in the Chicago Clearing House association totaled $586,837,000, against $770,679,000 a year ago.

Letters of a business man to his son

XLIX

DEAR SON:

Congratulations! Getting that first raise has a thrill all its own. A thrill that comes only once in a lifetime! You'll get other raises as the years go by—but they'll be different.

That first raise is your first practical assurance that hard work, straight thinking, attention to business have an immediate, tangible reward. Don't ever forget this! It's the principle upon which all business is built.

Well! You've got your raise—but what are you going to do with it? Maybe what you do with it is even more important than getting it—because right now, while you are still young, you are setting a pattern for your whole life to follow. What you do with this raise will help determine what you do with future raises.

Don't, because you have a little more money, feel that you have to spend more. You are living comfortably. Remember that money is not just a means to living more comfortably still—but an instrument to help you build and protect your future. Try putting the bigger part of that raise in your savings account every week! You'll be surprised what a lot of satisfaction you'll get out of knowing you're better prepared to meet whatever life may bring you.

Affectionately, DAD.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Bonds joined the stock market today in registering a more hopeful sentiment on the European political outlook.

Prices advanced broadly on improved support. This was attributed to a belief the reported Anglo-French agreement for dealing with the Sudeten minority problem in Czechoslovakia might go far to preserve peace in Europe. European issues in the foreign dollar list gave a partial confirmation to the more confident sentiment.

German government obligations rose 2 points or more, and sizable gains were also recorded by Italian 7s, Czech 8s, and Prussia 6½s. A little out of step, however, were Prague 7½s, down 2; and Berlin City Electric 6s, down 2½.

Domestic corporation bonds rallied broadly under leadership of the rails, following a week of strenuous liquidation. Among the best gainers were Nickel Plate 5½s, up 2½; Southern Railway 6½s, up 3⅝; International Telephone 4½s, up 2¼; Illinois Central 4¾s, up 2; American and Foreign Power 5s up 1½, and New York Central 5s, up 1.

United States governments were quiet and mixed.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks rallied yesterday and closed with gains ranging from fractions to more than 2 points. Sales were 31,000 shares, and 111,000 Commonwealth Edison rights, compared with last Friday's volume of 20,000 shares and 34,500 rights. The rights ranged yesterday from 5 to 8 cents, closing at the low of 5 cents, off 1 cent.

Commonwealth Edison stock, the volume leader, gained ½ point, closing at 24½ on a turnover of 1,850 shares. Marshall Field advanced 1½ points to 11, and Borg-Warner moved up to 32, a gain of 2¼.

Bank Stocks.

Trading in Chicago bank stocks was light yesterday. Harris Trust and Savings shares gained $5 to close at $285 bid, $290 asked. Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust stock closed $2 higher at $61 bid, $62 asked.

PACKARD CHIEF ASKS ALL UNITE TO AID BUSINESS

Dealers See New Cars Put Through Rough Tests.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—If business improvement is to continue, government, labor, and business must cooperate, Alvan Macauley, president of the Packard Motor Car company, said today. He spoke before 3,000 Packard dealers who met here to discuss plans for the 1939 model season and to examine the cars now getting into production.

Alvan Macauley.

"Many factors enter into the question of whether or not the present upward trend of business will continue over a long period," said Macauley, who also is president of the Automobile Manufacturers association. "No one deterring influence, however, will remain as such if there is genuine coöperation among government, labor, and business leaders."

Macauley said the chances appear good for a betterment of business as a whole. Packard's immediate business future, he added, appears favorable.

Inventory Position Favorable.

"Our distributors and dealers," he continued, "were never in better position to profit from the accelerated motor car buying which usually springs from the industry's new car announcement period. Their floors are nearly clear of 1938 new cars. Their used car inventories are at the lowest point in a long time."

Discussing developments in the automobile industry, Macauley said that in his opinion the engines at the rear of the car, for which patents have been taken out by several companies recently, are a matter of the distant future.

"We would have to unlearn about all we have learned in the making of automobiles," he said, "and personally I believe the engine should be kept at the front of the car."

Packard dealers tomorrow will drive away from Detroit with about 2,500 new cars, representing one of the largest "driveaways" in the history of the automobile industry. The new cars are in four series—six, eight, supereight, and twelve.

Cars in Dramatic Tests.

The dealers today watched the new cars put through dramatic tests at the Packard proving grounds to show the results of further development of springing and other improvements. Cars were driven along a stretch of railroad track with no filling between the ties at sixty miles an hour. Then they were allowed to leap off the end of a ramp in a sort of auto broad jump at the same rate of speed.

RAIL MODIFIES PLAN TO ABANDON ALL OF ITS LINE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The Quincy, Omaha and Kansas City railroad, which on May 20 asked the interstate commerce commission for authority to abandon its entire 250 miles of line between Quincy, Ill., and Kansas City, Mo., and to wind up its affairs, will file a new application. It will reduce the portion to be abandoned to the line between Milan and Kansas City. This was learned at the commission's offices today.

The railroad is wholly owned through stock control by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. After it had filed its application for complete abandonment protests were filed by municipalities, railroad unions and corporations.

"Fair Trade" Laws—III.

Many arguments both for and against "fair trade" legislation have been given in recent years. This article will list arguments in favor of such laws. Tomorrow's article will give the opposing side. Those on the pro side contend that:

Independent business men are protected in price competition with larger distributors.

Consumer sales resistance is lowered because consumers know they cannot buy the same goods more cheaply at some other store.

"Fair trade" laws have eliminated "loss leader" selling on items on which the manufacturer sets prices.

No monopoly is involved, because manufacturers must still compete with each other on the basis of prices for similar goods.

The welfare of distributors is strengthened, because destructive price warfare among them is reduced.

Manufacturers who have developed a demand for trade-marked products have a right to protect the good will built up by maintaining prices if they want to do so.

Higher Fares Fail to Boost Revenue, Eastern Rails Admit

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The 25 per cent increase in coach fares which the railroads in the east put into effect on July 7 has been a failure to date in respect to increasing revenues, railroad officials conceded today. The refusal of bus companies to coöperate has had much to do with the unsatisfactory result, it was said.

The showing over the Labor day week-end, a time when trafic usually is high, was particularly disappointing. Trafic at the same time last year was sufficient to tax the facilities of the railroads. In one or two cases railroads did not advertise Labor day trafic because the managements feared they would not be able to find enough cars to carry passengers.

Refuse to Boost Bus Fares.

The railway managements had hoped that the bus companies also would increase their fares. This, for the most part, the highway operators refused to do. Coastwise steamers likewise enjoyed an increase in trafic after the railroads jumped the coach rate from 2 to 2.5 cents a mile in July. The railroad managements of this region had expected to increase their passenger revenues by about $25,000,000 as a result of the fare rise. They now concede it will be fortunate if railway trafic does not decline further.

The managements of the larger roads, like the New York Central and Pennsylvania, which forced through the increase over the protests of some of their competitors, hold that the decrease in revenues reflects business generally. They admit, however, that the increase failed of its hoped for effect in increasing revenue.

Fare Cut, Then Boosted.

The coach fare was cut two years ago from 3.6 to 2 cents a mile by order of the interstate commerce commission. The competitors of the Baltimore and Ohio tried to start court action to prevent the order being enforced, but the B. & O. accepted the order and, by reducing its fare to 2 cents, compelled its rivals to follow suit.

This year the eastern lines appealed to the commission to reconsider its order, the B. & O. joining in the petition at the request of the other lines. The boost last July resulted from an order of the commission amending its previous order.

COCA-COLA ASKS WRIT IN ANSWER TO PEPSI-COLA

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—An answer was filed today in Queens Supreme court by the Coca-Cola company to an injunction suit brought by the Pepsi-Cola company. Pepsi-Cola sought to restrain Coca-Cola from interfering with its sales of a drink syrup. Coca-Cola's answer asks an injunction against use of the word "Pepsi-Cola" or any trademark using the words "cola" or "coca." It also asks unstated damages.

The action in Queens follows an injunction suit brought by the Coca-Cola company against Pepsi-Cola in Canada, where the name of Pepsi-Cola was found to be an infringement of Coca-Cola. That case now is on appeal.

Pepsi-Cola, in the Queens suit, alleged that its name had been trademarked and in use for more than thirty-five years, that "coca" and "cola" both were "public property." Coca-Cola, in its answer, cited the filing of its own trademark in 1893. It charged its rival with infringement of that patent and imitation of its script lettering and advertising slogans.

LLOYD'S BOOSTS WAR RISK RATES ON SHIP CARGOES

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Lloyd's today issued sharply higher minimum war risk rates for shipping. The action was taken by a body known as the joint rating committee of the company and Lloyd's underwriters. It represents other insurance companies also.

The new rates for shipments to the United States and Canada by way of the Atlantic from the United Kingdom are one-half of 1 per cent for the outward voyage. The rate is 1 per cent for eastbound trans-Atlantic voyages.

For shipments to the same countries by way of the Pacific the new rates for the outward journey are one-half of 1 per cent and for homeward voyages 2 per cent. The rate both out and homeward by way of the Atlantic or Pacific had been about one-fortieth of 1 per cent. Similar increases were made for shipments on other routes.

Business Bits

Dr. Melchoir Palyi, University of Chicago economist, will discuss the "Economic Realities of the Central European Crisis" at a dinner meeting tonight of the foreign trade division of the Chicago Association of Credit Men. The dinners will be held in the Merchants and Manufacturers' club in the Merchandise Mart. Dr. Palyi formerly was economic adviser to the Deutsche bank, Berlin.

The resignation of William I. Myers as governor of the Farm Credit administration at Washington is expected this week, according to the administration's St. Louis bureau. Myers is scheduled to return to Cornell university, at Ithaca, N. Y., as head of the department of agricultural economics. He succeeds the late Dr. George F. Warren in that position.

Fred C. Marston has been elected a director of the Brooklyn and Queens Transit corporation to represent preferred stock interests. He succeeds the late Thomas L. Chatbourne.

Paul J. Wimsey, general tax attorney of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway company, has been appointed a delegate from Illinois to the annual conference of the National Tax association. The conference will be held in Detroit from Oct. 24 to 28.

The Straus Securities company has enlarged its trading department to three times the former size. Trading desk telephone equipment designed to fill brokers' requirements has been installed. The equipment, which has a capacity of 120 private wires, is one of the first installations of its kind in Chicago, executives of the company said. The new quarters provide space for six more traders in addition to the nine now employed.

SEC Bars Prospectus on Leasehold Interests

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—A permanent suspension order was issued today by the Securities and Exchange commission against the effectiveness of a prospectus relating to nonproducing leasehold interests in the C. E. Lange drilling block. The block is located in Washington county, Ill. The statement was filed with the commission July 5 by C. E. Lange and A. S. Mims.

INDUSTRY BIDS FOR PEACE AT WORLD PARLEY

Policies to Discourage War Urged by Leaders.

the international committee of scientific management; George H. Davis, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and Willis H. Booth, vice president of the Guaranty Trust company of New York.

A significant gesture was made when Lord Leverhulme had representatives of Czechoslovakia, Germany, France and Italy respond to the message from Secretary Hull. The Czechoslovakian response was placed first.

Czech Gets Big Ovation.

The official representative of the Czechoslovakian government, Emanuel Slechta, was given a rousing ovation when he said: "I think the world is in great need of international management."

He said he hoped the congress would "help us build a feeling of friendship and understanding between nations which we do need so much in these troubled days."

George Seebauer, president of the German board of efficiency, did not mention world affairs but said his country needed to study American management methods because of a German labor shortage. The other responses were made by Alex Brule, French industrialist, and Dr. Francesco Mauro of the National Research Council of Milan, Italy.

The congress, attended by more than 2,000 delegates, is aimed at studying new concepts of business management's responsibilities to jobholders, stockholders, consumers and the government. It will discuss these relationships extensively from an international viewpoint. It is the first time the congress has been held in America. It is held every three years.

Hull Tells Aim of His Policy.

Hull in his address said that the United States has endeavored to work out a policy for steady reduction of world trade barriers to promote beneficial exchange "so that the genius of any one in any country may be made available for the benefit of everybody in all countries."

"This we have done in the firm belief that thereby would be created in all countries conditions contributing to removal of pressure leading toward military action and making unnecessary the enormous burdens placed upon the world by armament and the monstrous threat to the world of military action," Hull continued.

Lord Leverhulme said that "the more freedom of smoothness there is in the give and take of goods and services between countries of the world, the more encouragement there will be to the growth of that right temper between nations which alone can diminish the recurring threats of war."

Pleads for Understanding.

Davis expressed the belief that the management congress is a "force for the better understanding between nations."

"I have no doubt," he asserted, "that the public officials seeking to maintain world peace would welcome some further assistance in this vitally important field of international management."

Booth told the congress that its work will be a distinct contribution to world peace, pointing out how often warfare is based upon economic motives.

Booth, who acted as honorary chairman, said it is the task of the congress to weigh with a "sober and sane view" just how far social changes may be allowed to go in making real progress "as distinct from overambitious social programs which may destroy all progress." Work must go on toward exchanging goods and services by nations, he said, so that warfare will prove economically unsound.

Regimentation Peril Cited.

Robertson of Westinghouse Electric warned that government "is the greatest enemy of initiative," and that management must strive to maintain the cause of free enterprise in a world threatened by too much regimentation.

"Free enterprise" he said, "is the one thing which stands between us and a stale, flat, unhappy world of universal regimentation and individual conformity to a single pattern."

A novel note in his address was the suggestion that stockholders unionize in order to demand a larger share of business income and offset the insistent demands of other groups. He said that management might properly be taken to task "for making too little money, not too much."

"Profits are so small, as a rule," he continued, "that I am surprised the stockholders do not form a union to demand a greater return."

COLUMBIA GAS MAY SELL PIPE LINE CONTROL

Glore, Forgan Head Group Seeking Stock.

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The divestment of working control of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company by Columbia Gas and Electric corporation interests was foreshadowed today. It was disclosed that an investment banking syndicate headed by Glore, Forgan & Co. of Chicago and New York has offered approximately $12,000,000 to the Columbia Oil and Gas corporation for its 4,400 share interest in Panhandle Eastern. Columbia Oil is a subsidiary of Columbia Gas and Electric.

While the management of Columbia Gas and Electric has reached no definite agreement with the banking syndicate, officials of the utility admitted the matter is under discussion.

Public distribution of the shares of Panhandle Eastern is contemplated by the banking syndicate in the event it negotiates the deal. Other members of the syndicate include Bancamerica-Blair corporation, Halsey, Stuart & Company, Inc., and Ladenburg, Thalmann & Company.

Would End Bitter Fight.

Relinquishment of control of Panhandle Eastern by Columbia would mark the end of a bitter battle with the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company over the operation of Panhandle. Also, the move would fit into Columbia's plans for complete integration of its properties under the provisions of the public utility holding company act.

At present Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line [Mokan] owns 324,326 shares of common stock of Panhandle Eastern. It also has a warant to purchase 80,000 shares additional at $25 a share.

Columbia Oil and Gas currently owns 404,326 common shares of Panhandle Eastern, an amount sufficient to give it working control. The 80,000 shares under option to Mokan are held in the treasury of Panhandle. There are no shares in the hands of the public.

At the end of 1937, Columbia Oil and Gas also owned all of the outstanding preferred stocks of Panhandle Eastern, consisting of 100,000 shares of cumulative class A and 10,000 shares of class B, nonparticipating and nonredeemable.

Court Order Signed in 1936.

Under the terms of a court order signed in January, 1936, a consent decree was entered by which Columbia Gas and Electric agreed not to dominate the affairs of Panhandle.

However, under the terms of the consent decree, which was obtained by the department of justice, Columbia Oil and Gas was permitted to retain its stock ownership in Panhandle Eastern, the only requisite being that such stock be turned over to a trustee. Gano Dunn, president of the J. G. White Engineering corporation, was appointed trustee.

In recent weeks, however, it has been rumored that the federal government, through officials of the department of justice, has informally expressed the desire to see Columbia Gas effect a deal whereby its stock interest in Panhandle Eastern would be dissolved.

MEMBER BANKS EXPAND LOANS FOR COMMERCE

Gain Shown for Second Consecutive Week.

Loans by member banks of the federal reserve system to commerce, industry, and agriculture increased for the second consecutive week in the week ended Sept. 14. This was shown yesterday in the federal reserve board's report on member bank conditions.

The increase was $17,000,000. This followed a rise of $2,000,000 in the preceding week. The expansion of credit brought the total of business loans outstanding on Sept. 14 to 3 billion 905 million dollars. This was a decline of 853 millions from the amount outstanding Sept. 15, 1937.

The week's increase was accounted for by more loans in major cities outside New York. In New York a slight decline was reported. New York banks also had a drop in the preceding week.

Gain in Chicago Area.

Increased loans were reported by banks in federal reserve districts of Chicago, Boston, Atlanta, St. Louis, Richmond, Dallas, and San Francisco.

Bank holdings of direct obligations of the government and fully guaranteed government obligations were slightly higher in the week ended Sept. 14. The increase in direct obligations was $2,000,000 and the gain in fully guaranteed securities amounted to $15,000,000. This brought the total of direct or guaranteed holdings on Sept. 14 to 9 billions 464 millions.

Demand deposits during the week increased by $176,000,000 and time deposits were up $21,000,000.

Loans to brokers and dealers in securities advanced $53,000,000 to $723,000,000.

TREND OF LIVE STOCK AND MEAT MARKETS LOWER

The general trend of live stock and meats was lower yesterday. Only a few classes escaped the decline. The exceptions were top steers and hogs, as well as the cheaper grades of steers and the packing sows. These have been selling relatively low compared with other stock. Lambs tumbled to new lows for the season and to the lowest September price level in four years.

Wholesale beef and veal markets ruled steady to 50 cents lower. Reductions in fresh pork ranged upward to $1.00, with top light loins at $23.50 per hundred pounds, the cheapest in ten days and $1.00 under last week's close. Best lamb legs sold at $21.00 and loins at $24.00, or $1.00 to $2.00 under a week ago.

Packers obtained top slaughter lambs at $7.90, off 20 cents from the close of the week. Other classes of lambs sold steady to 15 cents lower.

The top for longfed steers reached $13.35, equaling the 1938 peak established earlier in the month.

Last of 15 Lockheed Planes Delivered to Canadian Line

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The last of a fleet of fifteen Lockheed planes is being delivered to the Trans-Canada Air Lines, Robert E. Gross, president of Lockheed Aircraft corporation, announced today. The cost of the fleet totaled $1,516,660. Trans-Canada is expected to begin shortly its transcontinental dominion air service.

COTTON

Cotton advanced .15 cent a pound in early trading yesterday. Houses with European and Indian connections led the buying which caused the rise. The south sold on the upturn, presumably hedging against spot cotton, and a reaction followed which wiped out part of the advance. Closing trades were at net gains of only .04 to .10 cent a pound.

Reports from England said business in cotton textiles with India and Egypt for shipment via the Mediterranean was hampered by the new war risk insurance rates.
